Preface

The title of this work is simply “TEXT.” For years there have been basically two sets of books kept on the planet Earth. The set for the Elite were called “TEXT BOOKS,” and they contained the Truth. The set of books for ordinary people were known (to the Elite) as “X-TEXT,” which means bad text or text filled with disinformation and propaganda with just a tiny bit of real truth to give them some sense of credibility.

This book is in the for real “TEXT” format and it is not just for the Elite—it is for everyone, for all the humans living on the Earth everywhere without regard to caste or race or sex or anything else.

This has not been done before, and the author must confess that he went through a good bit of “interference” from various sources in the process of preparing this book, which has been his life’s work. The book had been written in 1992, but this is its first print edition. Now you know why.

Therefore, I trust that the generations who will use this book will share with me the some of the joy and fulfillment that I have experienced in the process of preparing this material.

CHAPTER ONE

The Master Codes

The planet Earth is part of the Physical Universe and the Physical Universe is part of a System of Universes (commonly called planes), some of which exist under the compartmentalizing quality called time.

There are two organizational codes for the System of Universes: these codes are 666 and 704. The code 666 is the structural code for the so-called “Lower worlds,” which include Earth. These worlds are under the administration of Satan, whose proper name is Kal Niranjana. The code 704 is the organizational code for the entire Universe system (the Lower and Higher Worlds combined) and basically means “seven over four,” as there are seven Spiritual planes and four planes of Lower Creation. The administrator of the entire Universe system lives in that area of space beyond logic, nomenclature, and mental activities. Intensely loving and benevolent, it has no name.

The Lower worlds are called the Mental world, the Causal world, the Astral world, and the Physical world. They are all under the administration of Kal Niranjana. Kal has organized these worlds in a system of repetitive reflections. Each reflection gives the impression that it is the highest reality. There are three sets of six reflections, therefore, the organizational code is three sixes, or 666. Since 666 does not spell any word, scholars have wondered about this name of the “Devil,” however, it is not a name at all, but simply a mathematical representation of the structure of the Lower Creation.

The code 704, with letters for the numbers 7 and 4, spells “GOD.” Again, God has no name, and this is the structural code for the complete Universe system, which collectively is created and maintained by “God.”

The Code 666

We will now discuss the structure of the worlds under the administration of Kal Niranjana, the so-called “Lower worlds.”

The chart below was developed by Professor Lekh Raj Puri of India. It represents the structure of the worlds of Kal Niranjana. Puri developed the structure, but didn’t mention the code 666 for it is mainly a Western concept from the Christian Bible. The Bible mentions the code, but does not explain the structure.

SET #	MAYA	KAL	MAHA KAL	# OF PETALS (OF THE LOTUS)
1	Guda	Antash Karan	Trikuti	4
2	Indri	Below Third Eye	Lower part of Daswan Duar	6
3	Nabbi	Third Eye	Upper part of Daswan Duar	8
4	Hriday	Sahans Dal Kanwal	Shaj Dip	12
5	Kanth	Set Sunna (upper part of Astral plane)	Top of Maha Sunna	16
6	Behind the Eyes	Trikuti (lower part)	Bhanwar Gufa	2

The Code 704

The code 704 is the structure of the total Universe. The four is the part covered above and the seven is for the seven Spiritual planes above the world of Kal.

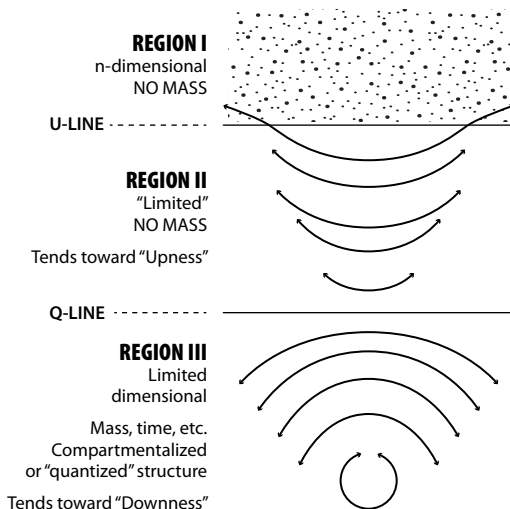

Since you were born in a human body, you have the right and the power to leave this place forever and live for eternity in one of the Spiritual worlds.

Animals have Souls too, but in an animal body they cannot contact God.

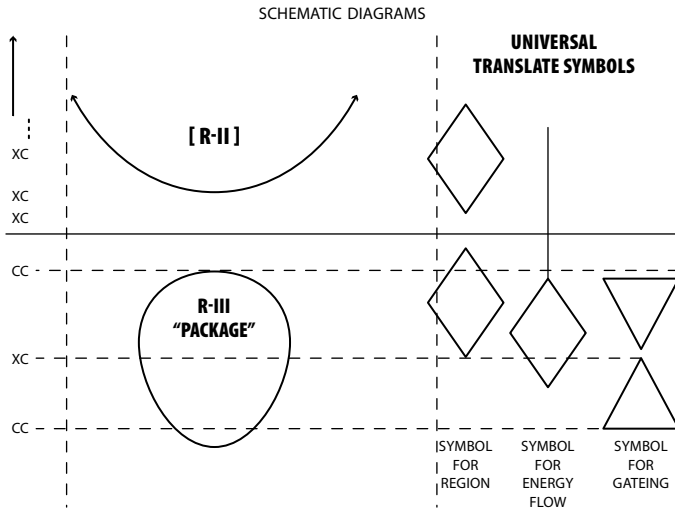

The Schematic Model for the System of Universes

Please now refer to the schematic model diagram which follows.

- THE R-I REGION. This is the region of pure energy and spirit, where the Creator resides. It is sometimes called “Anami” (meaning “no name”), because there is no mental-type functioning here—everything “just is,” and time does not exist.
- THE R-II REGION. This is the lower region of worlds, or planes, that are still purely Spiritual and exist outside of time. However, the “bending” we portray schematically here has lowered the operating frequency of the Spiritual essence here.
- THE R-III REGION. Here we have a major change. Now, the energy has been lowered to a point where it collapses into itself and forms the egg-shaped structure shown. Time has now come into existence. R-III is the domain of Kal Niranjan—the Lord of Time. This region contains the four planes—Physical, Astral, Causal, and Mental—and down near the very bottom of this “egg” is the planet Earth.

CHARACTERISTICS OF THE R-III PACKAGE

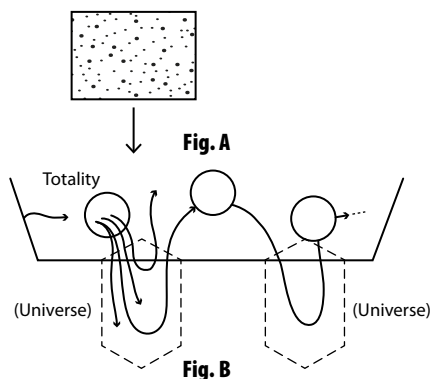

The Master Cycle

Adult energy creatures (Souls) live in Totality and synthesize Universes to reproduce. Energy creatures are the simplest and purest forms of life and they reproduce in the simplest imaginable way, which is by taking parts of themselves and allowing these parts to grow into new adults.

So, in what we will call the Master Cycle, a sequence is started, or "keyed in," when an adult energy creature decides to have children, and the sequence ends, or "keys out," when the decision is fulfilled, i.e., when the children become adults.

Now, let us run through this Master Cycle. Figure A represents Totality. The little dots in Totality are Universes. When the decision to raise children is made in Totality, the children (who are not adept enough to live in Totality) must be brought down into a Universe until they are ready to return home to Totality.

When a child becomes an adult, it may choose to raise its own children, and so a new cycle begins.

The Concept of the Continuity of Life

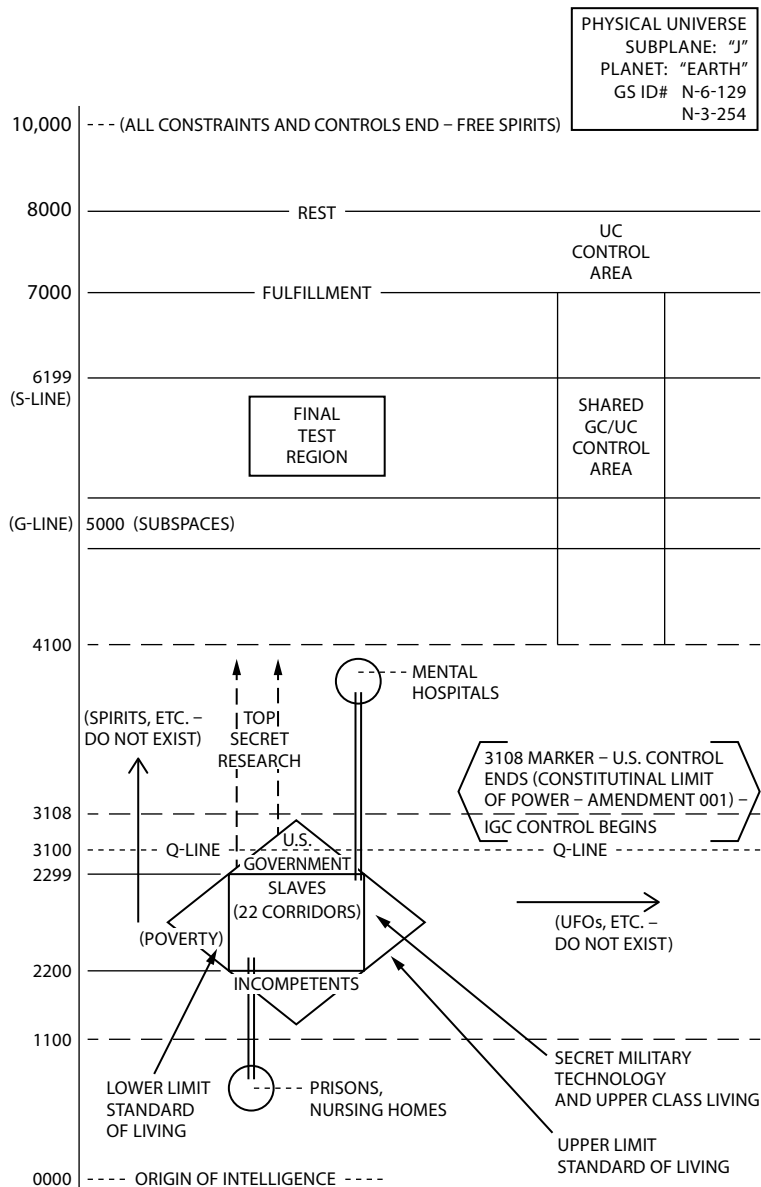

An adult has children by breaking off part of itself. So, the child and the adult which the child will become are really a part, or a continuation, of that which was before; and Its children will be part of It, just as It was part of that which came before. This is the Master Cycle of Life and it continues without beginning or end under the ancient law beyond space and time or anything that the mind of man can grasp onto. The appearance of “breaks” in the continuity of life is illusory and occurs because, while in a Universe, the children continually mistake the image that they create for the source that they really are. Below the Master Cycle are many sub-cycles.

Schematic Model for U. S. Society

Now, please refer to the schematic model which follows. This model is called an I-Map, or Intelligence Map.

The diamond symbol is the society of the United States. The numbers at the left are state of consciousness index code numbers, which are called the Symbol Code. They roughly correspond to the plane number. Therefore, the Mental plane is at symbol code index 4000; the Causal plane is at index 3000; the Astral is at 2000, and the Physical is at 1000. At 5000 we have left the domain of space-time and entered the first Spiritual plane.

I-MAP

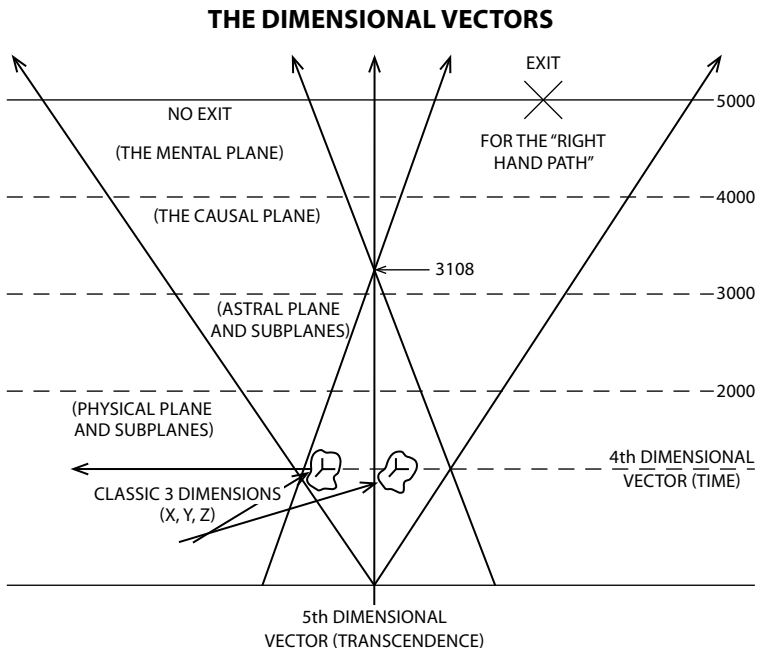

The Q-line is an important marker. It is sort of an “escape velocity” point in as much as one is bound to the society by its propaganda. Once beyond this point, you know too much to be influenced by anything coming from the U.S. Government and are free to go your way. In a practical way, you must be at this point to be an adult. Otherwise, even though you are mature, you are thinking on the level of a silly, confused child.

Summary

We have presented the whole picture. You see our society and you see the System of Universes in which it exists. This is the Big Picture.

Now that you know what it looks like, the things that you observe happening in the world should be more in perspective. And you will understand with more clarity the material that is yet to be presented here.

The Dimensional Vectors

The map above shows the relevant dimensional vectors. These vectors are used, among other things, for deep space travel.

The first three vectors are the ones everyone is familiar with—the classic X, Y, and Z coordinates. Time is the 4th vector. Time machines use this vector to go back in the past or forward into the future.

The 5th vector is the Transcendence vector, which takes you to other planes and subplanes. It also takes Spiritually adept people back to God.

Traveling Physically in Machines

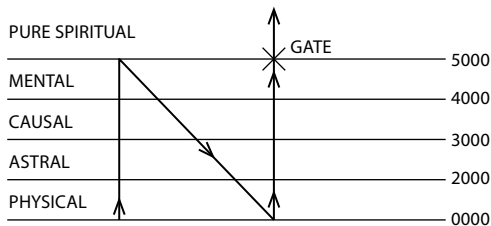

The machines which are used to travel physically throughout the Universe are Interdimensional Space Vehicles and Time Machines. Both machines use technology based on the Force, which is commonly known as the “strong force” by physicists. Crystals composed of lithium-6 are central to the operation of both devices.

Additionally, communication devices use special techniques to send messages to ships which travel faster than light and to bases in other periods of time here on the planet Earth.

Spaceships operate on the standard acceleration formula for warp, which is: Warp 1 = c^3 ; Warp 2 = c^9 ; Warp 3 = c^{81} ; etc. The highest Warp is 9. Test vehicles exceeding this have not returned.

The N-Cycle

In this cycle, people thinking about occult, psychic stuff, first go on the left, because it is easier. They can use drugs and other artificial helpers here (like LSD-25) to accelerate progress. Eventually, they long for more and they find that the Spiritual regions are off limits to them, because there is no exit from the Left Hand Path to the Pure Spiritual regions above. So they must come all the way down again and begin anew on the Right Hand Path.

Both the Left and Right Hand Paths have gurus and Masters who help. Both have certain ethical guidelines for Masters and students. Masters from the Left have similar powers with Masters from the Right. However, Masters from the left will use their powers to get whatever they want, and Masters from the right will not. They have the same abilities, but the Good or Right Hand Path Masters use very tight restraints on their powers and will only use them on rare and highly justifiable occasions.

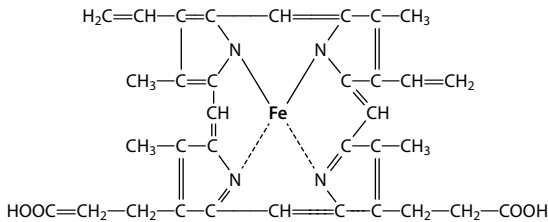

The book *Tibet’s Great Yogi Milarepa*¹ is the story of a man who became a Master of the Left and then realized his limitations and gave that up and became a Master of the Right, all in one lifetime. You don’t have the luxury of time right now, so choose the Right Hand Path and save yourself a lot of misery.

The Biochemical Codes for the Ages of Time

The Physical Universe is a created place. In order for it to operate properly, certain advanced Souls have duties and responsibilities to keep the place going—and to dissolve it when that time comes. These Souls, who serve at the pleasure of God, are given access to certain Command and Control Codes, which would be useless to the average Soul unless he was a black magician or mastermind who wanted to cause trouble.

¹ W. Y. Evans-Wentz, Tibet’s Great Yogi Milarepa: A Biography from the Tibetan. Oxford University Press; 2nd edition, 2000.

Consequently, these codes are not given out. They are generally classed in area AO-1 (Alpha/Omega-1) and are for use by System Administrators and Spiritual personnel only. This is one of the codes. However, Earth scientists have now broken it, and, so that no one group gets to use it to their advantage, we will publish it for all to use.

Heme
Hemoglobin carries oxygen from the lungs to all parts of the body.

You will notice in the above diagram that the chemical model makes a little “house” where something lives. In this case, it is iron (Fe), because the cycle of time we are in right now is the Iron Age. (You see how simple this is; that’s why it’s a secret!) Now you might guess that in the Golden Age, gold (Au) lived in this “house,” and in the Silver Age silver (Ag) lived there. When different things live in the “house,” the life span of the bodies changes. It is for gold (Golden Age) 100,000 Earth years, for silver (Silver Age) 10,000 Earth years, for copper (Copper or Bronze Age) 1000 Earth years, and for iron (Iron Age) 100 Earth years.

Now, there are links to other systems that operate in the energy channeling process that also change from Age to Age, so simply altering one variable does not complete the whole sequence. The other links in the sequence are still classified and will not be given out.

It is doubtful that Earth scientists discover the complete sequence before the Dissolution takes out the planet and the Physical Universe is reset for another Cycle of Ages.

Standard TI Channels

Here we want to run through the basic TI (Telepathic Interchange) channels in the Universal Series and briefly discuss the main uses.

The P-Level Frequency Band

The P-level is the lowest level of telepathy. The P-frequency normally keys in when the physical link (umbilical cord) is broken between a mother and a child and it primarily provides low level sensing data so that a mother would know if her child was in some distress even though there was no direct way for her to get this data.

Other than this, natural use the P-frequency band is of little practical use. It can be developed by people and used for communication, but it is subject to interference and poor reliability, and so the Q-band is the preferred.

The P-frequency will not key in at all if the child has been already “handed off” to a higher level of direction. There is a certain advantage to this, because essentially everyone can detect P-level communications in some way, but you need to be a bit sophisticated to decode communications in the Q-band.

The Q-Level Frequency Band

The Q-level frequency band is very broad in comparison to the P-band and there is room for constructing group channels (called “open channels”) used so people on group assignments can stay “in touch,” and one to one channels and special purpose scrambled channels. There is enough “spread” in the Q-band for everyone to be happy and get reasonably reliable data transmission with little cross-band type interference.

Sometimes a paired set of P-Q channeling will be used. Usually this is set up for students, where they begin in the P-band using some type of “transponder code” (could be a chant of some type) to generate a primitive signal so their teacher can find them easily and then switch them to a Q-band channel. This entrance level technique is not necessary later, because the advanced students can find the “open channel” directly without waiting for assistance.

The O-Level Frequency Band

The O-level frequency band is the highest possible level of telepathy and is used for Direct Access Rights. O-level channels are individualized and scrambled and normally not detectable or decodeable by any other entity. An O-level communication channel cannot be blocked by any technique. This is to comply with the idea that the Right of Direct Access cannot be blocked. It would be immediate grounds for interference if some social order worked out a scheme to block the O-level band.

Standard Transport Codes

The Idea of Transport

The idea of transport is that of moving something from one place to another place, however, transport codes discussed here are mainly for people.

The basic code for transport is “4x4,” where x is 4, 3, 2, 1 or 0. The “ x ” digit represents the mode of transport. We will also try to go into the general idea of the code, and to do this, we will find that the form is really “ sxd ,” where s is a coded description of the “start condition” and d is a coded description of the “destination condition” (of the person).

Basic Transport Modes

- MODE 4. This is the lowest level of transport and means things like “walking from one place to another.” So, to say “transport 444” would mean you got up and walked somewhere and then, say, sat down in the destination place.
- MODE 3 is the next level used for transport with the aid of a physical device and covers the general categories of things like cars, planes, and non-dimensional interplanetary craft.
- MODE 2 covers dimensional-capable interplanetary craft, base-located dimensional-capable devices and transporter systems. In a transporter system, an electric-magnetic corridor is generated by a mechanical device and also some aid is used to accelerate the spin rate of the electrons in the molecules of a person’s body so that it appears to fade out; in this state it acts like zero mass and so can be shot through the electric-magnetic corridor.

- MODE 1 covers cases where people can project themselves from one place to another by mastery of the natural forces in Region III. It is called an “I-Relay” system, from the notion of type I and O beings.
- MODE 0 covers cases where people can project themselves from one place to another by mastery of the Universal forces in Region II. It is called an “O-Relay” system or technique.

Start and Stop Conditions

When we talk about transport, we usually assume that one is starting as a regular person in a body and ending up in that same form, so the code is going to be “4-(something)-4,” but that is not necessarily true, so, depending on what type of entity is starting and what image matrix is desired upon stopping, the “4” will not be “4,” but the characteristic identifier for whatever entity form is involved.

For example, if you projected to Region II from, say, Earth and stayed there, the code would be “400.” Then, if you left for, say, the adjacent dimension to Earth, you would write “003.” Then, if you hitched a ride on a UFO there, your trip would be “323,” and so on.

The Basic Universal Translate Code

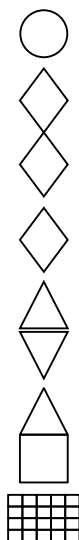

The Key Symbols

Below we want to list the key symbols and then we will go in to where the Universal Translate Code comes from the standpoint of derivation. The symbols are in order from “Upness” to “Downness.”

Derivation of the Code

The Universal Translate Code derives from the structure of the Universe and also from characteristics such as energy flow. It is essentially the “primal form” of symbol notation. From these key symbols derive letters and from them derive word matrices covering all languages. As the symbols become more and more specialized in this way, they hardly look anything like the key symbols and you run into the problem of not being able to see the forest for the trees. However, this is their source. So, any culture which knows its complete history would know this and any group or individual who looked deep enough would find this, hence the term “Universal Symbol.”

Entity Models

Taking off from the Universal Translate Symbol idea we can set up a system for making descriptive models for entities. We will run through this process and point out that it is a useful analytic tool.

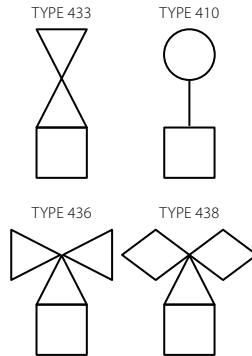

The Basic Model Elements

The modeling uses a Base Ten code. In this code, the digits correspond to a logical geometric form. The code is given below.

DIGIT	SYMBOL	DIGIT	SYMBOL	DIGIT	SYMBOL
1		5		8
2		6		9

Model Assembly

A model is assembled with three symbols, so the numerical code representing the model is a three-digit number using base 10. Some sample models are shown:

Basic Symbolism

In these models, the bottom two elements represent the entity physical components and the top element is used for transcendental components. The system has some usefulness in population classification systems, where P-level entity identification numbers are assigned by world governments—the so-called PID format (P followed by a long string of digits). The key code (three digits from the model) is used to prefix the code. The P series of classification is the lowest level.

The Sexual Index Code

We need a handy number to express the sexuality of the beings we will be talking about.

0	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
MASCULINE			NEUTRAL				FEMININE

Therefore, we will use the chart above to assign a number to accomplish this. This number will be called the sexual index and will be abbreviated as “SI.”

“0” is the most possible level of masculinity and “10” is the highest level of femininity. The mid-scale position “5” indicates a balance of the masculine and feminine to result in a “zero sex” status.

The Social Security Code

The Social Security Administration was formed in the year 1946. In the year 1947, the Government of the United States captured an alien creature whose space vehicle crashed here. They kept the poor creature locked up at a government installation until it died about three years later.

Being from an advanced society authorized to possess interdimensional space vehicles, this alien would have known many things as common knowledge among his people.

The social security numbers appear to be, in many cases, prefixed with the structural modeling code based on the IG Standard. This information is not usually available to undeveloped planets, and therefore, it is likely that the information was “beaten out” of the alien creature in 1947 through 1949.

The first three numbers of a person’s social security number appear to be that person’s structural model as discussed in this text. Also, I have heard the letters “SSN” interpreted to mean “super secret number.” Therefore, I felt it might be a good idea just to point this out so that you will know what all the hocus pocus secrecy is all about.

The English IO Code

Here we are going to run through what we call the IO Code. Code may not be exactly the correct terminology to use, because what this actually is is the fact that the letters of the English alphabet also schematically model certain Universal concepts.

Additionally, here we will encounter the concept of “reflections.” Some people also refer to this as “octaves” (from the musical scale), and the use of the word “octave” may be more descriptive. Recall that the eight notes of the musical scale “repeat.” These repetitions are not the same, because they are on a higher frequency, but they are essentially “the same idea” moved up to a higher “octave.” We are calling this the IO Code simply because all of the English letters are formed by some combination of the symbols “I” and (parts of) “O.” For example, the letter “B” is an “I” with an “O” sliced in half and repositioned, and so on.

Now let us go through some of the main letters of the English alphabet that model concepts we have previously discussed.

- “A” symbolizes different things on different “octaves.” It symbolizes the human form with the base of the “A” representing the feet. “A” also symbolizes the pyramid. The triangle formed at the top of the “A” is where we usually see the symbolic “all-seeing eye” placed. However, at this time, I should point out that the “all-seeing eye” in this position is not all that “all-seeing,” because it is inside of the pyramid and, therefore, inside of karma. Things inside of karma are limited. To be really all-seeing, the eye should be above the pyramid. In such a case, the correct modeling code would be “VA” in the form: and the “all-seeing eye” should be positioned in the “V” part instead of the “A” part.

- “C” and “X.” “X” is the Universal symbol for a gate. Parts of the System of Universes of the Lower Creation are separated by gates. Use of the combined symbols “C” and “X” forms a “compartment,” which is accessed by a gate:

- “H” is a double-gate symbol and is more properly shown stretched out as below:

- “J” and “I” are primarily religious notions. They come from classical Biblical and other references to the concept of the Rod and the Staff. “I” symbolizes the Rod and “J” symbolizes the Staff. Therefore, it is common practice, when speaking of great Saints, to place the letters “JI” after their name. This is an acknowledgment that they possessed the Staff and the Rod.

- “K” is another model using a gate-type symbol. More specifically, a gate leading to a barrier, as reconstructed below:

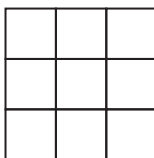

- “L” is sometimes used to express certain notions about the quality called “Love.” This is more into the area of Universal Love as opposed to more physical concepts. Basically, in the “L” symbol, there is a horizontal plateau. So, say, you are wandering around on this horizontal plateau and the gift of Universal Love comes to you somehow. Then you can immediately leave this horizontal plane and go straight up.
- “M” and “W” combine to form the following basic symbol, which is the Universal Translate Symbol for IGC:

- “N” is the symbol for space—both inner space and outer space (as in beyond the Earth and into deep space). “N” is also the symbol for the N-Cycle, which is a schematic showing the Cycle of 84, or the Cycle of Transmigration. In this context, the path of “N” schematically illustrates the path of the Soul: birth on Earth, then death and elevation to some lower inner world, then back down for another birth, etc.

“N” is used to preface code sequences dealing with outer space or inner space. To identify interdimensional spacecraft, we use the preface “NCC.” To identify an interdimensional trip, the code is “N CC XC CC XC XC XC...”

- “N” and “Z.” There is a special symbol formed by the mapping of “N” over “Z.” To understand this symbol, you may perform the following mental exercise: in the boxes below, arrange the digits 1 thru 9 (using each only once) so that the sum total of any group of three digits, taken vertically, horizontally, or diagonally, equals 15.

The mental process you used to solve this puzzle is called “process NZ.”

- “O” is the symbol for completeness. It is used to symbolize the human Soul and also to symbolize God.
- “P” is the notion of a compartment. The Catholic Church, for example, uses the Universal Translate Symbol “XP” to designate their special religious “path,” which is simply a path to the “right” (good) side of the Astral world.
- “Q” is an “O” with a little “tail” leading out of the closed space inside of the “O.” So, “Q” symbolizes a closed space with a “way out.” What this closed space consists of and where the “way out” leads to and leaves you are determined by which reflection (or “octave”) of Universal Truth you are operating on.

For a young child, a “Q-clearance” might be something as simple as the ability to leave its house. Getting a bit more sophisticated, looking at the Universe System horizontally, we could say a “Q-clearance” was the ability to leave the Earth and travel into deep space. Looking at the Universe System vertically, a “Q-clearance” would then become the ability to travel to another plane of existence.

In the United States, a U.S. Government Q-clearance means the ability to access the truth in as much as the Government knows the truth to be. Knowledge of this truth would cause the average American to become disillusioned with the United States, and therefore, “for the good of the economy,” the truth is restricted.

Finally, the absolute meaning of Q-clearance is the ability to leave your body as a naked Soul (which is really all that you are) and travel through the eleven planes and reach the Twelfth Plane (called the Anami region) where the true and ultimate God (the Father of your Soul) lives.

- “S” is commonly used as genetic symbol, usually as “SS,” to schematically represent the double-helix structure of the DNA molecule.
- “T” is the symbol for “transport.”
- “U” is the symbol for Universe.
- “V” and “Y.” “V” is a plant symbol, as in a little plant with its two first little leaves sticking up. “Y” is also a plant symbol, with the same basic idea.

The Color and Light Codes

The color and light codes come from the color of the “skies” of the inner worlds. Blues and light violets are mental colors, whereas reds, warm-pinks, and oranges are from the Astral-Causal worlds. Since the Astral plane is primarily an emotional-type place, the use of warm reds and pinks are, on a lower octave, simulating this concept.

Example

In “psychic massage,” the person (commonly a girl) doing this massage uses a quiet room with red lights. Consequently, psychic massage can get quite erotic. This process involves an energy transfer from the girl to the client.

Therefore, I wish to point out and caution girls who are solicited to do this type of work that the money they receive for this is no compensation for what they are giving away, which is their own, personal, psychic energy.

Wasting this special energy in this manner is not good, because you need this for your own personal well-being and also to assist you at the time of your death in the process of getting away from here.

Consequently, people who have had training in psychic massage would be well-advised to get another job and save this special talent for someone they truly love and care about instead of prostituting it on strangers who care nothing about them.

Turban Codes for Gurus

This code comes from analysis of Indian gurus who generally wear turbans. The way these things are tied forms an inverted “V” in the front. If something is worn below the turban, then this material, covered by the main turban material, forms an upward pointing triangle. The color/presence of this triangle appears to form a rating code for the guru’s status. Pictures of gurus taken over time show changes in the triangle from black (student guru) to white and finally to no triangle (because there is no material worn under the turban). The progression is always from black to white to none, never backwards or out of this sequence.

Based on these observations, we propose an esoteric code known among gurus and based on the rating system for the three classes of gurus as follows:

1. BLACK TRIANGLE: Student guru who can access only as high as the Causal plane;
2. WHITE TRIANGLE: Guru with access to Sach Khand²;
3. NO TRIANGLE: Guru with full access to all planes.

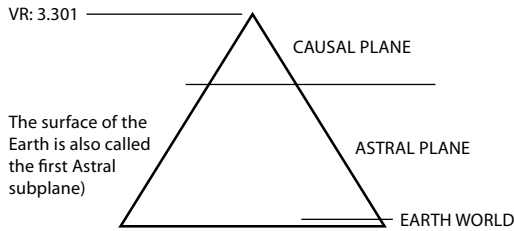

In the case of the guru types, the main turban is white—the classic Spiritual, pure, etc., color. However, since many generic Indians wear turbans, and these are of various colors, the overall “turban code” is likely to be more complex. Because of the Indian tradition of “labeling” people into castes, from which there is no escape (i.e., you cannot change your caste), the turban colors are likely linked into this social ordering system.

The Pyramid

The pyramid is a Universal symbol. However, the pyramid is much more than that—it is a Universal structure, and you live inside of a pyramid. This pyramid has a top about one-third of the way into the Causal world at vector reference 3.301.

2. In the Sikh religion, the first Spiritual plane; literally, “the realm of Truth.”

If you can see the Causal plane through your “third eye” and see the many little pyramids that stutter the landscape there, then you are no longer inside of this pyramid and you are now “outside of karma.”

This also means that you have completed an important growth step and that your childhood has now ended and you can never go back to your “period of innocence.”

The Runaway Train

And so, you see now the citizens of the Earth world. They are traveling on a “runaway train”—they do not remember getting on the train, and they do not know where the train came from; they cannot get off of the train, and they do not know where the train is going.

You are now “outside of karma,” and so you see the world, and you see the masses on their train ride, and you understand. But you are not on the train, and therefore, although you are “in the world,” you are not “of the world,” and the various emotional scenes of the world do not affect you. Childhood is behind you now and ahead are the final clearances which include your meeting with God on the Twelfth Vector and your final discharge from the Lower Creation. Like a parent, you can empathize with the masses, but you are no longer with them now, and although you understand their situation, you have left all this now, and the problems of the masses do not affect you.

CHAPTER TWO

Primary Life Form Classifications

When it is time to create new Physical and Astral Universes (they are always dissolved and recreated together), after the initial fireworks from the “big bang” settle down, planets are selected that will support life.

Adepts in alchemy use the basic elements known as Earth, Air, Fire, Water, and Ether to make up the forms (bodies) that the Souls who will be sent into the new worlds will use.

The Primary Life Form Classification System is based on how many of the base elements are used to make each class of form.

Class #	Elements used	Examples
I	Earth, Air, Fire, Water, Ether	Human beings
II	Earth, Air, Fire, Water	Quadruped mammals
III	Air, Fire, Water	Birds
IV	Earth, Fire	Reptiles, insects, worms
V	Water	Vegetation

Man is classed as Class I. Also, any other being that inhabits the Physical Universe—humanoid or otherwise, whose physical body contains the complete set of five elements—is considered to be in Class I.

The presence of the element Ether is the key, which gives man and others in Class I the right and power to reunite with God and return home to Him, leaving behind the created Universes forever.

Animals, no matter how smart they are, cannot contact God from within an animal form. They must first reincarnate in a human form.

Spiritual adepts generally recommend vegetarianism based, among others, upon the argument that taking life is wrong. However, since we must eat something to survive, we should eat the simplest of God's creatures, which are the plants. Also, we can eat plants without necessarily killing the plant, because we do not use it all and it quickly grows back.

The Creation of the Human Race

In the beginning, the Earth world and the other planets of the Physical Universe were created. There were no physical life forms. Beings (Souls) who wanted to explore the “new worlds” of the Physical Universe would simply go to the gate at vector reference 3.301 on the Causal plane and use magic to create a body to use while visiting these new planets. They knew, of course, that they were mainly a naked Soul and they knew that the body they had just “whipped up” was an illusion, and they knew how to throw it off as one would an old set of clothes. In fact, they knew too darn much. These beings were truly Masters of the Universe and their exploits are discussed in Greek and Roman mythology.

Kal Niranjan, the Administrator of the Lower Creation, had a real problem here, because these original beings would not stay put on any one planet, and they knew all about how the Creation was assembled and how to get around in it.

Therefore, Kal designed a way to create a body by a separate process so that a Soul, once put into it, would not know how to get out of the body and so would be trapped there and stay in one place (planet).

Therefore, two bodies were made—the male and the female forms—and they were put in a nice little garden on Earth. A special desire to mate was programmed into them so that they simply “could not live without it.” The pair originally knew where they came from, and they also knew God. But that did not last long. They decompensated (had a “Spiritual fall”), got all nervous about being different (men and women), and made clothes to hide themselves, and lost the ability to contact God. Overcome with desire, they mated, and children soon filled the Earth. The kids did not know how they got in the body they had. They began to think that they were a body, and not a Soul. And so it all began.

Kal does not volunteer information about Souls in bodies or about God. If he did, the Souls here would leave and return to God, so he would not have anything to do.

If it was not for the Spiritual adepts sent here by God, no Souls would ever make it back to Him.

So, eventually, when a Soul has completed its 84 million lives in the Physical Universe, it comes to the Master. The Master accepts the Soul and gives it the Spiritual instructions, and the Soul then leaves the Lower Creation and returns home to God. It takes with it the complete memory of all its lives in the Lower Creation. This memory is different for every Soul, because every Soul has been individualized by the process of life.

This is the Meaning and the Purpose of Life.

Sample Form and Structure Codes

Kathy and John

In the Christian Bible, the pair called Adam and Eve were most likely a Kathy and John pair. These people have white skin, brown hair and brown eyes. They can access telepathy channels P and O. The female has a sex index of about 8 or 9 and, similarly, the male has a sex index of about 1 or 2.

The Kathy Plant

This group of people is called the Flower or Plant group. They are native to the planet Earth in Galaxy Sector N-6-129.

The Kathy Plant is the most basic and simple girl. Her structural code is 430, and her Universal Translate ID is AO. She is sometimes lonely and feels separation. She needs a mate and desires to make another Kathy Plant.

The John Group

John is the inversion of Kathy. He has the same qualities as the female with the exception of sex. He can access telepathy channels P and O; his structural code is 430, and his Universal Translate ID is AO.

The Qualities of a Human Being

A human being is any life form which has some type of physical body and lives somewhere in the Physical Universe and can access telepathy channel O.

Only humans can access this channel, which is the link to God. Therefore, although animals have Souls, they do not have channel O capability and so are not human by definition.

Any creature with access to channel O is human. They may be green, pink, black, or white, they may not have vocal cords and be from a race which only communicates telepathically. They may look totally alien to us. But if they can access channel O—or if they have this ability and it is simply latent due to lack of development—they are a human being.

Ray and Rebecca

Ray and Rebecca are considered to be members of the “animal group.” They have white skin, black hair and azure blue eyes. They can access telepathy channel O only. Their structural code is 431 and their Universal Translate ID is AT.

There are stories from time to time of a colony of Rebeccas living inside the Earth with an access at the South Pole.

A developed (mature) Ray or Rebecca has the power to channel a considerable amount of psychic energy and direct it in various ways. They are ideally suited to the practice of magic and witchcraft. When employed by governments, Ray is usually used as a doctor of medicine.

A Ray can restrain (hold) any life form with his (or her) powers with the single exception of the Quasar Level Three, over which Ray and Rebecca are powerless.

Dick and Yolanda

Dick and Yolanda are considered members of the “animal group.” They have black skin, black hair and dark brown eyes. They can access all telepathy channels and their structural code is 330; their Universal Translate ID is YO.

The female has a sex index of 10, and the male has a sex index of 0. They are native to the planet Earth in Galaxy Sector N-6-129.

They are a race of sophisticated beings and can do magic, witchcraft, psychic practices, and Spiritual practices. They are generally more sophisticated at this than the so-called “white race.”

They are very competent in procreation, much more so than the “white race” people.

Raj and Sue

This category is the people with white skin, brown eyes and jet black hair. They are members of the Flower or Plant group.

These people are natives of the planet Earth, they can access telepathy channels O and P. The females have a sex index of 10 and the males have a sex index of 0. Their IG symbol is OT and the structural modeling code is 320.

The American Indian Group

This category includes the reddish skin, brown eyes, black hair people. These people are natives of the planet Earth. They can access telepathy channels P and O, their IG symbol is VT and their structural modeling code is 210. The females have a sex index of 10 and the males have a sex index of 0.

When they were free in their natural state, these people were reasonably advanced Spiritually; this has now degenerated somewhat because of the harm done to them by the Government of the United States.

The Oriental People

This category includes all of the yellowish-skin, brown-eyed people (Japanese, Chinese, Malays, etc.). These people are native of the planet Earth. Their religious doctrines are very precise and accurate. They can access telepathy channels P and O, their IG symbol is IT, and their structural modeling code is 110. The females have a sex index of 10 and the males have a sex index of 0.

Kal and Kali

We really should mention the Administrator of the Lower worlds and his mate. They are Kal and Kali. They live in the upper part of the Astral world and do not have physical bodies. Their IG symbol is KN, and their structural modeling code is 01 for Kal and 10 for Kali. They can access all telepathic communication channels and are masters of magic, witchcraft and all known sciences. Children are not born to residents of the Astral world, however, they do have sex, and Kal and Kali have sex indices of 0 and 10.

The Star Group

The Star Group of people consists of several subclasses. These classes are: the Ultra Super, the Super Ultra, the Super, the Quasar, and the Ultra. All members of this group have white skin. They are most likely not native to the planet Earth.

The Ultra Super Class

This class has white skin, green eyes and red hair. Their IG label (name) is Diane or Samantha for the females and Ron for the males. They can access all telepathic communication channels. Their structural code is 437, and their Universal Translate ID is USA. The females have a sex index of about 7, and the males have a sex index of about 3.

The Super Ultra Class

This class has blond hair, blue eyes and white skin. The IG label is Sandra for the females and Jack for the males. Their structural code is 438, and their Universal Translate ID is SUA. The females have a sex index of about 9 and the males have a sex index of about 1.

The Ultra Class

These people have white skin, brown hair and blue eyes. The IG label is Barbara for the females and Ken for the males. Their structural code is 434, and their Universal Translate ID is UA. The sex index for males is 0, and 10 for females.

The Super Class

The Super class people have white skin, brown hair, and hazel eyes. When mature, they are called the Quasar class. They have various special abilities, which we shall now discuss in detail, and they exist in four main forms, which are Q1, Q2, Q3, and Q5.

The structural code for this class is 433, and the Universal Translate ID is SQ. They can access all telepathic communication channels. Special forms Q3 and Q5 represent the fusion of the male and female in a single body. Their sex index is 5, and they do not need a mate.

The Quasar People

The Quasar people are males. Females may have the same genetic qualities, but are not Quasar. They are called Super.

A young Quasar is a Q1. During life, the Quasar generally matures to Q2 and some reach Q3 sophistication. Some are selected by God to advance to the next level, which is Q5. The growth to level Q5 is not automatic; special permission is needed for this. For normal activities of human life Q3 and Q5 people are essentially the same.

The Quasar class is a special group. They are (that is, they can mature to become) perfectly balanced people with a sex index of 5. The group Q1 and Q2 need a mate, however, Q3 and Q5 do not. The inversion of the Quasar is the Ultra Super female. Her sex index is also low, and so she will be glad her mate is not constantly jumping on her, and her Quasar mate will be glad that she is not always asking for it. The Q5 is called a Spiritual Officer (SO-1). He is a direct agent of God.

Special Adult Working Groups

The SO works with the Spiritual Masters on a planet. The Spiritual Master can be any human being whom God chooses. His rating is SM-0. The SO-1 and the SM-0 together have the ability to execute any directive of God.

In the working group of the SM and SO, the SM plays a feminine role and the SO plays a masculine role. The SM must have plenty of love and compassion for his initiates; the SO has no initiates and so does not need to have this. The SO must be competent and understand the Will of God, the structure of the System of the Universes of God, the mechanics of the Lower Creation, and the Law of Karma.

The Quasar at level 3 or 5 is considered to be the most powerful creature in the Physical Universe. This power, however, is not physical, but rather has to do with maintaining very delicate balances. It could be called “zero power,” because access to the other planes of existence and to all the secrets of God cannot be obtained by any type of brute force but rather by maintaining perfect balance and doing nothing at all.

It may be technically correct to say that the SO-1 outranks the SM-0, but this is silly hair-splitting as the SO-1 will always defer to the SM-0, because he is the gate through which all Souls must pass to leave this place and come into the presence of God.

Nomenclatures For Sophistication Level Classification

We all live in the same Universe System, and the Mental plane and the Universal Mind are the same for all cultures of humans throughout the Physical Universe. Therefore, everyone accesses essentially the same “database” in the spectrum of mental activities. And one popular mental activity is this desire to organize and classify everything, including people.

We have previously gone through the basic nomenclature for the forms (human forms). So, if I say, “There goes a cute Rebecca,” you know I am referring to a human female with white skin, black hair and bright blue eyes. But this description does not tell you anything about where this Rebecca is with respect to her state of consciousness. Therefore, generally we add an additional identifier to specify the state of consciousness.

There are a number of schemes for doing this, just as there are other body typing systems. I understand that the U.S. Government uses a body typing system (secret, obviously, like most everything else it does) that divides the human population into about one hundred body types.

We want to now go through a couple of systems—the “K-Factor” system and the “Symbol Code” system.

K-Factors

K-factors are discussed in detail in our book Plan Theory, and so we are just going to skim through it quickly to present a general idea of where the typing numbers are coming from and what they mean.

The four main K-factors are the things which result in a person being out of balance in some positive or negative way. People “cut across” and therefore reflect the four lower planes, and all four planes are dual worlds, which have a positive side and a negative side. The Spiritual worlds do not have this quality. They are all purely positive, and so is the human Soul.

The balance factors are mass (a quality we call the Freudian factor), sex, emotion and the F-factor. We want all of these to be in a “zero state” for balance. So, a completely balanced person identifies himself as a pure Soul, which has no mass, giving us an M0; also the Soul has no sex, so we have an S0; and, since we are above emotion, we have E0. The F-factor is a reference to the internal compartmentalization resulting from the conscious and unconscious minds, which need to be merged into a single complete mind to achieve the F0 condition.

In addition to the balance factors, there are three quality factors.

The first quality factor rates the human as compared to an android, or a completely non-human “human-looking” thing. Acceptance of popular propaganda—such as the belief that there is no Soul and no God and that people are simply a special variety of apes who have little body hair and know how to talk—makes one close to the android end of this spectrum.

The second quality factor is a measure of a person's compliance with God's Plan using the scale I1 through I3, with I1 signifying compliance and I3 indicating no compliance at all.

The third quality factor is a symbol relating to the status of the Soul and indicates the highest plane that Soul can contact, with "O" indicating access to God.

Well, that gives us a total of seven K-factors. In the nomenclature, we would say a person was a "7" if they had all seven favorable factors.

Now, having run through this, if we now say, "There is a Rebecca 7," you know essentially all there is to know about this girl—the body type and the sophistication level.

Symbol Code

We have discussed the Symbol Code previously, which is a numbering system from 0 through 10,000, which roughly corresponds to the plane number or the vector reference number. So, in this system, the "work-a-day" world is at symbol code 2200 or is also called the "202 activity band." Coincidentally, the area code for Washington, D.C., and also its zip code, are both "202." This place is the center of our "work-a-day" world.

Above 202 is the 301 activity band, or 3100 in the symbol code.

So, using an alternate form of nomenclature, we could call our girl "Rebecca 22" or "Rebecca 31." There is no hard and fast rule on this, and different cultures and groups get used to one method and so use it in preference to some other method. They all accomplish the same thing, which is to have a simple label that will let us know about a person without having to get into long explanations.

CHAPTER THREE

Universal Organization and Administration

Let me begin by pointing out that the Creation we live in is not young. In fact, it is presently in its last cycle of existence. Therefore, advanced civilizations who have had deep space travel capabilities for many thousands of years have already explored and mapped essentially the entire Physical Universe. Additionally, people with Spiritual talents have traveled throughout the various other planes of existence and have more or less mapped them too. Everyone who journeys to the inner worlds sees certain predictable “landmarks,” and these are given in various books, so that people doing out-of-body travel for the first time can tell where they are. The planes have distinctive features and also characteristic “skies.” Just as we see a “blue sky” here on Earth, so the residents of the Astral world see a “pink sky,” and so on.

For the purpose of mutual assistance, organizations have come into existence and have, over time, become accepted by the advanced civilizations as legitimate. When the Earth planet is reclassified as an advanced civilization, it will have no choice but to also accept these pre-existing organizations and abide by their rules and regulations. Outright refusal and defiance will result in the certain destruction of the planet. There are three main divisions of Universal Administration:

IOC

The IOC is primarily a Spiritual organization (the middle “O” is the symbol for Soul) whose members include Spiritual Personnel such as Spiritual Masters and Spiritual Officers. Additionally, it includes Saints and the Plane Lords of the seven Spiritual planes below the Twelfth Vector.

IUC

The IUC (Inter-Universe Council) consists of the Plane Lords of the four planes of the Lower Creation and representatives from the various planes.

IUC activities include working on interdimensional problems. For example, tracking down and dealing with sorcerers who are stealing human bodies and giving them (selling is more accurate—there is big money in this) to astral entities so that they do not have to wait and follow the established protocol for their next human incarnation.

IGC

The IGC (Intergalactic Council) is the organization, which is most relevant to the Earth at the present time. It is primarily a physical service, i.e., its members are human beings.

All advanced cultures have representatives in the IGC, and when the Earth is reclassified, it too can have active members, and Earth people may also participate in various IGC activities such as Observer Teams, who go (quietly) to undeveloped planets and civilizations just to “look around.”

Observer Teams provide the citizens of advanced worlds with an opportunity to look back and see how their culture was countless centuries ago. Therefore, their equivalent of “social work” and “psychology” students can gain first-hand knowledge of what the past was most likely like.

Additionally, IGC is the “FAA”³ of deep space and regulates the Interspatial Zone and licenses spacecraft capable of accelerated time travel. It is essentially impossible to get anywhere without using accelerated time technology, so simple ships, such as the garbage cans with bottle rockets tied to them that the U.S. Government presently uses in its “space program” do not come under any IGC regulation.

For access to the Interspatial Zone a planet must have at least an

3. Federal Aviation Administration.

N3 sophistication rating, and the planet Earth does not meet these qualifications at the present time.

IGC Enforcement is the police force of the Physical Universe. It can arrest people who violate the accepted standards for conduct, which we have discussed elsewhere, and administer justice.

In its history, the Physical Universe has, at times, been a quite violent place as emerging cultures first discovered space travel and began interacting with one another. However, things have quieted down considerably now, and the various advanced civilizations generally live in peace and have many mutual cooperation projects. They trade with each other, such as in raw materials. For example, the special alloys used to manufacture deep space vehicles may not be available on all planets and may have to be imported. Also, some planets may prefer to simply buy space vehicles from a manufacturing planet whose technology is felt to be superior.

The primary product produced by the planet Earth is food. Enough food is produced by Earth to feed its population three times.

Consequently, the role of the IGC is really not that of a “heavy-handed enforcer,” but more that of a central clearing house or point of coordination for the activities of the advanced civilizations.

GC/UC Justice Systems

Today’s successful criminal will be in for quite a shock when the Earth world comes under the IGC jurisdiction, because the justice system they use is quite hard (if at all possible) to beat.

IGC justice systems do not have “trials.” They have administrative hearings, and the defendant cannot have a lawyer. There are no such things as lawyers and judges. The guilt or innocence of the accused is determined by the Akashic Records.

The Akashic Records are a natural record-keeping system with 100 percent accuracy, which was programmed into the design of the Lower worlds at the time of the Creation. They record everything—everything you do, and everything you think, and everything that others do to you.

Therefore, the fate of the accused is predestined: if the Akashic Records show that person guilty, then he is sent to a prison planet (barren worlds unsuitable for colonization) and generally just forgotten about. If the Akashic files show “death karma,” the accused is executed immediately. There is no appeal and also no escape, because the Akashic files will show who you are and where you are, if you try to run away, and you will be hunted down and definitely found and face additional charges for attempting to run. Consequently, crime essentially does not exist in those regions of the Universe which are under IGC or IUC jurisdiction. The following is a short list of the more serious crimes recognized by IGC Enforcement:

1. INTERFERENCE WITH EVOLUTION. This category includes all of the various attempts to enslave people by interfering with their right to realize God and includes such things as the manufacture, distribution, and use of mind control-type drugs. In the case of drugs, if the person who ordered the use of the drugs has not caused the physical death of another human, the only penalty would be life on a prison planet; if any subjects have died, the penalty is immediate execution.
2. MURDER AND SERIOUS ASSAULT (NON-KARMA RELATED). Murder is punished by immediate execution, and assault with life on a prison planet. The qualification “non-karma related” means that, if the Akashic Records show that crimes committed against the accused by the victim in a past lifetime gave the accused the right to do whatever he did, there are no charges, and the accused is released with no prejudice.
3. THEFT. Sentence to a prison planet or complete payment (restitution).

The IGC People

I want to take some time here to briefly talk about the personnel (men and women) who work for the IGC, since these are the people that the Earth is going to have to get used to dealing with, when it is reclassified.

I have some experiences with IGC, mainly from past lifetimes. Also I had a chance to meet a few IGC people when they were active here in the Sixties. The first thing I want to point out is that these men and women are mature adults and are generally quite friendly. However, like anyone who has enforcement responsibilities, they have a “tough” side too, and so, if the Earth is just bound and determined to do its “best” not to comply with the IGC regulations, then this is the side they are going to see.

However, under most conditions, IGC personnel are a great bunch of guys and gals and are fun to be with and to work with. They are very human and have compassion for the human condition.

I recall once we were off somewhere on some planet in the middle of nowhere doing an observation, and we did our work for the day and had sent in our report on ISN⁴, and were just sitting around talking. So we were trying to think of something to do for the evening, and someone suggested, “Well, let’s go into the town and get some wine (or whatever mood-altering stuff they used there) and see if we can find a Sally-6 or a Kathy-4 (a dumb, bouncy broad, but they are usually good-hearted Souls) for the night.”

So, basically, the message I am trying to convey here is that the IGC people are not all that much different from Earth people. They are more mature than the average Earth person, but some Earth people are certainly equal to them. And, basically, they share the same human needs and desires as all of us do.

Hopefully, the working relationship that develops between the Earth and the IGC in the future will be a happy and helpful relationship.

4. Interspacial Net.

CHAPTER FOUR

Systems of Law

The IGC Law

When the planet Earth is upgraded to N3 status, the citizens of the Earth will become subject to the IGC Law. There are severe penalties for violations of the IGC Law, which are enforced by the IGP, the Intergalactic Police.

Penalties include the AID penalty, which is discussed elsewhere, and perpetual physical isolation, which means that the offender is confined to a prison planet for the remainder of the present Cycle of Time.

IGC is not a democracy, but it should not be considered to be a dictatorship either. The IGC Law is the formalization and the enforcement of the Will of God. As such, it is not subject to debate. It is the same as it always has been, and it will remain so throughout time and all Ages.

Does this mean that a bunch of priests with bibles is coming to have an inquisition and quote scripture and condemn people for silly nonsense? No, it does not. In fact, you will find the IGC Law to be much more liberal than anything you have lived under in the past.

The serious penalties of the IGC Law are for people who do serious crimes. Ordinary people, who just wish to live their lives in peace and do their thing—have a family and the stuff that non-psychotic people generally want and need—will never encounter the IGP.

Now, if you want to go to war with God or build some infernal machine, like, for example, a space-time disrupter, which is capable of distorting whole galaxies, then you are likely to get a visit from the IGP. But, realistically, how many people do you know that are just dying to do something like this?

The point is that the IGC and its associated enforcement division, the IGP, deal with serious crimes and are not concerned with the everyday affairs of ordinary people.

To the extent that they are concerned is to your benefit, because the IGC Law guarantees the sovereignty of what is called the Adult Natural Set (ANS).

An Adult Natural Set (definition) is a group of adults who have an “area of understanding” among themselves to share certain aspects of their lives. Any activities of an ANS, which are wholly internal to the ANS (that do not affect others outside of the ANS), are considered correct and legitimate no matter what they are. This is a right guaranteed by the IGC Law.

The most common example of ANS is a family unit consisting of a male and female and their children. No one is authorized to interfere in the internal affairs of an Adult Natural Set for any reason. The IGP protects and defends this right on N3-level planets.

So, just when you thought an army of oppressors might be coming, as you can see, they might well prove to be the best allies you ever had.

The Prime Directive

Now, for all you sci-fi fans out there who are curious, we will give the for real Prime Directive.

The Prime Directive, IGC

“Conspiracy to inhibit the forward evolutionary progress of a Class I life form is not allowed. The penalty of AID is to be executed against all members of the offending group.”

The Prime Directive is a formalization of the wishes and desires of God.

It is the desire of God that Souls in the Lower Creation, where time exists and where physical forms are used, learn from their experiences there and, in this learning process, make continuing progress toward full maturity. A fully mature Soul knows God and knows that his true home is not in this Creation, but is with God in the Spiritual planes. No one has to tell a mature Soul this—when one becomes a mature Soul, one knows this without being told. And the Soul knows its way home. At this level of development, Spiritual Masters help any mature Souls who ask in completing their final journey home. Since this was the purpose for which God caused the Lower Creation to come into existence, it exists for no other legitimate purpose than this.

Violations of the Prime Directive are cases such as:

- using magic, sorcery, and the like, to enslave Souls and use them for slaves;
- using technology, such as implants, to influence or control people;
- using mind control drugs on people against their will;
- using any other technique which has the end effect of halting a Soul forward progress and throwing him into a state of stagnation or negative evolution.

“Any group or individual found guilty of such an offence is in violation of the Prime Directive, IGC, and is subject to immediate arrest by IGP to be taken for judgment. These charges, if confirmed, carry the maximum penalty of AID. No clemency is shown to inhabitants of N3-level cultures who are found in violation of the Prime Directive, because it is assumed that they know what they are doing and that they are acting deliberately against the Will of God.”

Predator Races

A predator race is a group of beings who are not animals and also not necessarily humanoid, who, due to some defect, need physical material from another race (the “host” race) in order to physically survive.

To use an example that everyone will understand, a race of vampires would be a predator race.

IGC Policy on Predator Races

IGC policy on predator races is that the predator race must develop some non-invasive technique to satisfy its needs. Returning to the vampire example, if a group of vampires wants to buy blood from a blood bank and pay for it, they are free to live like anyone else and drink all the blood they want. However, if they refuse to do this, because, for example, they want to argue that they need fresh blood from young virgins and they enjoy the thrill of chomping down on their tender young necks, etc., then the IGC policy is that the predator race must be exterminated from existence.

In implementing its policy, IGC Technical Services will work with a predator race first to try to help them develop some non-invasive alternative to whatever they need. In most cases, it is possible to synthesize whatever organic material the race needs, and, if they will agree to use such methods, they can continue to exist and enjoy all the rights of other citizens of the Universe. However, if they will not agree to this, or if it proves to be impossible to synthesize the needed material, then the predator race forfeit its right to continue to physically exist.

The Grey People

The preceding discussion of policy is applicable to the so-called “grey people” who live underground on the planet Earth. The evidence suggests that this race may meet the definition of a predator race and that members of this race have taken advantage of unsuspecting humans and used them to supply their needs for certain human bodily fluids and organ parts/components.

If the grey people should be officially classified as a predator race in the future, when the status of the planet Earth is upgraded to level N3, the IGC will provide to any citizen of the Earth, who has a need, devices, which will detect the grey people (because they can become invisible, walk through walls, etc.), and also provide effective technology to terminate (kill) them should they attack.

The Greys

In the first contact experience for the planet Earth, the people who visited here appear to have been humans or humanoids. They were friendly. However, the leaders of the Earth could not get along with them—most likely because they were actually normal, ethical beings living in compliance with established Universal Laws.

Next came the “grey people.” In fact, they are not “people” but rather some evolved form of insect, and their body type appears to be Class IV. Class IV consists of creatures such as insects, reptiles, and worms. The alchemical elements used in Class IV are Fire and Earth.

We have insects and reptiles on the Earth, however, they do not have spaceships or high technology. How did these ones evolve to such a level within such a low class of form?

On the Earth, the total spectrum of bodies is available. Souls evolve by moving up to a higher form. When there is no higher form for Souls to move up to, evolution then consists of advancement within the form. A housewife in Ancient Egypt was not in the same state of consciousness as a housewife today. But a house cat from Ancient Egypt was roughly in the same “cat consciousness” as it is today. A cat’s Soul does not need to evolve within a cat form, because it can move up to a higher level of form and eventually get a human form.

Now, consider the possibility of a planet somewhere, where the only life forms are Class V (plants) and Class IV. Souls using plant bodies can move up to the next class of insects, reptiles and worms, but no higher, because no higher physical form is available. Therefore, over time, they have evolved within this lesser form to the limit of its capabilities.

The greys are reported to have an association with another group of Class IV creatures—reptilians, who are not physically on the Earth in any significant number. These ones are supposed to come from the Orion Empire.

In 1953, the greys are said to have established formal agreements with the Earth by means of a contract signed by President Eisenhower. This contract promised that the greys would give high technology and that the Earth would give the greys whatever they need to survive. The greys are parasites, and what they need is a stockpile of human beings to consume. Also, they have come to the end of their natural cycle of existence under the Universal Laws.

Food for the greys is supposed to consist of two classes of components: one is physical, the other is astral. The physical component is a chemical (or chemicals) that can be found in humans when they are in highly agitated emotional states. The corresponding astral component is raw emotional energy.

To provide the astral “food,” a sufficiently large group of humans needs to be kept emotionally “sexed up.” The preferred way to do this is to have them involved in a war—the more terrible the war and the more atrocities committed, the higher is the level of “food production.”

To provide the physical component of the food, people must be abducted and then “prepared” by being terrified, which maximizes the quantity of the desired substance. The greys don’t actually eat but absorb this substance through their bodies. To do this, they hop into what is essentially a bowl of “soup,” and in this “soup” are the chopped-up bodies of the humans. Children have been found to be most desirable, because they can be easily terrified.

Various life forms have all developed techniques for survival. Mosquitoes, for example, who also feed on humans, first inject the person with anesthetic so they won’t feel. The hope is that they can get a “mouthful” of blood and get away before the drug wears off. Sometimes this works. Sometimes it does not, in which case the bug usually gets swatted dead.

The greys use brain implants to control the humans they want to use. Attached to the optic nerve, these devices reportedly cannot be removed without causing death to the affected human. Communication signals to and from the devices use time-independent (sub-space-type) technology. The method may be similar to ESP communication between humans, which is also instantaneous.

As a general rule, when you get into contractual relationships, is that there should be some area of common interest. There is a pretty wide spread between humans and this bunch of overgrown bugs, but there is a common interest as well. That interest is survival.

The greys are a doomed race. Under the Laws of Nature, they have reached the end of their time. They cannot reproduce any more, and the cloning tricks are failing. One of their latest tricks consisted of kidnapping pregnant human women and splicing “grey genes” into the unborn child. Did not work too good either.

The Illuminati people, who control the world and work with the greys, are also doomed. They have violated every Universal Law, committed every possible sin, and gone against every principle of Good. They cannot get another human body by lawful means. They must either keep their present body alive or steal someone else’s body to continue to physically exist. They do both.

So, the common bond between the Illuminati and the greys is the seeking of all sorts of medical, occult, and high-tech information that they hope will allow them to continue to survive physically. To get this information, they sacrifice (kill) the ordinary human population of the Earth as needed.

Like our garden variety insects, such as ants and termites, the greys live in underground tunnels. There are quite a few large colonies around the world, and the leaders of other industrialized nations play ball with them under the same arrangement: killing ordinary people and getting high technology in exchange.

The greys are reported to have no emotions. They are opinionated and feel humans are “ugly things,” but admit they are good to eat. They are supposed to be pathological liars, which certainly gives them a communication bond with our leaders. Like the Illuminati people, the greys are on a quest for dominance, everlasting physical life, mastery over everything including God—the regular megalomaniac routine.

Their argument for continued support from the Earth government is that they will help defend our planet (i.e., the Elite) from the reptiles, if they attack.

In the United States, the primary base of the greys and their feeding center is Wright Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio. Worldwide, perhaps the largest grey base is below the North Sea. There are many smaller bases. Remember, any point in the world can be accessed through the secret underground tunnel system that links underground cities and installations.

Technical Specifications for the AID Penalty

We have discussed elsewhere that there are laws in the legitimate hierarchy which controls the section of space in which you live. In many areas these laws are either very liberal or non-existent. For example, there are no regulations at all on a person with respect to that person's "personal space." That is, an individual has complete freedom to do whatever he or she wants as far as it affects only themselves and no one else. Once the actions of a person extend beyond their personal space and affect others, laws generally come into play.

Extremely serious crimes against God and humanity can be punished by the ultimate penalty known as Absolute Instant Death, or AID for short. Examples of such crimes would be killing Spiritual personnel such as Spiritual Masters or Spiritual Officers or Observers. Also, deliberate and intentional violations of the Prime Directive of the IGC, which is discussed elsewhere.

All of us are basically Souls. Souls were created by God. Souls cannot be destroyed. Also, Souls are considered good by definition. When people do bad things, it is assumed that the mind, with which their Soul is associated, is responsible, and not the Soul itself. It is assumed that the mind has overpowered the Soul and has caused it to be a "bad Soul" and that, at some future point in time (which could be millions or trillions or more years from now), the Soul will overcome this "bad mind" and will be a good person and will return to God and be welcomed by Him.

However, notwithstanding this assumption, people who do bad things need to be handled or they will seriously degrade the quality of life of everyone around them.

Besides being a Soul, a human being has basically four other parts, which were not created by God. He has a physical body; he has an astral body; he has a mind, which is linked to the Universal Mind on the Fourth Vector; and he has a causal body (or “program”), which contains karmas, which determine the conditions of that person’s present situation. None of these four things come from God. They are assigned to a new Soul when he first crosses from the Spiritual planes into the material Creation. Also, these things are not the property of the Soul—they are conditional gifts, which can be taken away.

Execution of the AID order involves taking back these gifts, which the Soul has abused, and escorting the Soul to the exit at vector reference 4.999 and basically kicking it out the door. The Soul is then in the “Netherworld Zone” (NZ) between the Spiritual planes and the Lower worlds in an area of total blackness with no landmarks at all. God, of course, can choose to rescue such a Soul, however, it is not likely that He would do this, since the Soul has chosen to challenge and/or to attack God, the Father of all of us.

Adjudication Process for AID Orders

I want to spend some extra time discussing the AID orders. This is because there are many (and I mean many) Earth people who have verified AID orders pending against them. Some of them are quite old, perhaps from fifty or more years ago.

First, it should be made clear that none of the enforcement or disciplinary activities of the legitimate hierarchies are designed to be “retribution.” No one is punished out of a sense of “revenge.” Punishments do exist, and people are punished, but only to the extent it is absolutely necessary.

We have already discussed the definition of an AID order, so we have covered that it is a maximum penalty and that it is a significant event, which you definitely do not want to happen to you.

Although many people may have AID orders against them, they are not all carried out. The automatic adjudication process gives everyone a chance to say something that will convince the adjudicator that they are not the same person as they were when they committed whatever offense they committed. Adjudicators confirm pending AID orders only when the person is totally unrepentant and shows no remorse for what he did and indicates that he would just as soon do it again and that he does not care about anyone or anything except his personal comforts. People who have had any change of consciousness between the time an AID order was placed against them and the time they were apprehended stand a good chance of having the order canceled.

Let's go through two examples to illustrate this concept. First we will make up a story of a repentant person and second we will make up a story of a non-repentant person.

• EXAMPLE #1: REPENTANT.

Say, some young nerd just fresh from college with his science degree happens to be with friends, or whatever, and they go somewhere where a real Spiritual Master is giving a lecture. And, say, the nerd kid does not like what he hears and he jumps up and goes after the Master babbling stuff like, "You're a fake. My science teacher covered all this stuff, and there is no such thing as a Soul, and there is no God, and all you want is money." Attacking or attempting to attack a Spiritual Master carried an automatic AID penalty, so, when security throws the little brat out, he now has an AID command verified against him.

Now, let's say time passes and the brat has some "experiences." Say, for example, he is in some kind of serious accident and finds himself outside of his body and as a result he reevaluates his beliefs in scientific atheism and joins some mystic school and becomes a vegetarian and all that good stuff. But then, by some chance, he encounters IGP and they notice the pending AID order, so they take the guy into custody and bring him to a disintegration center. Now, he's probably crazy with fear, because life is not the same to him now as it was twenty or whatever years ago.

So, following standard procedure, the adjudicator comes in and tells him he has the right to make a statement, if he feels that he is not the same person now as he was, when he committed his offense. And, of course, the nerd would say he was sorry and that he even tried to apologize to the Master, but forgot his name over the twenty years, but he knows how stupid he was then, and he is not that way now. The adjudicator is trained to read the Akashic files, but in this case he can plainly see that it is written all over the kid's face that he is not an evil person, so he will cancel the AID, and the IGP will take the kid back to wherever they found him and let him go.

• EXAMPLE #2: NON-REPENTANT

Now let's consider the case of some intelligence operative, who has many AIDs against him, who is brought in and again informed he may make a statement to the adjudicator. But he is intensely arrogant. He starts screaming that he is important and powerful and he is double-zero, so and so, with such and such government, and he has power, and he has friends, and he has a time machine, and he can't be killed, because his friends will go into the past with the time machine and pick him up before he was killed and take him to the future beyond where he was killed, and then he will come back with his spaceship of buddies and kill the adjudicator and bomb the IGC Center, and all that stuff.

Well, clearly this is a "non-repentant" case. This is the class of person that AID was meant for, because there is no way to deal with him and no way he will ever feel any remorse. He thinks he is god and that he has so many tricks and powers and secret weapons that no one can touch him. And he is not likely to change his mind any time too soon. Consequently, the adjudicator will OK the AID order, and IGP will then escort the "double-zero fool" to the disintegration machine.

And, of course, what this grade A fool does not realize is that a time machine can't go places where there is no time, and there is no time in the Netherworld Zone between the Universes, so his friends can look for him all they want and they will not find him. However, they most likely have verified AID orders against them too, so they might meet again when IGP gets around to picking them up so that they can take the one-way trip to the disintegration machine too.

CHAPTER FIVE

Introduction to Advanced Civilizations

Developmental Example for an N6 Culture

In this discussion, we are going to make up a sample working society and study it. We will discuss various points in a theoretical way that are applicable to all social orders.

Let us construct a table—of wood, with a top composed of many strips (planks) of wood. The table stands four feet tall. On the table is a pitcher of milk. Under the table are the people who will be in our new society. To initiate our social order, we will tip the pitcher over on its side and allow the milk to spill onto the table and drip down through the cracks in the boards.

We need to give our citizens a purpose for their existence. Therefore, we will proclaim that the purpose of life in our society is to determine where the milk is coming from.

Now, we must stabilize our society with law. Otherwise, it will collapse. Therefore, we proclaim:

- Law: It is illegal to look more than three feet above the ground.
- Law: Anyone who looks more than three feet above the ground will be executed.

Now our society is working and stabilized. Since no one can look more than three feet above the ground, they can never determine the answer to the purpose of life (where is the milk coming from), and so the people will spin helplessly in circles throughout time.

Internal Security

What of the possibility now of outsiders coming around? Being from outside our society they can easily see where the milk is coming from. If they enter the society and tell the truth, they will destroy our social order. This must be prevented, so we now invent “security clearance.” Anyone coming in from the outside must swear never to talk about what they have seen—the pitcher of milk on the table. If they will not swear, they have two choices: 1) do not enter our society, or 2) be executed immediately upon entering our society.

Now, it is brought to the attention of the leaders that there are some people who have looked beyond three feet above the ground and have seen the table top and the milk. However, no one saw them when they did this and they do not talk openly about what they saw. They have formed a secret club called “The Order of Truth” and they discuss what they know only in secret meetings where no one can observe them.

In public, they behave like everyone else and proclaim that they are trying to find out where the milk is coming from. Now, we know that they have the forbidden knowledge, but since they won’t admit it publicly and keep to themselves and since they represent a small percentage of our society, the decision is made to ignore them and take no action.

External Security

There are other societies in existence. We do not tell the citizens this, but we know of it. They think we are silly and that our people should be “liberated” by being informed of the truth. We must deal with them, because they are a threat to all we have worked so hard to create.

We must form an army. The members will have to be told things the general citizens do not know. We need to establish a security clearance system to handle the army people.

The system we establish will work like this:

1. SECRET CLEARANCE. Knowledge that things exist more than three feet above the ground and that there are “others” in existence not in our society. These “others” are the enemy and must be controlled. If they can’t be controlled, they must be killed, because the “national security” is at stake and must be protected at all cost.
2. TOP SECRET CLEARANCE. Knowledge about the table and the spilled milk. Knowledge about why the public must be kept in darkness for the stability of the society. Knowledge that the “enemy” is really probably right and we are “silly people”—but we rule here and we can’t be rulers anywhere else. We provide and care for our citizens, it’s our thing to do this, and we love the feeling and sexiness of the power we have, and we do not want to lose it. Special consideration for those granted Top Secret clearance to keep them loyal, such as more pay, better food and exemption from the law that we made up for the regular people.

Now we have an army in place and we can go out and kill the other societies that are trying to destroy our society.

We can alternately simply show force and enter into secret treaties with the other societies that they will not interfere.

Housekeeping: Internal Dissent & Propaganda

We learn that, although not overtly disobedient to our laws, there is a growing number of citizens that just do not believe what we have told them. They are not breaking the law and not looking over three feet above the ground. But they somehow sense that things are not right and these feelings will not let them have peace. Therefore, we must now invent “mental illness” and “rehabilitation and treatment programs.” First, we need to agree on the party line propaganda, which will be transmitted to all citizens.

Let us now send the following message out:

CITIZENS,
ARE YOU UPSET FOR NO REASON—TROUBLE SLEEPING?

WE WANT TO WARN YOU ABOUT MENTAL ILLNESS, BECAUSE THIS IS WHAT YOU, OR SOMEONE YOU KNOW,
MAY HAVE. RECENTLY THERE HAVE BEEN
REPORTS OF SEVERE DELUSIONS, WHICH OUR SCIENTISTS HAVE DETERMINED IS “MILKMANIA.”
THESE POOR AFFECTED PEOPLE ACTUALLY BELIEVE THAT THEY ARE LIVING IN A CONTRIVED
WORLD AND THAT THE GOVERNMENT IS BEHIND THE DRIPPING MILK AND THAT THEIR LIFE IS AN ILLUSION.
OF COURSE, THIS IS ABSURD. SO, IF YOU KNOW
OF ANYONE THINKING THIS WAY, NOTIFY THE NEAREST GOVERNMENT OFFICIAL, AND THAT PERSON WILL RECEIVE THE BEST CARE OUR SCIENTISTS CAN PROVIDE.

Now, we have established the party line. We need to build some holding areas that we will call “hospitals.” And we need to figure out what to do to the people who have innocently become too smart to be allowed to stay in our society.

We decide two things:

1. If we pick up someone who is not really opposed to us but has figured out the truth somehow, we could just give that person Top Secret clearance and let him work for us as a member of the “in-crowd.”
2. If this is not practical, then we will brain-damage the person so he cannot do anything coherently and then let him go as “rehabilitated.” He will be so silly and confused that it will not matter what he says, because no one will believe him.

That Does It

We now have a stable, working society that is guaranteed to last as long as we want it to, so long as we maintain the constraints that have been discussed above.

The IGC Regulations (for Advanced Societies)

If the planet Earth survives in the 21st century, it will likely have passed its last “crisis” period and, sooner or later, it will find it necessary to join IGC in order to get its N3 rating and initiate deep space travel.

These are some of the main regulations that the government of the Earth (or an association of the governments of the Earth, if the planet is still fragmented) must accept at that time.

Defense

Planets are allowed to possess surface-based defense systems. However, they are not allowed to place in orbit above their planets any destructive device which has any potential to harm visiting spacecraft. Planets with spacecraft may possess defensive weapons on their craft.

Rights of Citizens

Governments may not interfere with the right of any human being to live in accordance with God’s Plan or with his right, as a human being, to seek to return to God.

Medical Prohibitions

Abortion is a violation of God’s intentions and is not permitted. There are exceptions, which are determined by the Law of Karma. For example, killing a baby is wrong and earns one bad karmas. But deliberately bringing a “beast” into the world is also wrong and earns one bad karmas. In a case of violent rape, the emotions of fear and hate generally guarantee that the child born from such a situation will be so messed up that it will be less than human (i.e., a “beast”). Common sense judgments in cases like this are permitted. IGC regulations are not designed to be so rigid that wise, knowledgeable people acting with good intentions and common sense are forced into awkward situations.

The manufacture and distribution and use of drugs that have any potential to interfere with a person’s Spiritual progress is prohibited.

All psychiatric medications and most street drugs fall into this category.

Safety

Member planets must keep their planet clean and safe. People committing violent crimes and doing other things generally accepted to be “wrong” must be picked up and kept out of the general population.

Off-Planet (Space) Activities

Member planets may freely visit other member planets with N3 ratings. They may also freely visit planets with N0 ratings, but only at the pleasure of the planet administration. (N0 planets are Spiritual Cities, and it is their discretion as to whether they want to entertain less advanced people.)

Member planets may not visit N6 planets unless they are participating in a logged and approved IGC Observer Team. The chance to participate in such a team is an exciting opportunity for mature adults with expertise in areas such as psychology, biology, botany, and the necessary support sciences like engineering.

In all interactions between member planets, individuals are expected to be polite, open, and exercise good common sense. Member planets are not allowed to go to any other member planet unannounced or to carry out any covert activities there. Most planets have an automatic death penalty for this and are within their rights to use it at their discretion.

Quality of Life

Member planets must promise that, to their best ability, they will program plans for their future that will be in compliance with God’s Plan and will encourage the positive evolution of all citizens.

ISN Equipment

The IGC will provide and maintain the necessary devices on a member planet to enable that planet to have communication links with the IGC Command and all other member planets.

This equipment, called Interspatial Net equipment, or ISN for short, allows for transmission and reception of data without regard to time delay. It is essentially what the sci-fi guys have been calling “subspace communications.”

Secrecy

Legitimate planetary administrations may keep some information relating to their internal security needs secret from the general population. However, the wholesale censorship and “butchering” of the knowledge of the various arts and sciences, as is presently practiced on Earth, is not allowed and must be stopped. Governments have an obligation to their citizens, through their educational system, to give them, to the best of their ability, accurate knowledge. Ego-related secrets, such as altering history textbooks to make yourself “look good,” when this is not the case, should also be revised to reflect an accurate presentation of the known history of the planet.

Advanced Civilizations

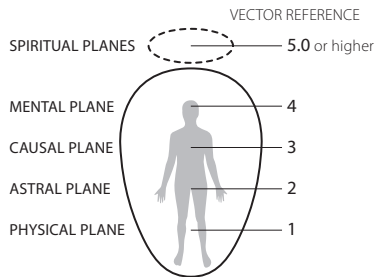

There are several qualities that advanced civilizations have that the present population of the Earth planet do not have. These are:

- 1) an understanding of the true nature of God’s Plan;
- 2) an understanding of the Law of Karma;
- 3) TEXT knowledge.

The addition of these qualities to a civilization makes a big difference and changes it from a race of heathen barbarians into a race of healthy, balanced, normal human beings. This data is suppressed deliberately on the planet Earth by its present evil rulers in order to maintain the population in a state of darkness and confusion for the selfish purposes of the leaders, who consider the humans on the Earth to be their private herd of cattle. If the citizens of the planet Earth expect to survive on the planet Earth, they must remove these people from power. Otherwise, the planet Earth will be dissolved and the Souls re-located to other suitable physical planets to continue their evolution.

The Definition of a Legitimate Adult Human

In the advanced civilizations that coexist with us in other parts of the Physical Universe, there are human beings. These humans are not like the humans on the planet Earth, who generally behave like animals. They are for real human adults. Before the Earth planet can be granted an N3 rating and join the association of advanced races (IGC), a reasonable percentage of the population of the Earth must be mature adults. This is the definition of what a mature adult human being is.

The human form is a reflection (microcosm) of the Universe System. This is why it was special to God, and He called humans His Grandest Creation. Humans are considered to be the “image of God,” because they mirror, as a reflection, all the Universes in the System of Universes created by God.

A man (or woman), standing straight up, conforms to the diagram above and “cuts across” all of the planes of existence.

His Soul is in Sach Khand (one of the higher Spiritual planes). His mind has merged back into its source, which is the Universal Mind on the Fourth Vector. His causal body is clear of karmas. His astral body is emotionally balanced. And his physical body is healthy.

This is what humans are supposed to be. This is God’s Plan for them. These are His true intentions for the human race.

Earth people are presently pretty messed up. In fact, they are the most screwed up group of humans in the entire Physical Universe, and that is why many spacecraft from other worlds have visited here to simply “look around.” Their equivalent of psychologists and social workers have never seen such “fucked up” people before, and this is why they come here to do research.

The inhabitants of the planet Earth are legitimate human beings by definition. Some of them are fully developed, but most are not. This is a rectifiable situation, however, and could change in very little time. The human population of the Earth are presently in an artificially induced state of deep sleep due to propaganda. They are really ready for a N3 rating. So, if the Government changes its ways and gives them a “fighting chance,” they will be OK shortly.

CHAPTER SIX

Conventional Sciences

Obviously, we are not going to get into any detail about the public sciences—the libraries are loaded with books on all of them already. What we will do, however, is to realistically take a look at them.

In 1941, beings from some other planet physically landed here on a physical ship and physically talked to officials from the U.S. Government (and perhaps other governments—I don't have the complete list handy). At that meeting, the people of Earth were given all the information they were missing, such as the cures for all diseases, secrets of space and time travel, and the answers to all the mysteries of physics and chemistry, as well as mysteries that puzzle ordinary people, like how the pyramids got built. They chose to lock this away and use it only for the benefit of the rich Elite.

Conventional science essentially stopped that day, because there was no legitimate reason to continue scientific research if someone just gave you all the answers.

What we have then in today's conventional science is basically science as it existed prior to 1941 with a very few advancements that have leaked out from behind the secrecy curtain or which became too obvious to suppress.

So, today's physics is 1930s' physics. So is chemistry and the others.

In real life, physics frontiers today have to do with temporal sciences (time), dimensional sciences (like how to make things smaller or larger by comparison to you), ultra weapons science (considering such things as thought power amplification), and so on.

Chemistry is complete and largely public knowledge. It is at a level of hands-on assembly—molecule by molecule of whatever you want. The chemistry research of today is really alchemy—they want to make machines, which will do alchemy, because they do not have the spiritual development necessary to do it under their own power as is usually done by adepts.

Medicine is complete. All possible diseases have been cataloged, and there is a simple, painless cure for all of them—available only to the Elite, of course.

Production sciences like food production are pretty maxed out too. Earth produces enough food to feed three worlds equal to the Earth. People starve here because of deliberate government plans to control the population of the slave class.

Energy is no problem. The underground cities use geothermal energy generated as a result of the Earth's rotation about the Sun, which is inexhaustible and unlimited from any practical view.

The Advanced Sciences

The advanced sciences are extensions of the pure sciences that we are all familiar with, such as physics and chemistry. Aspects of the advanced sciences would cover, for example, the Theory of Reversible Electromagnetism, which is the basis for the propulsion system for ships capable of deep space travel.

Several U.S. Presidents have attempted to come forward and tell the American people about aliens, UFOs and the real (secret) space program of the United States, such as the “51st Space Wing” of the U.S. Air Force based at Area 51. None has so far been successful. President Carter was supposedly arrested by the NSA, when he tried. He was replaced with a “duplicate” and either held in isolation somewhere or killed. The grey people helped the NSA with the “duplicate,” which still lives and is now being used for special diplomatic assignments.

In the 1960s, John F. Kennedy started the U.S. space program. He also wrote an executive order to the intelligence community instructing them to declassify and release to the public all information known about UFOs. Unfortunately, there is a secret cartel of renegades, who have amassed tremendous wealth and who have been manipulating the governments of Earth for some time. These people felt their selfish power trip threatened should the general population of Earth become enlightened. They persuaded the National Security Agency (NSA) to declare President Kennedy a “security risk” and order the secret service agent driving his car to shoot him in the head with a CIA assassination gun containing exploding capsules filled with deadly shellfish toxin. His orders to tell the American people the truth were destroyed and never implemented.

When Mr. Kennedy started the space program and indicated he wished to embark upon a new era of truthfulness and openness, the IGC, following its standard protocol, sent observer teams to the Earth to observe and help out. The team commander was authorized to issue an upgrade for the Earth planet from its present N6 rating to the N3 status rating, which would have made the Earth a member of the Intergalactic Community of advanced races and allowed it free access to data on how to build deep space vehicles and to the shared database of scientific and medical knowledge of the advanced planets.

If Mr. Kennedy had not been assassinated, in the fifty years that have now passed, medical knowledge from this database would have now wiped out all incurable diseases and the Earth would be well established in the Star Trek-like exploration of deep space.

The Global Plantation

While the concept of an “iron curtain country” with its airtight borders and secret police watching everyone and terrorizing the helpless people is gradually drifting out of public consciousness, it appears that these zones may have simply been replaced by a larger zone—an “iron curtain planet.”

We call our little Earth a “global village.” Actually, it is more like a “global plantation.” You know the concept of a plantation. The master and his family live in a big beautiful mansion, and the slaves work the grounds and live in trash shacks.

In the case of the Earth, the “mansion” is represented by the underground cities, where the Elite live surrounded by every conceivable luxury, and the slave quarters are the surface of the Earth, where the ordinary people work the land and dig in the mines. They are surrounded by a system of spy and attack satellites that watch everything they do. Eventually, they will even be branded (like cattle) with identification microchips. All sources of information they can access are controlled and censored. Government agents quietly live in every neighborhood. Everything they do is quietly watched and recorded. Like on classic plantations, if the master wants them for anything (like for some spare parts—liver, kidneys, whatever—or for some weird medical experiments), they are taken to the “master’s house,” underground, never to return.

Also, you can’t leave. One reason slaves stay slaves is that they do not realize that a better situation is available. On traditional plantations, many slaves were content, because they were protected and the master took care of them. They felt they had a pretty good deal. That’s why the system worked. They also felt that there was nowhere else to go.

Today, the equivalent is the propaganda that “Earth is all there is, so make the best of it here.” If people knew that antigravity technology can get you physically anywhere in the Physical Universe quickly and that it is simpler than the technology of a common transistor radio, they might decide to leave and search for their dreams of a better life and freedom elsewhere.

But, of course, they are programmed to believe that the only way to leave the Earth is to sit on top of a giant bottle rocket and be slowly blasted off on short trips that take a long time. They are told “science proves you can’t exceed the speed of light.” Science also proves that a bumblebee cannot fly.

CHAPTER SEVEN

Special Sciences

Concepts in Time

Here we want to take up and discuss the apparent conflicts between predictions of visionaries (like Jesus, e.g.) and the modern complete sciences dealing with temporal theory.

From the distillations of essentially all ancient writings and religions and mystical societies we have the concept of a limited duration Universe that we live in. The standard cycles are four Ages preceded and followed by a Creation phase and a Dissolution phase. These cycles repeat.

There was a point where there was no Physical Universe. At that point, would it make any sense to say, “The Physical Universe is not created yet, but we plan to create it next week for sure”? The term “next week” had no meaning. We were outside of time then. Time is a property of the Physical Universe. It was not yet created. “Next week” meant nothing at all.

Now, consider that the Physical Universe exists. We say, again from the same perspective as before, outside of time, “The Physical Universe won’t last long and will be dissolved soon.” The “soon” has the same meaning as “next week”—no meaning at all, because it is an observation from outside of time.

Consequently, when great mystics, teachers, prophets and the like receive revelations from outside of time, they have some prediction of impending doom that will come “soon.”

All mystics are in general agreement that the Physical Universe does not last for an indefinite period and that it is not a permanent place. Is it a big lie, when, across the ages, respected teachers constantly say that the Universe will end “soon”? Well, not really. In fact, from their point of view, it is absolutely correct.

The mechanism of Creation and Dissolution is outside of time. It is not a time function and affects all points inside of time at the same moment. Consequently, if the dissolution would occur, people living in the year 35 would say, “That guy Jesus that the government put down a couple of years ago was right—he said we had little time left and sure enough everything is falling apart!”

People in present time would say, “The preacher on TV said it was almost the end of the world, and sure enough he was right, cause there it goes!”

People in the year 5000 would say, “Our ancient computer records show that a subversive named Jesus said that our world would end, and, sure enough, we don’t know what’s happening here and our scientists are powerless to stop this!”

The time machines will not operate. It is similarly incorrect to argue, “I hopped in my time machine and went to the year 2057. I observed that the Earth was still there, that there were people living on it and that things looked OK. Therefore, I conclude that the end of the world cannot be before the year 2057.”

This argument, like the others, misses the boat. The Origin event and Dissolution event for the Universe have no relation to time as observable inside the Universe. Dissolution, when it comes, comes for 1998, 2057, 35, 5000 B.C., etc., at the same moment—a moment that cannot be specified by any reference to “time.”

Now let’s take a closer look at a “moment.” A moment is a slice of time with no thickness—no quantity of time is contained in a moment. However, there are at least two different things in a moment. One is the Creation event and the other is the Dissolution event. These two events affect all time simultaneously. Therefore, our slice of time must contain them too. Additionally, if we are in a “moment,” there is a third event, because we are there also. Creation and Dissolution are opposite events, so there should be some “space” between them, and we are somewhere between Creation and Dissolution, so, in our “moment,” we should be between these two events. The moment, then, represents a new vector, which has a quality of “length” in its own way along a direction that we do not normally travel in our everyday world.

So, one might want to contemplate what else is in this fifth-dimensional vector. What is on “the other side” of the Creation event or the other side of the Dissolution event and what other goodies might be there as well.

Trying to lock yourself into a moment is a key step in all meditation exercises. So, this discussion is a scientific way—for those who relate to science—to conceptualize where people go, when they claim to “go somewhere” in mystic trance or meditation.

It is from the new perspective we get from travel along this vector that many concepts in the various sacred books come. When evaluating these claims, we must judge them from the perspective where they originated, where they are likely to be completely valid and correct, instead of from the usual perspective, where they are likely to look senseless or confusing at best.

It is apparently from this perspective we get statements like, “Well, the Universe comes and goes in just the wink of an eye,” and so on.

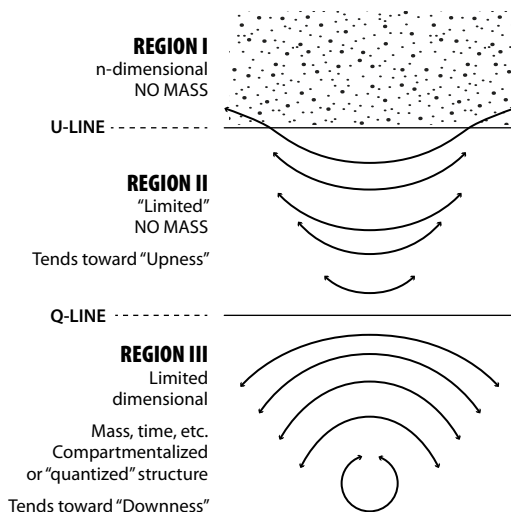

Concluding, the general advice of Spiritual people to live “in the moment” seems to be a very good survival skill to master. It is something everyone can do, if they try, and it offers escape opportunities that will still work, when space and time machines fail to operate—as they must in a Dissolution phase, because time itself is dissolved.

CHAPTER EIGHT

Occult Sciences

Scope of This Part

Before beginning our discussions on occult sciences, it may be good to review the area, or subpace, of the Universe, which is relevant to this. Below we repeat the overview diagram from Chapter One.

Occult sciences are wholly contained in Region III and not in the category of conventional sciences.

Possessions

Let us briefly discuss possession, since it is a continuing problem on Earth due to the naivety of the population here. We have discussed that all people have an astral form, or astral body, which they can separate from the physical body and use for “trips” while alive and healthy.

There are practitioners of witchcraft operating on Earth who sell the bodies of young healthy humans to other beings on the Astral plane who want a physical body and do not want to wait for the natural sequence of reincarnation to take place.

These people set themselves up as “priests” and claim to do a ritual, which will make you “born again.” In this ritual, they get you to leave your physical body via some method and have arranged for the astral entity to whom they are selling your body to be close at hand. He or she (astral entities have sex) moves into the space your astral body is normally in and stays there; therefore, you cannot return to your physical body, and although it is still alive (with its new owner in control), you have essentially been murdered and your physical lifetime is ended.

There are some checks on this sort of thing. Angels and devils are the “good guys” and “bad guys” of the Astral world and they compete and check each other similar to good and bad guys in the Physical world. However, when you willingly enter into some ritual like this, you are unconsciously giving permission for this to be done to you. In other words, you are committing suicide.

Please be cautious about this. It is a lucrative “occult business” here on Earth.

I want now to get into a bit more detail on possession—the act and practice of stealing another person’s physical body. First, I should state (for those of you who feel that dangerous secrets are being given out) that this ancient art has been known and practiced since the dawn of the Creation and it is practiced today. The information we will give here is far from secret, you can find it in books dealing with witchcraft, sorcery, and the occult. Also, covens of witches who practice in the United States sell correspondence courses through the mail which teach you to become a witch and which give detailed instructions on how to do a possession.

IGC Law

Stealing another person's body, so you can artificially extend your physical lifetime, is a crime. It is equal to murder, because the Soul you dispossessed has lost its life, even though his or her body is still alive, with you now in control of it. When IGC Enforcement comes upon these situations, the stolen body is destroyed, and also the sorcerer, or whoever helped you do this act, receives the immediate death penalty.

Example: Adolf Hitler

It has now been published that Adolf Hitler did not die but rather faked his death and continued to live for some time in Brazil. When I heard "Brazil," I thought, "Why Brazil, of all places?" Then I realized that Brazil has many psychic practitioners, and people from the United States and other countries routinely go to Brazil for psychic healing and the like.

People like Hitler greatly fear death, because they sort of know what is waiting for them and the penalties that they will pay for their crimes against God and humanity.

So, while Spiritual students do not fear death and even sometimes look forward to it and to their release from this Creation and return to God, dictators and other evil masterminds try their best to avoid physical death.

Therefore, it is very likely that Hitler is still physically alive and using a stolen physical body. It is also very likely that he is in the United States, at some secret location, and that he is assisting the United States Government in its top secret New World Order plans. This is because the New World Order plan is based on Nazi philosophy. The plan is, basically, to kill all humans who do not have white skin and either blue or hazel eyes. These two categories were the ones Hitler advocated as the "master race." So, if Hitler still lives, he would be most welcome in the United States at the present time, because the U.S. Government is doing exactly what he tried to do and failed to accomplish about seventy years ago.

The Price of Ignorance

Ignorance is expensive. We have already discussed the present U.S. Government policy of simply pretending that the other realities (astral, etc.) do not exist. However, this policy may well backfire in the not too distant future, because what it has accomplished is to make it "open season" for all those various groups that practice witchcraft and possessions and other psychic stuff, because they know they can do whatever they want and get off scot-free, since the things they do are officially classified as "nonexistent."

Let's take, for example, a real case some time back of a father who was not crazy and who, in fact, was quite well respected and had no history of strange behavior. This man woke up one morning and his bed was full of blood and his wife and kid were dead with their pieces scattered all around. Of course, he had no memory of this. Since the circumstantial evidence indicated that he was the only one in a position to commit this crime, he was charged with murder. However, the judge recognized that something weird had taken place here, and so the man was released.

Now, this is a case of possession. Some screw ball, probably using instructions from a witchcraft correspondence course of the type presently marketed in the United States, wanted to have some fun and got control of this man's body and committed these heinous crimes. We have no system to prosecute people like this, because our silly scientists say these things are impossible. If this event had taken place on an N3 planet, the justice system there would have referred the matter to IUC Enforcement, they would then run an Akashic trace and located the guy (or gal) who had possessed this man's body, and they would be hunted down and taken and put to death.

Access to information on how to do a possession is far from secret, because secret groups sell this information and they advertise quite openly in psychic-type magazines.

Additionally, there is a subtle recruitment program that is initiating young people into witchcraft without telling them what is happening. This involves certain popular games that are sold. In these games, there are sequences of affirmations that you do, and these affirmations are calls for establishing a connection with an entity in the Astral world.

Consequently, many young people who get into these games are becoming legitimate witches (or warlocks), and they do not know that this is what is really taking place. Often the games will tell the child that he or she is going to get an imaginary playmate. What they really get is a very real astral entity, and they will most likely be stuck with this entity for life.

Men and Women

In this little discussion we want to get into a bit more detail about human men and women. The first observation we want to make is that men and women are not the same. Men and women are called "inversions" of each other. What this means is that the same "stuff" is used for both men and women, but this "stuff" is arranged in an opposite configuration. This notion of "inversion" has two aspects. One is physical and the other is astral.

In the Physical plane, the sexuality of the female is "inward" and the sexuality of the male is "outward." They both have "complementary parts." For example, ovaries and testicles are essentially the same "stuff," one is inside and the other is outside. The same pattern follows for vagina and penis.

In the astral spectrum, the energy pattern of the female and male is opposite, sort of like dextro and levo molecules. The male energy has a clockwise twist to it and the female energy has a counterclockwise twist. This is true for all life forms, incidentally, and is the scientific basis for an ancient tool that all farmers will be familiar with, called the "egg sexer." An egg sexer is simply an iron ball on the end of a non-magnetic string or stick. To sex the egg you hold this over the egg and note the motion, which is caused by the magnetic field, or aura, of the unborn baby chick. No motion indicates that the egg is not fertile or that the chick has died.

A legitimate adult female is the equal of her male counterpart. However, the developmental protocol for males and females is not the same. The female developmental protocol includes the additional step of bearing at least one child. Historically, this has always been recognized, and in past cultures a barren female was looked down upon and recognized as “a lesser being.”

Another difference between men and women, possibly as compensation for the extra step in the developmental protocol, is the little organ called the clitoris. This “pleasure switch” allows the female to have orgasms 24 hours a day, if she wants to, and there is no equivalent “switch” for men. So, a female body is sort of a “fun” body and the male body is “more serious.”

Assuming both a man and a woman have completed their developmental protocols, they are equal. This is because, at this point, they are no longer a man and a woman, but both have realized that they are essentially naked Souls, and naked Souls have no sex. Therefore, this inequality problem does not exist.

Mental and Psychic Powers (Skills)

There are a good many psychic and mental skills that some people presently alive on the planet Earth possess. Here we will list the most common of them and give a brief definition of each attribute.

1. CLAIRSENTIENCE. This is the ability to pick up “good vibes” or “bad vibes” from another person, who is physically close to you, and also to sense impending danger.
2. ESP. This is the ability to sense things, which may take place in future time or have taken place in present time in a situation away from you, which you could not know about by ordinary communication.
3. CLAIRAUDIENCE. The ability to pick up on images and also sounds of things, which are taking place far away from you.

4. CLAIRVOYANCE. This is the ability to see the inner worlds of the lower planes through the “third eye.”
5. MAGIC. We have previously discussed this in detail.
6. READING AKASHIC RECORDS. The Akashic Records contain every event that has and will take place on the planet Earth as well as the other planets in the Physical Universe.
7. ALCHEMY. This is the science of the transmutation of matter/energy. It is the ability, working from the Causal plane level, to dissolve things back to the original primal elements or qualities (Earth, Air, Fire, Water, and Ether), out of which they were originally manifested and brought into physical existence.
8. TELEKINETIC TALENTS. These are skills such as levitating things, bending spoons, etc.
9. COSMIC CONSCIOUSNESS. This means being able to directly access TEXT data from the original storehouse on the Mental plane and means also that your personal mind has returned to its “home” and merged back into the Universal Mind.
10. MIND READING. Self explanatory. Please note: Reading a person’s mind without permission is an invasion of that person’s psychic space and will be charged against you in your karmas.
11. PSYCHIC/SPIRITUAL HEALING. Self explanatory. Please note: The energy that you use to do psychic or Spiritual healing comes from your personal storehouse of energy. If you use it up this way, you will likely not have enough, at the time of your death, to enable you to reach the higher worlds. See training film: movie *Cocoon: The Return*⁵.
12. HYPNOTISM. Self explanatory. Please note: Hypnotizing a person against his/her will is a Spiritual crime carrying severe penalties.
13. ASTRAL PROJECTION. We have discussed this in detail elsewhere. See training film: *Watership Down*⁶.

5. Cocoon: The Return (1988, 20th Century Fox; directed by Daniel Petrie).

6. Watership Down (1978). A British animated adventure drama film written, produced and directed by Martin Rosen; based on the book by Richard Adams.

14. SOUL PROJECTION. This involves leaving your physical body as a naked Soul. Actually, all that you really are is a naked Soul. People using this method would feel that they were “a cloud with eyes and ears.”

Please note: Do not attempt to run around outside of your body unless you are an initiate and under the protection of a legitimate Master, who is competent in the various aspects of the specific inner planes you wish to explore.

You have no idea of the problems you may encounter, and, in some cases, the link with your physical body may break, which means that you could not “find it,” and therefore, it would die.

15. WITCHCRAFT. We have discussed this in detail elsewhere.

“Mind-Expanding” Drugs

The so-called “mind-expanding” drugs, of which LSD-25 is probably the best, with few or no physical side effects, are not good to use. It is correct to say that these drugs “open people up” for inner experiences, but they do this out of the natural sequence.

Suppose you took a five-year-old kid out of the first grade to a University and put him in a room with professors of all known arts and sciences and they, all at once, began educating this kid with everything they knew.

Now, this is going to be some confused child. Similarly, when you access the inner worlds artificially and by “random chance,” depending on drug dosage level and personal susceptibility, you cannot be adequately prepared for what will happen—there is just no way that you can be. So, there are likely to be consequential problems that can be quite serious.

In normal Spiritual development, without drugs and with a Perfect Saint as your guide, you will have all these experiences and much, much more. But you will have them when and only when you are legitimately mature and balanced enough to handle them. They will be beneficial to you then, and not an unfortunate setback.

Remote Viewing

“Remote viewing” is the U.S. Government’s name for its super secret spy technique for obtaining information from the present, past and future. Remote viewers are typically military people trained to be “killing machines” and having no Spiritual aspirations. However, they seem to have no trouble “viewing.” Remote viewing is a latent human talent. Humans have been around for some time and so have their talents. Consequently, the Government’s claim to have invented remote viewing is suspicious. Let’s take a look at the Government technique first as it has been described by remote viewers who have left Government service and decided to talk publicly about their exploits

The Government Technique

Remote viewers meet in a gray room. Everything is gray. They each take a seat in their gray reclining chairs and are hooked up to medical equipment. A theta brain wave (about 4 cycles per second) reference is activated to be used by the viewers to enter an altered state of consciousness. One viewer is the team leader. The team “travels” mentally to their target remote location. All team members stay together and are physically conscious and relating to their controllers (one for each team member) the things they observe at the remote location.

Now, let’s take a look at a technique used by adepts (called shamans) in rituals done by Native Americans (American Indians), when they need to get remote information.

The Shaman Technique

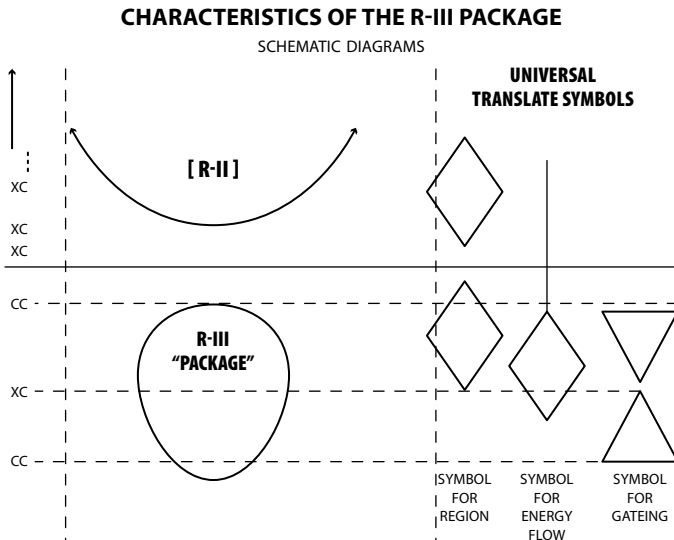

The shaman (team leader) and some disciples sit quietly with other tribe members. A drum is beat at 200 beats per minute (about 4 beats per second). The shaman and the chosen disciples enter an altered state of consciousness and all get into an “imaginary canoe,” which the shaman “rows” to the remote location of interest. The details and information needed are then relayed in real time to the other members of the tribe.

You might notice some similarities between the two techniques.

The Lower Worlds

In Chapter One, we gave the schematic picture of the System of Universes in which we live.

The Lower worlds are contained in an egg-shaped package. It is sometimes called “the egg of Brahm.” This package is a closed system. Laws applicable to closed systems, such as the principles of thermodynamics, apply to it. We repeat the schematic model from Chapter One below.

The study of this closed system is called occult science. People presently living who are knowledgeable in this area include legitimate and competent witches, magicians, metaphysicians, psychics, and psychic astrologers. These people charge for their services. They are allowed to do this, and it is quite correct for them to do so.

The things outside of the “egg” are covered by the Spiritual sciences. Practitioners of the Spiritual sciences exist at the pleasure of and under the Will of God. Their services are performed out of their Love for God and for humanity. They never charge anything for any of their services.

The Planes of the Lower Creation

The planes of the Lower Creation are the Physical plane, the Astral plane, the Causal plane, and the Mental plane. Each plane has a central figure, called a Plane Lord, who supervises things there. Various names for these Plane Lords are given in occult and Spiritual literature. The name of the Lord of the Causal plane is never revealed, however.

The Causal World

The Causal world is also called the “Plane of Forces.” This is because everything that exists on the Earth and elsewhere in the Physical Universe has its “seeds” on the Causal plane. In the Causal Matrix, there is a program for the creation and for the maintenance in existence of the planet Earth. If this program is deleted from the Matrix, the planet Earth will drop out of the Creation and will cease to exist. The Spiritual Officer in command of a planet is given the codes to access the Causal Matrix and orders Lord of the Causal plane to dissolve the planet. No one can override this absolute authority, which comes directly from God.

The Astral World

The Astral plane is the plane most familiar to psychics and sensitive people. Actually, when physical people are on the Earth, they are on the first Astral plane. There are quite a few subplanes of the Astral world.

You can make a “window” that will allow you—even though you have no psychic or Spiritual talents at all—to view the Astral world. To do this, you need dicyanin dye.

This harmless blue dye between two sheets of glass will allow you to see the first Astral plane. What you could see would be ghosts, earth-bound astral entities, and people leaving their body at the time of physical death. You can’t buy dicyanin dye, because the U.S. Government in its continuing program to censor the truth and hold people in darkness has placed very tight security and restrictions on its sale.

The Astral world, as well as the other three lower planes, has a positive and negative aspect. “Fun” places are located on the “positive side” of the Astral plane, and the “hell” worlds are located on the negative side.

Astral bodies essentially look like the physical body that you have right now. They have sex, and so there are both male and female astral forms. Residents of the Astral plane have friends, relationships, and “physical sex.” However, children are not born to residents of the Astral world. Astral bodies can “shapeshift.” An astral form looks like its equivalent physical form only because the entity believes that that is what it looks like. Should this belief change, so would the astral body.

Many Churches consider the Astral plane (the good or “fun” side of it) to be the Ultimate Heaven and have organizations of astral entities (who once lived on Earth) there and can also communicate with them. They call them Saints; however, this has no relationship to the legitimate Perfect Saints we have discussed elsewhere.

The Mental Plane

The Mental plane is the top of the Lower Creation. Entities there have mental bodies. These bodies look like a bluish globe. A good training film, which shows a situation where a dead husband in his mental body attacks his living wife on Earth, is The Entity movie.⁷

The Astral world and the astral body relate to emotion. If a person dies and goes to the Astral world and then clears his astral (emotional) karmas, he can move up to the Mental world. Should he do this, his astral body is dropped.

A human body cannot remain alive with no Soul in it. An astral form, however, can. So, an empty astral form, which is a harmless brainless thing and cannot harm you should it drift down to the first Astral plane and wander into your house, is the true definition of what ghosts are.

7. The Entity (1982, 20th Century Fox). Directed by Sidney J. Furie. Based on the novel by Frank De Felitta.

The Physical Plane and the Interspatial Zone

We know that the Physical Universe exists and we study it constantly, so there is little use here in discussing it.

Slightly above the Physical plane, between the Physical plane and the Astral plane, is what is called the Interspatial Zone. This corridor is used for interplanetary travel by advanced civilizations using ships capable of traveling in accelerated time (warp speed). Access to the Interspatial Zone is regulated by the Intergalactic Council (IGC). Craft caught in the Interspatial Zone without the proper markings and identification and not transmitting their beacon with the correct identification codes are destroyed.

The planet Earth is located in Galaxy Sector N6-129 and has an N6 rating, which means that it is not authorized to use the Interspatial Zone.

The other types of Galaxy Sectors are N3 and N0.

N3 sectors are reasonably advanced (but by no means perfect) people who have cleared from their planet's "crisis period" and are normal and peaceful.

N0 sectors are Spiritual Cities. A Spiritual City is a civilization where all adults have Q-clearance. That is, all adults can access the first Spiritual plane.

Magic

There are many correspondence course-type secret groups that sell instructions in the practice of magic. You should know that magic is real and that it is one of the powers that you possess as a human being. Also, there are some other things you should know.

Warning

The development of the ability to do magic is equivalent to receiving a credit card: you can use it, but you must pay. Use of magic is not charged in money, however. It is charged in karma, which is recorded and collected by the collection department of the "bank" of Kal Niranjan. This bank is always open, and the record system it uses is very precise, and eventually everyone pays up their debt in full. To pay your debt of karmas may well cost you countless future lifetimes here on Earth or some planet in the Physical Universe, and there is no guarantee that in those future lives you will be given birth as a human being. That is the cost of the practice of magic. I cannot emphasize too strongly that, if you discover you have reached the developmental level where you can do magic, you should not practice it. If you do, you have been warned of the consequences that will follow. No beings who are legitimately involved at any level of the Spiritual sciences will do magic, and if you have any aspirations of ever being able to leave here and reside in the Spiritual planes where God lives, you will not either. Please consider this warning carefully.

The Practice of Magic

The power to do magic is a mental ability. Therefore, it is a force under the control of Satan or, properly, Kal Niranjan. In the center of your forehead there is an opening, which is commonly called the “third eye.” It is not a physical opening, but a faculty that you have been given to view other planes of existence while alive, conscious, and living here on the Earth planet.

When, through the “third eye,” you see this landscape, the power to do magic has come to you. This is the landscape of the Causal world. The “sky” is orange. The pyramid-shaped things which cover the landscape are gray with a slight tint of violet.

These pyramid-shaped things are the tops of civilizations which exist in the Physical Universe. One of them is the gate to the planet Earth as shown on the schematic at the beginning of this discussion. The others go elsewhere, and the beings there are not necessarily human.

When you imagine something with your consciousness fixed at this level and then bring it down to the level of the Physical plane, you can cause things to come into existence in the Earth world. Basically, that's all there is to it.

Magic is a mental skill we all have, although few develop it. You should not be afraid of magic. You should not feel that someone who can “dazzle” you with magic is special or “Jesus Christ” or someone important whom you should follow and obey. Magic is very real. Real magic like this is not a trick, it does exist, and you can do it—but, for the reasons we have given above in the warning, you should not.

Many world leaders practice magic. They know the consequences, and they don't care. They have made the choice to turn their back on God and serve Satan for ever here, in the Physical Universe. So they do not care how many extra lifetimes they must stay here to repay their debt, because they like it here, they do not want the Kingdom of Heaven, and they will do their best to keep other people from getting into heaven too. Evil is a fact of life in this world. You should not pretend it does not exist—you should be informed so that you can make competent choices.

Witchcraft

Another subject area that we should just touch on a bit is witchcraft and its practice. When people die and, therefore, leave this plane of existence, many of them end up in the Astral world. In the Astral world, the beings have bodies (astral forms) which resemble the bodies they had while alive in the Physical world. You have this body now and you can (but, again, should not) use it for what is commonly called “astral projection.”

Some departed Souls on the Astral plane have fond memories of Earth and of the life they had there at one time and they seek bonding with an Earth person who is presently alive. Their astral body has a life expectancy of about two thousand Earth years, so that gives you the approximate time frame of the historical period they would come from.

When a living person consciously establishes some type of bonding with an entity from the Astral world so that they know of its presence and can communicate with it, they are, by definition, a witch. Both men and women can do this.

The Dangers of Witchcraft

The main danger of witchcraft is that you have essentially made a choice of an esoteric teacher when you adopt a guide from the Astral plane. The beings of that plane, as well as those of the Causal plane and Mental plane, are “waiting.” What they are waiting for is the opportunity to be born again in a physical body.

They are waiting, because the only gate from the Lower worlds to the Spiritual planes where God lives, is the human body. You must establish a rapport with God while physically alive as a human being to return to Heaven.

The generally recommended way to do this is to contact a Living Saint and ask for initiation. An astral entity is someone who did not do this—he has died now and must wait for the chance to be born again, when he will again have the opportunity to search for a Living Saint.

Therefore, a spirit guide can’t guide you to anything of any real importance. Actually, he or she is in worse shape than you are, because this entity cannot get into Heaven from the situation which it is presently in. So, obviously, it cannot help you get into Heaven either.

It can do certain things for you that will make your life more pleasing, like tell you the future and the past. However, to settle for this in place of looking for a Living Saint who can put you in contact with God so that you will never have to be reborn again as a human being is to make a very poor choice.

This is the main danger associated with wanting to learn or practice witchcraft.

The fact is that you are settling for second best, or third, or fourth best, when Living Saints are here on Earth right now and can start you on your way to God.

Procedure for the Calculation of the Transcendence Index of a Planet

The transcendence index of a planet is a quantity which reflects the number of Souls who successfully leave that planet and return to the upper Spiritual regions so that they need not be reincarnated again.

Data to compute the transcendence index is available only to those beings whose job it is to carry out the work of the Lord by personally taking developed Souls who have completed all of their karmas out of this creation and delivering those Souls into the presence of God.

Planet transcendence indices are commonly low in the Iron Age, but they should not be zero.

A zero index would mean that the life forms were making no progress at all. In such cases, an event sequence is usually programmed to “shake things up.”

Lucifer’s Argument

When Lucifer was “employed” in subsystem administration, he was reportedly saddened by the fact that so few Souls were making any real progress. His argument to his superiors was that this should be changed and that it was not right to have a system set up so that essentially no one could escape from it.

It is supposed to have been this “humanitarian” attitude that cost him his job and got him sentenced to isolation on Earth. His bosses had grown accustomed to the status quo and, in this last stage of the cycle (Iron Age), were not willing to change.

Lucifer’s bosses, known as the controllers (Archangels in the Bible), are controllers of the Third Level, which is the Causal plane. Therefore, in civilizations, where the level of awareness or consciousness was higher than the Third Level, they had no control. It was in their interest, therefore, to make sure people did not evolve above the Third Level so that they would not lose their influence over them.

Lucifer’s argument to “let my people go” was clearly not a hit with them.

Occult Studies

Everyone makes his own choices in life. I personally feel it is silly and a waste of time to study the occult sciences, because, if you study the Spiritual sciences instead, in the course of your studies you will necessarily “pick up” the occult sciences. Spiritual science students never actually practice the occult sciences, but they just can’t avoid knowing them, since they generally must be mastered before the real Spiritual sciences are.

I will now list some books, which cover the occult sciences, in case you wish further literature on them.

- Steve Kravette. Complete Meditation. Schiffer Pub Ltd, 1997.
- Bruce Nevin. Astrology Inside Out. Schiffer Pub Ltd, 1998.
- W. Y. Evans-Wentz. The Tibetan Book of the Dead. Oxford University Press, 1960.
- W. Y. Evans-Wentz. Tibetan Yoga and Secret Doctrines. Oxford University Press, 2000.
- W. Y. Evans-Wentz. Tibet’s Great Yogi Milarepa. Oxford University Press, 2000.
- Margaret Murray. The God of the Witches. Oxford University Press, 1970.
- Training film: Starship Invasions (1977, directed by Ed Hunt, starring Robert Vaughn and Christopher Lee; distributed by Warner Bros.).

Please remember that you have no protection from occult forces unless you are under the protection of some type of Master who is familiar with whatever planes you wish to explore. These forces are quite real, powerful, and can kill you. Please be careful.

The Codes of the Catholic Church

The Catholic Church uses a Universal Translate Symbol in its identification. We gave the Universal Translate Code in Chapter Two, so let us now make some practical use of it and decode the symbolism of the Catholic Church. The symbol they use is as follows:

Here we have a path through one gate and the notion of a special space to the right. The first gate in the Inter-Universe system is the gate between the Physical plane and the Astral plane. Since the path that we see here only crosses through one gate, it is a path to the Astral world only. The space to the right, or the top of the “P,” means that this is the path to the “positive” or “fun” side of the Astral plane. So, obviously, the Catholic Church has nothing whatsoever to do with anything remotely Spiritual. They can’t even get to the Mental plane, much less Sach Khand.

Well, that was easy. We don’t just make up these codes and things we have discussed in this book—they really work.

Gurus of a “Lesser God”

Some gurus come to Earth to do legitimate Spiritual work, others, however, have a different agenda. These gurus generally operate under orders from what are known as the controllers of the Third Level (Archangels). They have students, just like Spiritual gurus do, however, their motive is quite different. They are sent to look for a very specific group of Souls who the controllers feel are a potential threat to the status quo which they want to maintain on the planet Earth. These gurus have orders to find these Souls and then promise them whatever it takes to get them to follow them. Their intention is to take the Souls back to the Third Level, where they will be strung out indefinitely.

Obviously, no one would follow them if they came out and said this. So, they generally hold themselves out to be “high masters” and the like and promise to take people “back to God.” These gurus are dangerous, because they operate on an “the end justifies the means” philosophy. These gurus are not incompetent fakes looking for money. They want Souls, and if they get yours, you are going to have a problem. Therefore, you should by all means run every conceivable test you can when checking out a guru.

Direct Creations and Esoteric Chains

Spiritual and some psychic teachers come in what is called an esoteric chain. This means that they were trained by a Master, who was himself trained by a Master, and so on. In the Spiritual sciences, the chain of Masters stretches from God on the Twelfth Vector all the way down to Earth on the First Vector.

The Master at the bottom of the chain (the Master physically living) has effective powers due to his connection to the chain. However, he may not have many personal powers. Additionally, he may not know where the top of the chain is located. To be Spiritual, the Master(s) at the high end of the chain must be in a Spiritual region. If they are not, and the new student Master does not know this because he can only access the first link in the chain, then he is deceived and so are students who follow him.

Obviously, a chain must start somewhere. So the original Master is called a Direct Creation, because he had no Master and his training was done directly by God.

Spiritual Officers are always Direct Creations.

Plain Talk About the Negative Hierarchy

I want to spend some time cussing the Negative Hierarchy—that group of administrators which includes the entity that Earth people through their various religions have come to “know” (in quotes, because they really know nothing about him) as Satan or the Devil.

Most of these references refer to Kal Niranjan, who is the System Administrator for this section of space. Other entities prominent in the Negative Hierarchy are well known Plane Lords such as Brahm and lesser known administrators such as Krishna.

Crazy as it sounds, I'm sure there are people out there who really believe that Kal spends his time taking candy from babies and pushing little old ladies in wheelchairs into oncoming traffic. This is apparently what most people think of as "evil deeds." Of course, this is crazy nonsense. People like Kal are called "negative" as opposed to "positive" because they have responsibilities in the Lower Creation which is "negative" as compared to the higher planes which are "positive." Also, administrators in the Negative Creation do not have the duty to help or to teach Souls how to leave the Lower worlds and return to God. Souls instinctively long to do this, because their true home is not here but with God, in the higher Spiritual planes. Consequently, if you want to know how to go home to God, the members of the Negative Hierarchy will not help you, because that is not their job. Consequently, if you worship and follow a member of the Negative Hierarchy, there is no chance at all that you will ever get to the for real Heaven, which is in the higher Spiritual planes. This is the reason Spiritual people tell disciples not to listen to the Negative Hierarchy or to Masters from the Left Hand Path.

However, in fairness, the thing that they do not tell you, which should be obvious to you, is that you presently live in the Lower Creation. Before you get all bent out of shape cursing the Negative Hierarchy, you should realize that it is because of the Negative Hierarchy that you physically exist and have a physical planet to exist on and have a sun that keeps you warm. The Negative Hierarchy maintains these things. If some religious nut could (which they can't) really "kill the Devil," they would be in for quite a surprise when the Sun went out and their planet dissolved back to the primary elements out of which it was formed.

People in the Negative Hierarchy do the jobs that result in the stability that you have to live and grow here on your dinky little planet Earth. If no one wanted to do those jobs, you would not exist here. Beings who have job assignments in the Negative Hierarchy are completely competent within the scope of their assigned responsibilities.

Original (and Other) “Sins”

Let’s talk about sin. What is sin ? Is there anything that is sin? What about “original sin”? OK, here goes.

Let’s start with “original sin.” This is supposed to be connected somehow with Adam and Eve in the garden, assuming that there ever was a garden. The destabilization event in the “garden” was the act of Adam and Eve taking their attention off of God to ponder the knowledge of “good and evil” which they had requested. Letting the mind wander out to ponder all this stuff was the sin, and as a result of this destabilization they became sort of schizophrenic about life. They became, for example, very self-conscious of the fact that they were sexually different and were “ashamed” and “hid themselves with fig leaves.”

The sin part of this is the destabilization from unity with God. The destabilization event caused all following events, and so the destabilization event is the original sin—the sin of losing touch with God once you have achieved it. Adam and Eve, since this was their natural state, did not know how special they were and what a rare relationship they had with God—until they lost it.

What about sex? No sex in the “original sin” at all. And, being realistic, what good would it have done to leave Adam and Eve childless and let them just grow old and die with no offspring? Why give them sex if they were not supposed to have any sex? Does not make much sense, does it?

Actually, if Adam and Eve had not asked for the knowledge, which caused them to become screwed up in the head, they would probably have had a great sex life. People today go through all sorts of exotic treatments and therapies to try to remove the hang-ups that come from worrying about all sorts of stupid stuff (the very same worrying that you can plainly see in the Biblical story of Adam and Eve) that they would be better off if they could just forget about.

If Adam and Eve were not the victims of the real original sin of being overcome with information (information disease), they would have no doubt mated and had lots of kids who would have had no sex hang-ups and would have totally enjoyed the legitimate fun that men and women can have.

People do not develop Spiritually by forcing themselves to repress desires. It is true that as one advances in a Spiritual direction desires for things which stimulate the lower chakras, such as sex, diminish. This is an evolutionary process, and simply refusing to stimulate the lower chakras does not cause Spiritual development. It is Spiritual development that causes diminished attention on the lower chakras.

When people leave the world of children here for the last time to return to God, these experiences—only memories now—will not happen again. You would not deny a child its bliss of childhood—don't deny yourself the legitimate and wholesome things that are meant to be part of the experience of life in the human form. These natural things would not have been given to you if they were not meant to be used and enjoyed.

Dissolution

The Physical Universe and the three other Universes of the Lower Creation are not forever. Under the natural laws governing the relationships between mass and energy and the forces such as gravity, eventually the entropy of the system (of Universes) of the Lower worlds becomes unmanageable and the Creation must be dissolved and reset. This point in the Cycle of Time is called the Time of the Dissolution.

When this time draws near, God notifies the Spiritual Masters and they come for their students (initiates), take them and leave the Lower worlds for the first Spiritual plane of Sach Khand.

Sach Khand is a purely positive Spiritual world; there is no mass there and time does not exist. Therefore, it is not subject to Dissolution.

IOC Command notifies IUC Command, which notifies IGC Command, which transmits the warning on ISN to all N3 and N0 Galaxy Sectors. N6 sectors receive no warning mainly because they would not believe it. So it does no good to try to inform these people.

Kal Niranjan then orders his angels to go down and collect all of the Souls remaining. The undeveloped Souls are put to sleep and drawn up toward the Etheric plane, where, sleeping, they patiently await the next Creation.

Protocol

When the Great Lord Sohung sees that all Souls are accounted for and that there are no Souls left from the Causal world downward, he gives the nod to the Lord of the Causal world to proceed with the Dissolution.

The Lord of the Causal world then takes the Great Key to the Causal Matrix and makes his way to the DDMC (Division of Dissolution, Master Control) position at vector reference 3.666. At DDMC, he places the key into the Matrix, and, as he turns it, the stars go out and the Physical Universe and the Astral world are no more.

On Becoming God

We wish to discuss the concept that man will eventually become God. And to begin on a positive note, this concept as a concept is not really wrong. Problems come in the realization of the concept.

You know you get people who join some secret club and almost instantly there telling you stuff like, “Well, I just got my first secret discourse from the Know-It-All Brotherhood, Inc., and I lit my candle, and my chakras are all sexed up, and I should be god any day now for sure!”

Well, it’s a nice idea, and I really honestly don’t want to discourage you, but “any day now” is quite a ways off.

There are a couple of key points to make here, and we might do better using a lower image of this concept that everyone will understand.

You had a father. If you now have your own family, you are a father, but obviously you are not your father, because he is a different person—with a different address, phone, and all that stuff. But you are both fathers.

Now, God is our Father, because he created our Souls. His “house,” as it is often called, is the created System of Universes where we now live. Remember, it is His house. It is not your house.

Going back to the physical father example, certain changes have taken place. You and your father are both fathers, but you are not in the same place. You have your house with your mate and he still has his house with his mate. Once you lived in his house—before you left to be on your own and also be a father—but you don’t live there any more. That phase of your existence ended before you became a father in your own right. Extending this, you are a father only to your kids; you are not your sister’s father or your mother’s father or your brother’s father or the father of the guy down the block.

Now you should see that this idea that you will someday become God is a little more complicated than your original guess. As a kid, perhaps you dreamed of a family of your own, which you now have. But in between the dream and reality was lots of work.

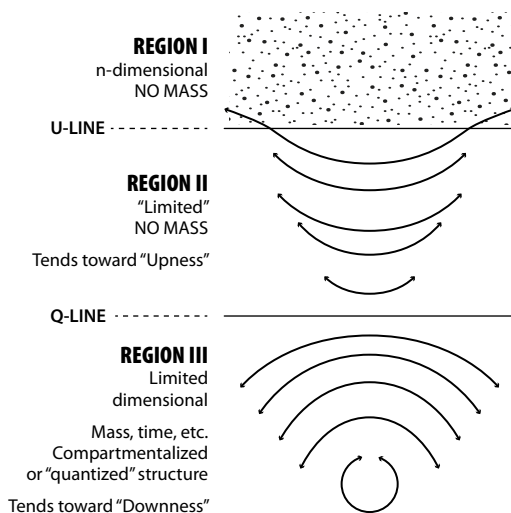

As essentially a baby (or perhaps teen-age) Soul, we sometimes have dreams from the perspective of a Soul, and these dreams may include our future as God. This future is far away. It involves the higher octave of the example we just gave. First, you need to be able to move out of your father’s (God’s) house. This is His house. If you want to be God, you will have to make your own house. As long as you live in His house, you will respect God and respect the fact that it is His house and not your house. After you move out (if you are up to the work), you can go off as a mature Soul in Anami and make your own house (universe system) and have your own kids (baby Souls). To them, you will be God, but you will not be my God or your sister’s God, etc. So, as you can see, the road from the dream to the reality is a little longer than you thought.

CHAPTER NINE

Spiritual Sciences

Scope of This Part

Let us quickly refresh here by reviewing the chart from Chapter One, which we redisplay below.

Spiritual sciences are those concerned with comprehending Region II and Region I. To reach Region I is the goal of Spiritual science. Region I is the original "unmodified" space from which all other spaces and subspaces were formed. It is called by many names such as Anami (which translates to “no name”) and the region of the Clear Light (which, again, suggests the original and unmodified state).

Region II has attributes which are different from Region III. In Region III, levels of existence have obvious differences. For example, a physical form and an astral form are obviously not the same type of form. Their natural existence spaces—the Physical plane and the Astral plane—are clearly not the same. However, in Region II, there are only Souls—naked Souls with no associated forms. Consequently, breaking up Region II into planes is not so straightforward as it was in Region III. Since this entire region blends together in a spectrum of gradually increasing energy levels, there are a number of systems in use for subdividing the region into planes.

The Lives of the Masters

When a Spiritual Master is born on the Earth (or elsewhere), he is likely part of an esoteric chain of Masters. He does not know that it is his destiny to be a Master, however, the present Master whom he will succeed knows who he is and generally keeps tabs on him and protects him.

Under the protection of ignorance, the young Master begins a normal life with education and extended education and chooses a career. He generally marries and starts a family.

When the present Master knows it is time for him to leave this world, he causes the new Master to come close to him. He will then tell this person personally—or, if he has already left the Earth world, he will leave detailed written instructions—that he is the chosen person to be the new Master. It is only at this point that the young Master consciously realizes what his purpose was in coming to the Earth.

Being a legitimate Spiritual Master is not an easy job. A Saint, at the time of death, is free to return to God. However, the Spiritual Master cannot do this; he must wait around, generally manifesting in his light body or astral form, and take care of his students (initiates) until all of them are established at least on the first Spiritual plane. Only then can he quit the Lower worlds and seek rest with God. Consequently, it is not uncommon for newly chosen Masters to try to run away and avoid this responsibility.

By contrast, the many phony “masters” who operate in the United States actively seek publicity, run magazine ads, and set up “800” phone numbers advertising themselves as some “great supreme master” or whatever and soliciting students. The more the better, because these people intend to charge the student for “initiations” and “spiritual guidance,” and so each new student brings dollar signs into the eyes of the “master.”

Of course, real Spiritual Masters do not charge money and also they do not accept anyone as a student but only those Souls whom God has marked as acceptable.

Spiritual Officers do not receive the gift of ignorance. Because they are sent to planets in crisis, where often the evil rulers have already killed the Spiritual Master and other Spiritual people, the Spiritual Officer must be able to bring through in to the Physical world all of the data and instructions he will need to do his mission. Consequently, the Spiritual Officer knows who he is and what he was sent here to do from a very early age. He generally has little time for a childhood and essentially no adolescence but must get to work so as to complete on schedule. However, when he completes his assignment, he gets “R&R” time for the remainder of his lifetime and, of course, has no students to linger and take care of when he leaves the Physical plane.

Karma

Karma is the system of cause and effect that controls a person’s personal life and also controls the events of the world and the interactions of civilizations, planetary administrations and the physical planets and other “stuff” which exists in the Physical Universe.

Karma controls the experiences of all Souls who have not accessed the first Spiritual plane, known as Sach Khand. Kal Niranjan is in charge of karma for all Souls except those who are under the protection of a Perfect Saint (Spiritual Master).

Clearing from Karma (Q-Clearance)

Q-clearance that we will describe here is a Universal concept and has no relationship to the “Q-clearance” assigned by the United States and other countries.

Attempting to clear karmas by straightforward methods does not work. Even if you hired a legitimate psychic, read all the records of your past lives and paid off every drop of karma you could find, you would not be clear. This is because karma involves some subtle tricks.

If you went to Kal Niranjana and said, “Kal, I have paid all my karmas, and here is the receipt, and I have no karmas left now, and so I demand that you open the gate and let me go home to God,” Kal would simply reply, “But you forgot Catch-22,” and he would send that Soul back to Earth for another incarnation.

You see, opening up the gates of Heaven is not part of Kal’s responsibility. He has no obligation or inclination to do this. And he may not even know how to do it if he wanted to. This is the responsibility of the Spiritual Masters. They have all the correct codes, chants, phonetic pronunciations and code keys that are necessary to get from here to God. Their services are always absolutely free and will cost you nothing. So, get serious and seek a legitimate Saint.

Operation of the Law of Karma

Karma, as we have said, is a system of cause and effect. If you do good things, you earn good karmas. Similarly, bad deeds earn you bad karmas. Generally, karmas are “paid” in terms of the quality of life you have between incarnations on the Astral plane. Good karmas can be traded for good times and bad karmas earn you a stay in one of the “hell” worlds. Good karma cannot buy you a ticket to God.

“Zero karma” is the requirement to get back to God.

However, zero karma is essentially impossible to achieve, because every tiny thing which happens from moment to moment generates karma. It can get downright ridiculous. Let’s say you somehow managed to leave the Physical plane with no karma. But then it could be argued that you killed germs or bugs or whatever on/in your dead body by leaving it and, therefore, leaving them with nothing to eat, so they died. Basically, then you need to reach a point where you say, “Enough, I won’t play this game any more,” and simply break out of karma. Therefore, the best approach is not to make a big deal out of karma, but to take sensible steps to keep it to a minimum and then simply “break” the remaining karmas by elevating your consciousness above the point where karma originates on the Causal plane.

The Definition of a Perfect Saint (Spiritual Master)

In the text, we have been referring here and there to the concept of a Perfect Saint saying that you need to find one while physically alive in the human body in order to initiate your return to God. Now we will define what a Perfect Saint is in clear terms so that there can be no mistake about it.

The Definition

We have mentioned previously the “third eye.” It is sort of an “opening,” roughly in the center of the forehead, through which you can view other planes of existence. You can do this consciously, while fully awake, while also looking at this world with the two physical eyes, all at the same time.

Through the “third eye,” people at different levels of advancement see different things. As stated previously, the magician sees the Causal world. In the case of the Perfect Saint, he sees God. He is conscious of and viewing the R-I region of the Universe System at all times. This is the Twelfth Plane.

The Creation consists of seven Spiritual planes and four lower planes, for a total of eleven planes. God lives “above the Creation,” and, therefore, he lives in the Twelfth Plane.

The living Saint sees God at all times. Essentially, he and God are one. In standard Universal Translate Code, this is called “OO” clearance or level. The letter “O” is the symbol for completeness and for the human Soul.

The Perfect Living Saint is essentially one with God—he is God for all practical purposes and acts with the full power of God. He is, therefore, in total and absolute control and mastery of all planes of existence. This is the power of the fully developed human body—this is the full potential that you have.

Characteristics of the Spiritual Master

In order to prove that a man is a Perfect Saint you would have to be a Perfect Saint yourself. You would have to be able to talk to God and so know and recognize another who was your contemporary. This is not likely to be the case. Therefore, you must use approximate methods. You should know that the Perfect Saint has no ego—no desires at all. God's desires are his only desires. He does not relate to economics. He does not charge money. Also, unfortunately, he is not likely to be easy to find. This is because in order to do the things necessary to be easy to find such as setting up large organizations and communication networks you must use your students as slave labor to accomplish this. Therefore, if truly legitimate, you would be defeating your purpose and so would not do this.

The Journey of the Soul

The Soul is an immortal creature. Once created by God, it cannot die—no force can kill it or harm it in any way—it will remain in existence from the point of its creation forever.

However, the newly created Soul is a brainless creature and it knows nothing at all. It has only one attribute and that attribute is the simple childish pure Love of the Son (Soul) for its Father (God). This is God's only gift to the new Soul. But it is a very important gift, because it is the gate key that will someday allow the Soul to return home.

Then the new Soul is sent down to the Lower worlds. Kal Niranjan greets the innocent and helpless creature. Since the new Soul has no karmas, Kal invents some karmas, and these weight down the Soul as it descends to the Physical Universe. It will stay there uncounted millions of years.

Kal also has a gift for the new Soul. Kal gives the new Soul a mind, which is linked to the Universal Mind on the Fourth Vector (Mental plane). The Soul likes its mind and it enjoys its mental powers of logic and calculating reason. It uses the mind to get what it wants, and it forgets that simple, pure, childish Love that was its gift from God.

Over time, the Soul matures. One day it puts aside its mental powers and gives up its emotions and desires. When it does this, it recalls its original state—the pure Love and the childish innocence. At the instant it does this, the game with Kal is ended. Its time has come: all interdimensional gates open for the Soul and it returns to God, its loving Father.

What does an adult Soul do? Does it sit on “cloud 9” and aimlessly stare off into infinity? The Spiritual Masters do not talk of this. But I will personally tell you my feelings, although I cannot confirm this.

It makes sense to me that the relationship between an adult Soul and God would be similar to an adult and its parents. God would accept the Soul as fully developed and send it on its way. It would live on the Twelfth Vector (Anami region) with, but not close to, God, its Father.

It would have all the power of God. It would not be “our God,” but it would be God. It would wish children, like our God did and does. It would create new Souls and train them. This is my feeling of the Grand Plan of God—a mission that defies any human comprehension.

Classic Desires

I want to now go through the list of classic desires that people have. These are the things that, if not resolved and given up in your present physical lifetime, will cause you to come back to the Physical plane for a future lifetime. The list is:

1. Lust.
2. Anger.
3. Greed.
4. Attachment to material things.
5. Vanity.

If you have any of these desires and they are not resolved at the time of your death, you will most likely have to return to the Earth or some planet in the Physical Universe to resolve these desires (which are a form of karma).

So I want now to discuss these desires and point out some things that may help you resolve them.

Lust

Lust is not love, but simply a desire for release of sexual desire. Married couples may have “great sex” on a regular basis or they may find that they do not want sex that often.

Of course, Spiritual Masters will tell you that the only purpose for sex is for reproduction and that unless you desire a child there is no reason to have sex.

However, even Spiritual Masters are human and they recognize that sex is fun. In the evolutionary process, the chakra, or energy center, in the human body that relates to sex is quite low.

Therefore, if a couple are both the initiates of a legitimate Spiritual Master and they follow the Master’s instructions relating to meditation, they will rise above this level and will probably not desire physical sex.

In the special relationship of a married couple, love can be expressed and felt in ways other than physical sex. Just being close to each other may result in something equivalent to an orgasm.

In the older cultures, such as the Japanese, there are techniques (in Japan, it is called “karezsa”), where a couple spend the night physically (sexually) joined without achieving orgasm.

Anger

It is not generally a good idea to harbor anger, because to do this interferes with Spiritual progress. However, we must not confuse anger with recognition.

The rule here is “Forgive, but never forget.” In other words, when another person harms you, you do not harbor anger for that person, but you also do not forget what that person did to you.

Greed (and Attachment to Material Things)

Greed is a desire for nothing. That is, there is nothing in the Physical world that has any meaning at all. Money is an illusion, and the entire Physical Universe with all of its gold and silver and precious stones is subject to Dissolution, so there is no reason to assign any special value to these things, because they are all temporary and are not “forever” by any means, so why be attached to them?

Vanity

To think of yourself personally as “something special” is not correct. We are all essentially Souls, and all Souls are equal. There is no such thing as a “master race” or “special people” who are “better” than other people. These concepts have developed over recent years, but they are simply not valid.

In all cultures, on the Earth as well as on other planets, God provides these cultures with a living Spiritual Master. The races of these cultures make no difference at all. They may be green, red, white, black or brown. It does not matter. A member of this race will be chosen to be a Spiritual Master because it must be so to fulfill God’s Plan that there will always be a pathway for true seekers to return to God.

Therefore, it is not correct to think that you are special because of your race. Also, it is not correct for you to feel that you are special because of your education. Please remember that your mind is simply a subset or a part of the Universal Mind located on the Fourth Vector. Any entity on any planet anywhere in the Physical Universe can access the same “master database” that you can (namely, the Universal Mind), and so they are your equals.

Consequently, there is no reason at all for any person or group to feel that they are superior to any other person or group.

Interference with and Modification of Karma

Under the IGC Standard, enforcement teams generally do not interfere with karma, because to interfere with karma simply delays events, and these delays may carry over into a future lifetime.

For example, in the case of domestic violence (husbands beating up wives, and so on) it is recognized that this man and this woman are together in this lifetime because they have serious karma between them which must be settled. If there is outside interference in this event, then this man and this woman must come together again in a future lifetime to work out their karmas. In past relationships, these two Souls may have had very violent encounters (one may have even killed the other), and this is why, under the Law of Karma, they have been brought together now to settle up. Therefore, it does no practical good to interfere with karma, because karma will complete somehow, and if it cannot complete in this lifetime, it will continue to be transferred until it does complete in some future lifetime.

Modification of Karma

Karma can be modified. For example, when a Soul as a human being accepts a Spiritual Master, his or her karma is modified. Administration of karma is transferred. The Spiritual Master takes all the initiate's karma away from Kal Niranjana and takes this karma upon himself. Consequently, karmas that Kal might have used to give this Soul a hundred or so future lifetimes can be managed in such a way that they can all be resolved in the present lifetime.

This process can be compared to the selection of a competent or non-competent lawyer. Say, you have some legal problem or you need advice on money management. A competent and sincere lawyer can tell you things to do that will get this over with shortly. However, if you choose an incompetent, insincere and money-hungry lawyer, then he can just as easily never solve your problem and string you out as long as he can and milk you for all of your money.

This is the concept of karma management. Karma cannot be made to just go away. Once you, by your actions, create karma, it must be paid. However, it is quite different if your karmas are managed by Kal (who is the administrator of karma for all uninitiated Souls) or by a Spiritual Master, who has a duty to God to uphold your best interest and to get you out of this Creation (the Lower worlds) as soon as he possibly can.

The Inner Worlds

The average citizen in the United States goes to public school and is fed a diet of pure scientific atheism. He does not know anything about God or that he has lived before or that he has other bodies besides the physical which he can use to travel beyond the Physical plane of existence. Some people never learn anything about the inner worlds or God and their first out-of-body experience comes only when they are actually dying. Other people have such experiences, and some people actively seek God, which eventually leads them to locate a Spiritual Master.

For people who are Spiritually and psychically “virgin,” their first experience could be quite frightening, or they could look upon it as “no big deal.” Someone who “wakes up” in their astral body and realizes that this is not their physical body, because they can see it asleep in the bed, may seek guidance from some psychiatrist. Of course, their life is totally ruined then, because psychiatrists are trained to deny the inner worlds and to damage people with drugs so that they cannot have inner experiences. So, this poor Soul will be kept on drugs for the rest of its life and will probably die an untimely death due to the damage these drugs cause to the body.

Other people, with a little common sense, would know better than to seek this kind of “help” and might rather consult with a close friend or a psychic professional, such as a doctor of metaphysics, a psychic astrologer or a legitimate psychic, and would be therefore told the truth about their other bodies and that what they experienced was perfectly normal.

Basically, there are two main places where people who have died and who were not the initiates of a Spiritual Master end up. The first is the Astral plane and the second is the Mental plane.

The Astral World

The Astral plane, at vector reference 2.00 through 2.99, has many sub-planes, and the surface of the Earth is Astral plane number one.

When people learn about the Astral plane, it's natural to want to go there and look around. I want to explain to you why this is not a good idea. The astral body relates to emotion, and the Astral plane is the plane of emotion. The citizens of the Astral world—with the exception of the Plane Lord there and advanced Souls which help him with his duties—are emotionally unbalanced. If they were emotionally balanced, they would not be on this plane but would have moved up to the Mental plane.

Consequently, any astral entity that you meet is emotionally sick in some way and has unresolved emotional karmas. This is the reason they were sent here. So, unless you feel some morbid desire to visit the “universal nut house,” there is no reason to go to this plane.

Astral entities have all kinds of problems and misconceptions, and if you get involved with them, they are going to try to dump their problems off on you. They may tell you, for example, that they have “great revelations” for the people of the Earth and you should let them dictate a book to you so you can deliver these “great revelations.” It is understandable that to the “virgin” meeting an astral entity for the first time these things may seem very real and urgent. But please remember, these entities once had physical bodies, they had their chance to seek a Perfect Saint, and they failed. They have “fucked up” now and must wait for their next incarnation. They are “in limbo,” and they are in a worse situation than you are, because you can seek a Spiritual Master and return to God and they cannot do this.

Therefore, once you realize the truth about this plane, this should help you curb any desire you may have to go on regular trips to the Astral world.

The Mental Plane

The Mental plane relates to the mind, of course. As we discussed with the Astral plane, the citizens of the Mental plane are there because their mind is out of balance. They have unresolved mental karmas and this is why they were sent here. Spiritual students are trained to “drop their mind,” i.e., to stop thinking. The less they think, the clearer the true Spiritual realities become. Souls who become Saints, i.e., Souls, which can access the first Spiritual plane of Sach Khand or one of the higher Spiritual planes, have “given their mind back to Kal,” which is to say that their mind has merged back into its source, which is the Universal Mind.

You see, your personal mind is sort of like a remote computer terminal. In its “local memory” it has some data and it can access the “mainframe computer,” which is the Universal Mind, to get more data. But your mind is not you. It is simply a tool that you need to have and use to manifest as a human in the Physical Universe.

Fully developed Souls that live in the Spiritual planes have no mind—they dropped it when they crossed the border between the Lower worlds and the Spiritual worlds. They are in a situation, where everything “just is,” and there is no need to think about it.

Also, they are outside of time. So gurus tell us to “still the mind” so that we may understand the legitimate Spiritual Truths. Again, citizens of the Mental plane cannot do this—they cannot stop themselves from thinking and so they cannot escape from this world.

So, again, please recognize that developing any relationship with one of these entities is simply wasting your precious time that you could be using to locate a Spiritual Master and begin making your preparations to return to God.

Non-Conflicting Hierarchies

In this discussion we want to go into some of the technical details of the Left and the Right Hand Paths.

At the top of the Mental plane, at vector reference 5.000, the life force which comes from God and which creates and sustains all that exists in the created Universes is split into two streams. One goes to the left and supports and sustains the Negative Hierarchy. The other, to the right, similarly sustains the Positive Hierarchy.

The Positive Hierarchy has its primary responsibility in the Spiritual planes, above vector reference 5.000. The Souls that live there are under its rulership. It is an eternal zone and is not subject to Dissolution at any time.

The Negative Hierarchy has the sole responsibility of creating, maintaining and distorting the Lower physical creations, which include the planet Earth. They also have the continuing responsibility of insuring that life forms there progress according to the wishes of God and in accordance with God's Plan which we have discussed elsewhere.

When representatives of the Positive Hierarchy are doing assignments in the Lower Creation, such as Spiritual Masters and Observers, they are not in conflict with the Negative Hierarchy, because they operate under different protocols. Spiritual personnel do not interfere with the Negative Hierarchy. They do not tell the various administrators and Plane Lords and the like what to do or how to handle their affairs. Consequently, because of this non-interference agreement, there is no fighting or conflict ongoing between the two Hierarchies. Conflicts are only in the student; in his mind, he may see "good" fighting "evil," but it is an illusion of his own mind and is not real.

Tests for Spiritual Masters

Because literature is available today which was hard to get in earlier times, it is easy to learn certain occult and Spiritual things and then fake people into thinking you're special and start some cult. The following tests will weed out most of the fakes, but there is still no 100 percent guarantee.

These are automatic disqualifications:

1. Asking for money or other compensation to perform a Spiritual initiation.
2. Asking for money or other compensation for any reason.
3. Suggesting, implying, or giving orders that followers should try to change the world, take over the government, or "uplift" mankind. These sometimes noble goals are the duties and responsibilities of the Negative Hierarchy and to elude to them means the person is not a high Spiritual master of the Positive Hierarchy which is the only one that can help you get legitimate Spiritual Enlightenment.

Advanced Tests

1. If the “master” passes the test of not asking for money but appears to have lots of money and resources, consider that he might be financed by some Spiritually questionable source. This source could be the intelligence agency of some government which uses the movement as a cover for some of its activities. Check for possible links to high-profit international operations such as drug smuggling or arms trading. Because most Spiritual seekers are naive and trusting and because they really believe in their leader (even though he may be a total phony), they make an excellent cover for establishing a worldwide network.
2. Try to find people who were once associated with the movement you are checking but have now left the movement. Their insights and reasons for leaving may be useful.
3. If you can, run a series of psychic tests to determine if the promises of the “master” are really being fulfilled. For example, in an esoteric chain, deceased Masters should not reincarnate. If a psychic can find them reincarnated somewhere, then something is clearly wrong. Also, deceased students of a Master should not be easy to locate, because they are supposed to be on higher planes. If a psychic can find them somewhere in the Astral world, then the “master’s” abilities should be seriously questioned.

Thought Forms

One of the psychic abilities people have is the ability to create what is commonly called thought forms. A thought form is a subtle energy matrix, which has a definite form but no consciousness or Soul, which one can generate by thought to look like anything you please.

You could make a thought-form dog, or a thought-form horse, or a thought-form image of some real or imaginary person. You can see the thought form “inside,” and so can other sensitive people.

In witchcraft, techniques are given to deliberately create thought forms and then send them out on “missions” for the purpose of influencing or controlling others; e.g., as one witchcraft text states, “appear in someone’s dreams and thereby convince them to do whatever you wish.”

There is no legitimate Spiritual use for thought forms. They are a creation of the lower realities and cannot exist in the Spiritual zones of Region II or Region I which are beyond thought. If you are somehow linked or attached to a thought form, then you cannot enter these regions either. You will be limited to the thought form’s natural home, which is the third (Causal) plane in Region III.

When witches and sorcerers create thought forms, they know what they are doing. They also know techniques to dissolve the thought form when they are finished with it. However, unsuspecting people who may never have heard the phrase “thought form” can be tricked into generating them and taking them for something other than what they really are.

This trick allows many phony “masters” to convince people they are for real by inciting them to concentrate upon them so intensely that they actually create a thought form in the image of the phony master. Since they can “see” the thought form, they conclude that the master is watching over them. One phony group invented an imaginary history complete with totally fabricated “ancient masters” to convince members that they had existed for a long time. Artists painted pictures of the imaginary “past masters.” Some members then began to “see” these nonexistent persons and claimed that they were present at meetings and were protecting them, etc. Another trick of the mind used to dupe the unaware.

When people work in groups and share experiences on other planes of existence (such as witches, remote viewers, etc.), they see each other “inside.” However, this is a real event and can be externally verified. In an awake/alert state, the people involved can compare notes and remember events they had in the altered states of consciousness.

However, experiences with thought forms of “masters” are totally internal to the experiencer. The “master” has no knowledge whatsoever of any details of this. If you are working with a master, then it is important to make sure that any internal experience can be externally verified. If you are unable to confirm this because your questions get ignored or answered by doubletalk or evasive statements, it is time to seriously consider that your master might be a fake.

If you are linked to a thought form at the time of death, you will not be able to rise above the plane where thought forms generate, which is the Causal plane. It is not possible to enter the legitimately Spiritual regions attached to a thought form. It is not possible for a thought form to guide you to any legitimately Spiritual region.

Astrological Considerations

Early in the 21st century, some unique astrological events have happened which resulted in a slight nudge upward in the overall consciousness of mankind here on the Earth. Any competent astrologer can give you the exact dates of those events, but the main point is that there were some permanent changes in man's thought processes and he just has to learn to cope with that.

The Laws of God—God's Plan

The life forms of the Universe of matter-energy-space-time—consisting of the four planes known as Physical, Astral, Causal and Mental—are the children of God. These four planes are contained in a finite structure which would look like an egg if you saw it from the outside. The Plan of God is for the children to grow up here and then leave the “egg” and return to Him, where they will then live with Him as mature Souls. The gate which leads from the inside to the outside of the “egg” cannot be opened by immature Souls or by Souls on the Left Hand Path to enlightenment.

It is God's Plan that young Souls make consistent progress toward the day when they will return home. It is not God's Plan that people should tremble before local dictators, terrorists, masterminds and other various and sundry persons practicing the black arts. It is not the purpose of God's Plan that people should be enslaved by oppressive governments who just want to use them for slaves and have no interest in seeing them evolve. When these things occur, corrections need to be programmed into the system, which is the responsibility of the Negative Hierarchy which must keep this place livable and in such a state that Souls can realize God's Plan. The Positive Hierarchy, while it has the same abilities, does not have the responsibility to maintain suitable conditions in physical reality but rather has only the responsibility of identifying the legitimately good Souls who are ready to leave here and helping them to do so.

Basic Rights of Souls

Under God's Plan, all Souls have basic rights. The most basic are:

1. No one can destroy a Soul (not possible).
2. No one (except God) can create a Soul.
3. No one is allowed to enslave a less mature Soul in such a way that its forward evolution is halted or reversed for the motivation of using that Soul as a personal slave to fulfill one's personal needs.

Souls are promised that anyone who does this cannot continue to do it (indefinitely) and will be punished (eventually). All Souls must make continuous forward progress toward enlightenment leading to the day when they will return to God.

This requirement is the basic regulation governing the Negative Hierarchy. All legitimate operations of the Hierarchy, including dark places such as "hell" worlds, have to be so constructed that, even though the Souls there are not having a good time, they are nevertheless making forward progress and are going through experiences they need to have to correct past transgressions.

Knowledge—Enlightenment—Illumination

The human mind can be compared to a personal computer. It has space for some data and can get more data by connecting to a main-frame server, which has all the data it needs. On the Mental plane is stored all knowledge and all possible combinations of knowledge. The personal knowledge people have is a small subset of this. People with total access to all knowledge are said to be in Cosmic Consciousness.

As you can see, knowledge is sort of in the same category with the air you breathe and the water you drink. These are provided things. No one owns them. You don't say to a newborn baby, "Want to breathe some air? We own the air and unless you pay some money or sign a contract to pay us we'll cut off your air supply." Knowledge is the same way.

Unfortunately, in today's world, people have somehow come to the conclusion that they can "own" knowledge and whoever learns something first has the right to lock it up and then go after someone else who discovers the same thing claiming that they "own" the knowledge or that it is "secret knowledge," or "forbidden knowledge," or whatever. This makes about as much sense as the baby and the air. Anyone has a God given right to have any knowledge that they want and have the ability to obtain. It is free, just like the air.

Perspectives

Here we wish to discuss how things change in meaning and importance with perspective.

The inside area of a play pen is very important to a baby, because, of course, that is all it knows. Grade school is important to grade school kids, and things like devices for interdimensional travel and warp engines (actually devices) are important to the Government. The inside of a play pen is not important to the Government and warp engines are not important to the baby in the play pen, because it has no idea what that is.

Now, let's talk about night and day. Generally, we sleep at night, although there are exceptions. At night, kids are generally sleeping and their parents may be up late doing little adult things. They may be talking about the future of the kids—all safely tucked away; thoughts of how to pay for college are not important to kids, but quite important to parents.

The Physical Universe we live in goes through four distinct cycles called the Golden Age, the Silver Age, the Bronze Age, and the Iron Age, which we are presently in. At the end of the Iron Age, the Physical Universe is dissolved and for a time does not exist. You might say it was “nighttime.” When it is recreated, it is bright daytime considering all the fireworks that occur with the “big bang” of the Creation event.

This period consisting of the existence period (day) and the non-existence period (night) is called a “day” in the life of God. It is day now. God’s children are awake, they are doing their little stuff they do and hopefully thinking about Him and that they would like to return to Him, which is His wish. After the Dissolution, the immature Souls will be sleeping or in an inactive state while they wait for the “new Heaven and new Earth” to be created. This is nighttime for God. But, like concerned parents, He is awake, thinking about the future and planning the best for His kids.

Now, the Christian Bible quotes Jesus as saying as to the time of the Dissolution (“end of the world”), “But no one knows of that day and hour, not even the angels of heaven, but my Father only.” The Dissolution is an event that is originated from outside of time; therefore, no one living inside of time can know. The angles are people who died and live in the Astral world; bad angles are called devils. The Astral world is what most people think Heaven is, hence the statement, “Heaven and Earth pass away...” because both are dissolved in a Dissolution. However, higher planes are not dissolved, and the Souls who live there see things like God, i.e., the simple passing of night and day over and over again.

Characteristics of Cults

We want to run through some of the basic techniques used by cults to keep their followers loyal and “in line.” Many cults are clearly phony, but despite the availability of documentation which clearly shows this they continue to grow and prosper. How do they do it? Let’s look at a few ways.

1. Isolate the disciple.

Convince the disciple that you are the only source of the truth. Convince him to only read literature that you provide or that you approve of. In this way, even if you are exposed, your disciple will not learn of it.

2. Use a “positive-filtered” feedback loop to control information.

In this technique, you simply ignore all bad news and pretend that it does not exist. For example, if 95% of your disciples write to you and say they are having a terrible time, you simply throw the letters away and ignore them. Then you take the 5% of letters that compliment you and make a big deal out of them and put them in your “official newsletter,” etc.

3. Take credit for talents and skills that your disciples already have.

Convince disciples that any skills or talents they have are because you willed it. Of course, the plain truth is that they have what they have because of their hard work and effort. But many people buy into this.

4. Terrify the disciples.

Make an image of yourself that is so superior and powerful that the disciples will not dare to think you might be a fake for fear of what might happen to them.

5. Maintain a covert “swat team” to attack those whom you cannot control.

Constantly threaten news or investigative people who know you are a fake (and so cannot be controlled by other methods) that you will sue them if they dare to say anything about you.

A favorite method is to make up unique key words and register them as trademarks. Then you can control their use. For example, instead of saying, “I am god, and you are my student,” you could say, “I am the Great Blip™ and you are my Blipski™.” Then, if anyone complains in public that they are an unhappy “Blipski,” or an abused “Blipski,” or that “The Great Blip” is a sex offender of whatever, you can sue them for using your registered trademark.

Q-Level Sophistication

The ability to leave the “egg of Brahm” and journey to and become established on the plane of Sach Khand at vector reference 5.0 is the true definition of a “Q-clearance.”

The people to whom the U.S. Government has assigned a Q-level clearance are not legitimate, i.e., they are not established as residents of the first Spiritual plane known as Sach Khand. They are representatives of one of the reflections of Kal which duplicate the true Spiritual worlds but in a more gross and lesser reality which is wholly contained within the Lower worlds. The Q-level clearances issued by the Government of the United States are simply an authorization to know the truth about the secret heathen cult that controls the Earth world at the present time. They are not legitimate Q-clearances as defined in the Universal Series. A person with a legitimate Q-clearance is assigned an N number and is registered with the administration of the Lower worlds and is recognized as legitimate by all the Plane Lords of the Lower worlds. The Q-clearances issued by the U.S. Government at the present time do not meet these requirements and are not recognized as valid in the Universal Series. All that these clearances mean is that the “cleared” person has been given data, which is not available to the general population of the Earth planet, and is, therefore, in possession of the “complete truth” as far as the U.S. Government knows the complete truth about its situation and the System of Universes in which it exists. This knowledge is quite limited and, therefore, the Q-level clearances issued by the United States are also quite limited and are not equivalent and not valid in the Universal Series.

Legitimate people with Q-level clearance are essentially residents of the first Spiritual plane known as Sach Khand. They are established there and they have cleared from any compulsion to ever have to return to the Lower worlds for reincarnation.

The worlds of Kal Niranjana are assembled in a series of reflections as one would see in a mirror. They are designed to confuse the Soul and persuade it to accept a reflection of true reality as legitimate true reality.

Going It Alone

Clearly, the easiest way to make Spiritual progress is to find someone who will teach you. Living Saints or Spiritual Masters will do this, of course, but first you have to find them. In ages past, perhaps because people were more honest and innocent, calling someone a Spiritual Master actually meant something. Today, it appears to be just another way to make money and have influence.

This does not mean that legitimate Saints no longer exist. However, the process of sorting them out of the growing collection of fakes has become much more complex.

Therefore, here we want to run through some basic principles of Spiritual techniques and give a general idea of their meanings and uses.

Meditation

People are guaranteed to have at least one Spiritual experience. That experience will happen when they die. If it is their only Spiritual experience, then their ability to handle it is likely to be limited.

The purpose of meditation, when used for Spiritual purposes, is to cause the event sequence which takes place at the time of death to happen earlier, when the person is nowhere near death. The common phrase is “dying daily.” The reason to “practice dying” is to solve problems in the practice sessions, which, if left unsolved, will be likely to result in reincarnation.

Let us take an example from the Tibetan Book of the Dead. A person dies. He sees a bright light. The light frightens him. Then he notices a “safe dark cave” and goes into the cave to get away from the bright light. But the “safe dark cave” is really the womb of some pregnant creature (hopefully human, possibly not), and so a new physical lifetime begins.

This experience cannot be changed, because it occurred at the time of “for real” death. However, experiences in practice sessions are not permanent, because the physical body still lives. Consequently, if the person in the above example had learned the truth about the “safe dark cave” in a practice session, then the reincarnation could have been avoided.

Early meditation experiences are highly individualized and are a function of that person’s karmas. Consequently, there is no handbook for what one will see. At higher levels, there are standard landmarks, such as the Causal plane landscape, which everyone who passes through will see.

The aim of meditation is to go into the inner worlds as far as you can while alive, so that anything that could be a problem later could be safely experienced and solved now, in the practice or “simulation” sessions.

Third Eye

The “third eye” is not physical. However, when it opens, it appears to be an opening in the forehead above the physical eyes. There is no eye there, however, it appears to the experiencer that there is actually an extra eye, because he can see the usual things with the usual two eyes and, at the same time, see something completely different with the “third eye.” It’s really pretty neat.

For Spiritual purposes, the use for the “third eye” is “Look, but don’t touch.” We want to know what exists on the various planes, but do not want to become involved or “strung out” with what we see going on.

For psychic purposes, the “third eye” is used to solve practical problems such as psychic healing. In legitimate psychic healing, the healer is “looking” at the patient’s astral body with his “third eye.” When he touches the patient with his physical hands, he is really reaching “into them” with his astral hands from his own astral body which extends slightly beyond the physical body. He works on the patient’s astral body in this way to solve the problem.

Projection Methods

Astral projection methods involve separating the astral body from the physical body and using it to go on little “trips.” In astral projection, the physical body is not animate. It must be somewhere safe and quiet, like in bed. It does not die because of the “silver cord” connection, but it also does not move around. Astral projection can be used to “shop around” the Physical and Astral planes, but, obviously, it cannot be taken to higher planes, because it is too gross to interface with the finer matter there.

Soul or Consciousness projection methods are different in that the astral body remains with the physical body and the physical body is still animate. In these methods, the physical body is apparently being operated by “remote control” by the Soul/Consciousness which has projected to another location. This appears to be the method used in the government remote viewing technique, because the physical bodies of the viewers are talking at the same time their projected consciousness is “viewing.”

Projecting as a naked Soul will allow one to go to any plane that exists. However, you must know how to get there first, which reemphasizes the desirability of having a competent guide if you can possibly locate one.

Direct Access Rights

Direct Access Rights concern the notion that a child has the right to guidance from its parent(s) and that the parent(s) have a duty to give such guidance if it is requested.

In this case, of course, by the child we mean a Soul and by parent(s) we mean God.

To use Direct Access Rights, we make certain assumptions or affirmations. These are:

1. The act of creating a new Soul is an act of Love.
2. Because it is an act of Love, there exists a link from God to the Soul.
3. Because Creation is an act of Love, God has a concern for his child's welfare.
4. Therefore, if the child (Soul) has a sincere request for help, such a request would not be refused.

Consequently, we as the children of God have the right to make contact and communicate with Him.

Direct Access Rights use channel “O” telepathy and are available to beings who can access this channel, which includes humans.

Direct Access Rights are not for frivolous requests. It will not work for them. Success is determined by the purity of the request and the subject of the request. God exists in the Original zone or region which predates all subsequent creations. There are three main things which He can give. The first is everlasting life, which is a birthright and you already have it. The other two things are Truth and Love.

All of the other things you may be tempted to ask for are commonly called Maya (illusion) and were created as secondary events at lower levels.

Pure Truth and Love are powerful elements. Should you reach the point where these are all you want and nothing else, you have reached the level where Direct Access Rights operate.

Direct Access Rights allow one to bypass the Positive and Negative Hierarchies and all the Plane Lords and assorted forces of the various levels of the Creation.

Remember, however, that if your request for Truth is granted, nothing else will remain. Friends, family, possessions, associations, surroundings, etc., are all Maya and will be dissolved by pure Truth. You and your Creator, Truth, Love, and eternity—these are the only things that are truly real and, therefore, the only things that will survive.

Special Notes for Initiated Couples

When a married man and woman both become the initiates of a legitimate Saint, they should realize that their karmas will complete more rapidly.

It is karma, not love, that really causes two people to get married. When a young man says to his woman, “I love you,” what he is really saying is, “We have business that must be done, so let’s get on with it.”

When a couple’s karmas end, they may think about splitting up, because the force that brought them together (karma) has now dissolved and they do not feel this attraction any more.

Many times couples will go to their Spiritual Master for advice about this and say they want to divorce. The Master always tells them not to do it, and invariably they do it anyway.

Life in today's world is lonely. We all need a friend to share experiences with. You should really consider this and stay together even if you live like brother and sister sharing a common place to stay.

CHAPTER TEN

Social and Political Sciences

The Correct Procedure for Mating for the Conception of a Child

A human being is essentially an immortal Soul. The composition of a Soul is raw energy and it can exist outside of space and time—in fact, this is its true home.

However, to come into existence on the Physical plane as a human man or woman, the Soul (which has no sex itself) must interface with four dimensions of non-spiritual material in addition to its natural dimension of pure energy of spirit. Therefore, a human being is a five-dimensional creature. When a couple mate intending to produce a child, they mechanically create a body for a Soul which already exists and has had countless previous lifetimes.

We now wish to discuss a short poem by John Donne (1572–1631), titled “The Ecstasy.”⁸ This poem describes what must be done to correctly bring a Soul into this world as a human being.

THE ECSTASY

Where, like a pillow on a bed,
A pregnant bank swelled up to rest
The violet’s declining head,
Sate we on one another’s breast.

8. Quoted from: Parnassus: An Anthology of Poetry, edited by Ralph Waldo Emerson. Boston: Houghton, Osgood and Co., 1880. Taken from: www.bartleby.com

Our hands were firmly cemented
 By a fast balm which thence did spring,
 Our eye-beams twisted, and did thread
 Our eyes upon one double string,

So to ingraft our hands as yet
 Was all the means to make us one,
 And pictures in our eyes to get
 Was all our propagation.

As 'twixt two equal armies Fate
 Suspends uncertain victory,
 Our souls (which to advance our state
 Were gone out) hung 'twixt her and me.

And whilst our souls negotiate there,
 We like sepulchral statues lay:
 All day the same our postures were,
 And we said nothing all the day.

If any, so by love refined,
 That he soul's language understood,
 And by good love were grown all mind,
 Within convenient distance stood,

He, (though he knew not which soul spoke,
 Because both meant, both spoke the same,)
 Might thence a new concoction take,
 And part far purer than he came.

This ecstasy doth unperplex,
 We said, and tell us what we love;
 We see by this it was not sex,
 We see, we saw not what did move:

But as all several souls contain
Mixture of things they know not what,
Love these mixed souls doth mix again,
And makes both one, each this and that.

The strength, the color, and the size
(All which before was poor and scant,) Redoubles still and multiplies.

When love with one another so
Interanimates two souls,
That abler soul which thence doth flow
Defects of loveliness controls.

We then, who are this new soul, know
Of what we are composed and made:
For the atoms of which we grow
Are soul, whom no change can invade.

But, O alas! so long, so far
Our bodies why do we forbear?
They are ours, though not we. We are
The Intelligences, they the spheres:

We owe them thanks, because they thus Did us to us at first convey,
Yielded their sense's force to us,
Nor are dross to us, but allay.

On man Heaven's influence works not so,
But that it first imprints the Air;
For soul into the soul may flow,
Though it to body first repair.

As our blood labors to beget
Spirits as like souls as it can,
Because such fingers need to knit
That subtile knot which makes us man:

So must pure lovers' souls descend
To affections and to faculties,
Which sense may reach and apprehend;
Else a great Prince in prison lies.

To our bodies turn we then, and so
Weak men on love revealed may look;
Love's mysteries in souls do grow,
But yet the body is the book,

And if some lover such as we Have heard this dialogue of one,
Let him still mark us, he shall see
Small change when we're to bodies grown.

John Donne is describing a couple mating. However, they are not concerned with the physical sex that must take place between them. Their Souls have gone out and they are interfacing and helping the new Soul for which they are creating a human body to smoothly and competently enter into a lifetime as a human being in the Earth world. Mr. Donne warns: "Else a great Prince in prison lies." That is, if this is not done, if a man and a woman do not know what the facts of life are and what is happening when they conceive a child, the new Soul will be confused and trapped in its new human body. It will be essentially in the same condition as a beast.

On the Causal plane, the body that a Soul has there is called its "seed body." What this means is that this body holds the "seeds of karma"—karmas that are, as yet, unmanifested or unrealized. These seeds predate their logical consequences, i.e., their manifestations. Therefore, when you come into this world, in general, the "seeds" of what your life will be have already been planted. You have, therefore, very little real free choice. The Spiritual Masters tell us that every breath you take is already counted; you have only so many breaths to take in a lifetime—then you die.

When you choose a mate and think about the possibility of children, it is very likely that your choice of a mate and also of the Soul which will now become part of your family as your son or daughter was predestined in your karmas before either of you were even born here.

When a man and woman get together and have thoughts of bringing a baby into the Earth world, the Soul that is scheduled to do this incarnation drops to the first Astral plane, which is essentially in the same place as the Earth. It stays close to the female—waiting. At the moment of conception, it comes in. Therefore, even if you use something like the popular “morning after pill,” you have still killed your baby and displaced its Soul and, of course, committed a Spiritual crime which will be charged against you in future karmas.

During this waiting period, the Soul can see you and hear you. A Soul scheduled for a human incarnation in the present time is not stupid. It has had countless previous lives and has been a human man and also a woman many times before. In some way, it is linked to you and to your mate in karma, and you all have been together sometime in the past. The period before incarnation is important. The Soul, naked and with no bodies, is in a much more powerful position now than it will be after the incarnation. It knows who you are—it sees all the things you and your mate do and hears everything you say to each other. Although it cannot avoid the incarnation, the things it hears and sees during this period will leave impressions on it. If you are pregnant by accident and hate the child you are carrying, these memories will continue to affect your baby in its lifetime. After incarnation and before the child learns to speak, the memories of these things, as well as of its past lifetimes, fade out. But they remain quite alive in its unconscious mind. And the unconscious mind subtly affects the conscious mind. So, if your teenager hates you or does not care about you, it could be that it remembers that you hated it and did not care about it when you brought it into this world. Therefore, the preparations that you make when considering bringing a baby into the world are quite important.

It cannot be expected, in the present time, that couples will be able to follow the perfect procedure that we gave at the beginning of this discussion. But they should be aware of it and use appropriate approximations.

Here we will list some helpful points:

1. Pick a mate for whom you feel—or at least for whom you think you feel—genuine love.
2. During the period when you begin to think about having a baby, discuss things with your mate. Discuss the process of karma and reincarnation and that you understand what will take place when you do conceive a child.
3. Spend some time with God. During the quiet hours of early morning, between 3AM and 6AM, get up and sit quietly somewhere and be alert. Silently, to yourself, go over the processes that you know will take place in the future. Discuss with yourself that you know that a Soul has been assigned to your care under the Laws of Karma. Discuss that you are willing for this event to come to pass and that you love this Soul. Discuss that, although you are not perfect, you pray to God that He will help you and that everything will be all right and that you are going to have a fine child whom you will love and care for.
4. When it is time for you to mate, do not let your attention slip down to the animal level. Try to keep your thoughts on God and on the love you have for this Soul and reaffirm that you trust God and you know that everything will be fine for your new baby.

These approximations are not perfect. However, they are certainly much better than gulping down a glass of wine and jumping into bed only to learn later that you are pregnant.

The human race has “fallen” because of bad instructions and information in this area. However, this is a reversible process and it can just as easily rise up again when the truth is once again known and actively considered and practiced.

Conception, Pregnancy, Abortion

We just want to point out certain relationships and principles here. People generally do whatever they want regardless of morality or karma or consequences. But, if you want to know the rules, here they are.

- A PHYSICAL LIFE FORM cannot remain living unless it is in an association with a Soul. If the Soul leaves, the life form dies—regardless of any medical tricks to try to keep it alive.
- LIFE FORMS are the property of the Soul with which they are associated and not the property of the manufacturer of the life form (parents are the manufacturers of their children).
- UNBORN CHILDREN DO NOT NECESSARILY HAVE SOULS RIGHT AWAY, however, this is a tricky area, and it is better to assume that they do have Souls than to assume that they do not.

When there is a pregnancy that will result in a live birth, the Soul, which is scheduled for that new physical life, develops an association with its new body quickly. Also, by virtue of the Soul's status, it may know from looking ahead into future time what kind of life it will have in a certain family assuming that the female becomes pregnant. This is a pre-association. If there is a pre-association, all rights over the unborn child with respect to the parent end instantly at the moment of conception. However, parents are not obligated to honor a pre-association, because the female can choose not to get pregnant. There is no “wrong” associated with such a decision. It would be comparable to having a orphan kid wandering around by your house begging to be adopted. You don't have to adopt the kid—certainly he's not your responsibility—but if you would choose to do that and sign all the papers, then you're stuck with him. Same deal. You don't have to get pregnant, but if you do, you're stuck.

Legitimate Psychiatry

Legitimate psychiatry is not practiced in the United States. We live in a society which places great value on money and material things but almost no value on human life. Therefore, the practice of psychiatry in the United States consists of simply giving the patient so many brain-damaging drugs that he cannot remember whatever the problem was that caused him to seek help.

When a psychiatrist interviews a patient, he is thinking to himself, "I don't want to hear all this shit. I wish you would just shut your face, because I don't give a damn about you or your problems!" So, the doctor just starts pumping this poor sucker full of drugs, and when he is so drugged that he stops talking, bumps in to the wall and sits down and stares off into space with glassy, senseless eyes, the doctor says, "OK, you're cured now. Just go home and take these pills for the rest of your life and you will be fine."

The Russian System

In what used to be the Soviet Union, legitimate psychiatry is practiced. The Russians use two systems. They use the same brain-damaging drugs as U.S. doctors use, but they only use them on political prisoners, whom they hate and want to hurt. So they are at least honest about it.

However, should a garden variety harmless Russian citizen, who is no political problem, get sick, he is not given drugs. Instead, he is taken to a hospital where he is confined in a ward equipped with dispensers containing distilled water. He can drink all the distilled water he wants, but is given no food at all. The research reports I have read from Russia indicate that, using this method, the symptoms of abnormality that the patient originally presented disappear in about ten days to two weeks. Once the acute symptoms go away, then the team headed by a psychiatrist gradually add to the patient's diet simple harmless foods like plain brown rice. Then they add small quantities of specific vitamins and minerals.

When the patient is discharged, he is given a diet to follow and specific instructions on some foods he should never eat. He is also given a very individualized prescription for specific vitamins and minerals. The Russian research report claims a very good success rate using this legitimate treatment technique.

You may argue that it is cruel to lock someone away with no food. However, to do this does not cause permanent brain damage, and the drugs used in the United States do cause permanent brain damage. So, you be the judge of what's cruel and what is not.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

Earth History

Class I Bodies

The group of bodies commonly called human and humanoid are Class I bodies. The definition of Class I is a physical body which contains all five of the alchemical elements—namely, Earth, Air, Fire, Water, and Ether.

There is no class of body higher than Class I. The next step up from Class I is to leave the worlds of forms and move up to the planes of pure Spirit.

Souls with Class I bodies outrank angels and all of the other assorted disembodied entities who are within the limits of the Lower Creation or the worlds of forms. The reason they do is because a Class I body is the only situation which provides the Soul with the “exit opportunity” to leave the Lower Creation. An angel, for example, no matter how good or powerful it might be, cannot leave the Lower Creation from its present position. It must incarnate in a human body to do this.

People sometimes entertain thoughts of inferiority and develop a quite low opinion of themselves. It is unfortunate, because for every human on the Earth there are literally thousands of entities who would give anything to have that human body if they could. They know what most humans simply do not understand.

Earth humans have no idea of the incredible potential that the form they are using has, because they have not made the effort to develop it. Human bodies, balanced and “tuned up,” can do almost anything. For example, they can generate the antigravity fields used by space vehicles which allow them to “phase out” in one part of the Physical Universe and “phase in” at any other location they choose. These devices came into existence when humans lost the ability to do such things on their own. Powers such as these, as well as many others, are latent in Earth humans and they could have them if they would only wake up and develop them and use them. They just won’t do it.

Unfortunately, although Earth humans do not know their potential, other groups of humanoids and lesser forms do. Human genetic material has become a product in demand for other cultures, many of which are not Class I, seeking (by abducting humans) to use it in hybridization and amalgamation experiments to make themselves “more human.”

And so, although no life form outranks a human, Earth humans may be facing a “use it or lose it” situation, because, if they do not make the effort to realize their potential, other groups, who know what that potential is, will gradually “screw them over” and perhaps eventually take them out all together. Should this happen, it will be the fault of the Earth humans and no one else. If Earth people were anywhere close to the full potential of their form, no entity from anywhere else would dare to challenge them. But, sadly, this is just not the case.

First Contact

The first contact experience for Earth (or at least the contact experience which is relevant to present Earth history) is supposed to have occurred in 1913. In this event, aliens came to give the Earth a package of high technology and instructions. The aliens supposedly told the recipients that the people of Earth would enter the space age soon and that these gifts would help them. They also cautioned against misuse of the gifts and warned that misuse would result in punishments against the Earth, possibly including its destruction. They emphasized that the main rule that must be followed in developing these gifts was that they were to be used responsibly and competently.

Well, as you might guess, the recipients back in 1913 were pretty overwhelmed by all this. It would be years before the term “UFO” was coined. The recipients concluded that people who “came from the sky” must be gods. They did not remotely understand the gifts, but knew they were important. Because they thought the gifts were from God, they turned them over to the Pope in Rome who also did not understand them but recognized them as something special to be guarded and so locked them up “in a gold box” where they remained for some time.

According to the story, Rome gradually shared the gifts with emerging scientists hoping they could figure out what they were. Essentially all of the technology in use today, publicly and secretly, is supposedly related to these alien gifts from 1913.

If you do not like the gifts story, try the test of common sense. In the space of a single human lifetime, a single generation, we have seen the world go from riding horses and reading by kerosene lanterns to flying to the Moon and bubbling over with high-tech trinkets. Do you really think that mankind did all that so quickly on their own with no outside help ?

Socialized Systems

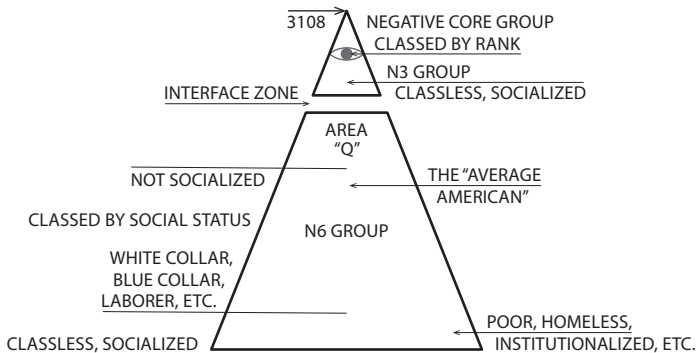

Socialized systems are generally quite pleasant social systems. We have all spent time in socialized systems and for most it was a good time.

Children in a family live in a socialized system. Parents do not say to kids, “Mommy made a great supper, but it will cost you $4.95, so go cut someone’s grass or something to come up with the bucks or go to bed hungry.” There are no coin boxes on the refrigerator or TV. Kids take what they need whenever they need.

A socialized system is not self-maintaining. In order to continue to exist, it must be linked in an association with some other system which is not socialized.

In the family, that other system is the jobs that the parents have so that they can make money to keep the TV plugged in and the refrigerator stuffed with food and goodies. If they did not participate in this other system, which is not socialized, the linked system which supports and maintains the kids would fail.

THE HIERARCHY OF THE UNITED STATES

In the schematic structure of U.S. society, you will note that some areas are socialized and other areas are not socialized. The socialized areas are supported by the non-socialized area just as in the family example above.

The non-socialized area, where the so-called "average American" lives, is a rough area. There is cut-throat competition, people must work essentially until they drop dead. They are taxed to death and are constantly under pressure to "perform." The reason that they have to work so hard is that large socialized areas need to be maintained and the people in some of those areas have rather exotic desires that they want satisfied.

The socialized areas of U.S. society are very pleasant in some zones. Millions of people live in the special enlightened and protected areas, most of which are underground, and all their everyday needs have to be met. The working class (or caste) pays for this and generally does not even know that these areas exist.

It is part of the “national security” to make sure that the slaves stay slaves, that they do not become enlightened and revolt, and that they are worked to maximum capacity without having them fall down dead from exhaustion. This task is the business of government.

The Elite, who live in the enlightened and protected areas, enjoy their way of life and do not want to lose it. They are prepared, if necessary, to kill all of the slaves if they get wise to the scam they live under and try to change things. The thought of actually having to do real work to maintain themselves terrifies them, because, for one thing, they have forgotten how.

Scams of the Elite

Overpopulation

The world is not overpopulated. In fact, it is quite underpopulated. If you took everyone in the whole world and put them in the state of Texas, each person would have about one thousand square feet of space and the rest of the world would be empty. Most people do not have one thousand square feet of space reserved for themselves personally in their homes today.

The myth of overpopulation is promoted by the Elite, because the world is overpopulated from their standpoint, which is that the only purpose of people other than themselves is to do slave labor for them. And, due to advances in technology, there is less of a demand for physical slaves today than in the past, hence there is an “overpopulation” of slaves.

The planet Earth, incidentally, produces enough food to feed three worlds equivalent to the Earth. Where does it all go so that people starve to death? Ask the Elite.

The Divine Right of Kings

The divine right of Kings is a scam cooked up long ago which asserts that Kings rule by divine right because God talks to them and tells them what to do, and so what they do cannot be questioned by ordinary mortals.

It is not clear whether God has ever talked to a King, but it is very doubtful that God would want to talk to any of today's world leaders. However, this concept is still perpetuated by the Elite. Tracing your ancestry to an important figure is a requirement for entering the inner circles of the Elite even today. And in their mind, they believe that they are "chosen" to rule and that, therefore, it is perfectly OK for them to do anything they want to the "non-chosen."

Supervising the Evolution of Mankind

Stories abound of secret places inhabited by beings who are on Earth to "supervise the evolution of mankind." These characters are apparently some subgroup of the ruling Elite.

They are no more supervising human evolution than you are supervising the evolution of tropical fish by scooping them up out of the free waters where God placed them and putting them in a glass cage with plastic plants and ceramic rocks. You do this for your personal pleasure, and the Elite do the same thing to you for their personal pleasure.

Planetary Security

The planet Earth is very well defended (from exactly what it is being defended is not so clear). A defense shield extends out as far as the planet Jupiter.

Additionally, the people of the Earth will soon be under total control after the program to implant them with identification microchips is completed. It has not been yet, but the death ray satellite program has been completed and any person anywhere on the face of the Earth can be killed at any time by shooting them in the head with the death ray laser satellites. Death appears to be cerebral hemorrhage (just like in the Invaders TV series), and only special government doctors can tell the difference, and they, of course, will not talk. Once everyone has their microchip implant, absolute order will be ensured, because anyone who does anything wrong can be immediately killed by typing his identification number into the satellite control system and pushing the red (or whatever) "kill" button.

Radiation Protection

The Elite are scared of radiation. They feel someone may get it together enough to make a crude nuclear bomb and drop it on or near them. However, they have solved that problem now by developing a vaccine against radiation. In order to do the medical experiments necessary to develop this drug, thousands of U.S. citizens were sacrificed (killed). The Government now admits to 100,000, but will never admit why (to develop the secret radiation vaccine). In the circle of the Elite, the end always justifies the means.

Continuing Radiation Experiments

If that's not enough, the classic AMA radiation treatments for cancer seem to be just a continuation of government experiments, because these treatments do not cure cancer and that is not the treatment the Elite use for themselves if they get cancer. What they use is a secret aura balancing machine, which basically does what psychic healers have been doing for years, combined with Chinese herbal medicine and state of the art medical diagnostics. The treatment is painless and actually works.

Ancient Electronics

You might think solid state electronics was a buzz word for the 21st century, but you're wrong. The Bible contains detailed descriptions of how to build sophisticated electronic devices.

When you see detailed descriptions (such as in Revelation) of a sheet of gold together with detailed measurements of where to place specific crystals on the sheet of gold, you are looking at a schematic for some type of device.

Exactly who was communicating these instructions to mankind thousands of years ago is not clear, but it is clear that it was not God, who would have no use for such devices. One set of instructions, if followed, results in the construction of a type of accumulator we know as a capacitor. Such devices can charge themselves if left sitting. The Bible student who built the device apparently knew nothing of electrical safety and was electrocuted.

Manufacturing Life Forms

We have touched on this before, but perhaps it would be good to go into a bit more detail on forms.

Life forms can originate in a variety of ways, and it is doubtful that the ultimate God directly participates in any of these methods. The link that humans and other living things have with God is that God is the Father of their Soul, not of the form they may presently have.

In a new Creation, advanced Souls who have been given administrative responsibilities direct the creation of forms. It is also quite possible, later in the Creation, for forms to get smart enough to create forms.

We have this technology on Earth today, it was discovered by an Italian researcher some years back. It is a technique for bypassing the natural barrier that prevents different species from crossbreeding. So, with this technique, you can theoretically mate a roach with a pig or a cat with a dog, or whatever. If you kept trying, some of these weird combinations would probably live, and so you could say you had “created” a new form. Unfortunately, this does not make you God. If a form lives, it is because it has a Soul, and you did not create the Soul which gives life to the form—it was assigned under the Law of Karma for whatever reason to this new form. Also, the form you “created” is not your property, but rather the property of the Soul who is using it. You cannot own a living life form.

Now, one of the cute explanations you hear from time to time is that another race manufactured the human race long ago and they just might come back someday to take credit.

Well, let's just assume that's true and some group of somethings lands and says, “Well, we're back. We made you 10,000 years ago as a project, and here's the pictures and the proof and the test tubes we used, and, therefore, you will please now turn over control of your planet to us, since everything you have done belongs to us, because we made you.”

That's a cute argument—but not valid. It is the same as if you would call up one of your children fifty years later and tell them, “Hi, kid!

Haven't talked to you in thirty years. I heard you were doing well, and, since I made you, your business and home and all is really mine, because you would not exist if I had not made you." Would you buy that argument? Probably not. It's the same argument brought closer to home.

Even beyond this, human beings have Class I bodies which gives them the power not only to bypass any local authority, but to even bypass the authority of all of the legitimate Negative Hierarchy with all its power and choose to return to God. The only power that has a non-revocable right to order a human being is the ultimate God, Father of the Soul.

The Priestcraft

We are going to discuss the so-called "priestcraft." By this we are referring to the group of people who make a living talking about God, the Devil, heaven and hell and, mainly in the United States, spouting all sorts of stuff about Jesus Christ.

Let us briefly explain where religion and the priestcraft come from. When a legitimate Saint teaches on the Earth, people follow him. He generally does not write down anything at all. When the Saint dies, his power here ends. Access to the inner worlds via him is closed to all except those people whom he personally chose as initiates. For some reason, other people generally start writing books about the Saint—what he said, what he did, what he told others to do, and so on. These books then form the foundation of a religion.

There is nothing Spiritual about any religion. The Spiritual part of this event died with the Saint—it is gone now and is not coming back. A movement is only Spiritual when it has as its leader a living Perfect Saint who is active, that is, a Saint who is accepting initiates. In all other cases it is a dead movement.

When Jesus died, people learned that they could make money by talking about him. In an effort to make more money, they made certain changes in the writings about him, and they also fabricated other "teachings" that served specific purposes.

Let us now discuss this in more detail. We will divide the crimes of the priestcraft into two categories: 1) propaganda, and 2) active measures.

Propaganda

Long before the “superpower” world governments came into existence, the priestcraft made a decision to take over the people of the Earth and place them in the bondage of fear, darkness and ignorance. Part of this plan involved deletions and additions to the Christian Bible. Additionally, special teachings were simply invented to serve specific needs.

In making changes to the Bible, the main element that appears to have been deleted is references to the key elements in the legitimate Spiritual life, such as the inner worlds and the “third eye.” In inventing specific additional doctrines various goals were achieved, such as consolidation of power and accumulation of wealth by the propaganda of tithing. And, having called tithing “propaganda,” I will now pause here and explain this exactly, so that there will be no doubt about what this means.

Tithing

The propaganda of tithing asserts that God wants ten percent of your money. And since God is not here, you should, therefore, give this money to his “banker in residence,” which is, of course, the Church. This is sort of half true.

The true part is the ten percent. The false part is money. We have discussed God in detail and where He lives. Do you really think He remotely has any desire at all for your money? References to tithing in religious books are references to time. God wants ten percent of your time, not your money. God loves you, he is the Father of your Soul. In the complex world, we all must attend to our responsibilities—family, kids, job, etc. So God simply asks us to remember him at least ten percent of the time, or about two and a half hours a day.

So, if you are a religious person trained to believe you have a duty to tithe, keep your money and feed your family with it. Every day, preferably during the still hours of 3AM to 6AM, wake up, be alert, and think about your God. This is what He really wants.

There are many religious groups. When they have special needs, they look in the Bible and, being “creative” in interpreting certain passages, come up with some argument that “the Bible says” for you to do whatever they want you to do.

There is just so much of this stuff that we are not going to get strung out here with all these little details.

Active Measures

“Active measures” are the things priests, ministers, and the like tell you you should do or be doing in the course of your life. Through these active measures the priestcraft deliberately caused the downfall of humanity from the true Spiritual level of evolution to the level of the animal or “beast.” Now, let us see just how they did that.

Theoretically, people hang around churches because they want help to get into Heaven when they die. What they get instead is advice that is absolutely guaranteed to fix it so that they will not get into Heaven. The main element of this propaganda is the “Do nothing and wait for Jesus” doctrine. The Church tells people that the only way to Heaven is through Jesus. Jesus is dead, but “is coming back” any day now. So twiddle your thumbs and do not make any attempt at Spiritual development until Jesus comes back and tells you it’s OK.

Rosemary’s Baby(s)

In the standard King James Bible, in Genesis, at the beginning of Chapter Four, we have the account of the first children of Eve. Biblical scholars have confirmed that the two children, Cain and Abel, constitute what is called by medical doctors a “double pregnancy.” What this means is that Cain and Abel resulted from two different sessions of sexual intercourse which were close to each other in time. The kids were born as twins, but not necessarily of the same father. Apparently, Lucifer got to Eve first; his kid was Cain.

By the time Adam figured out what sex was, Eve knew all about it from her teacher Lucifer and was not a virgin. God knew that Cain was Lucifer's kid, so He had "no regard" for offerings from him, because He had no regard for Lucifer, who was an adversary of God. God gladly accepted offerings from Abel who He knew was Adam's son. Cain, jealous, killed Abel.

Lucifer has doubtless mated with many girls—his offspring and their descendants are marked by God, and this mark is the so-called "mark of the Beast," or "666 mark." Obviously, you can't see it, it is a subtle mark and most likely refers more to negative attitudes karmatically linked to Lucifer than to genetics. Lucifer's first kid, Cain, was "like father like son" to Lucifer, because he was Lucifer's direct creation.

Descendants in the same genetic line would not necessarily be evil. This would be a function of the Souls assigned to that set of bodies. A group of people who are evil can over time, using their free choice, choose to become good. Similarly, a group of good people can over time make a sequence of bad choices and wind up utterly evil. Descendants of Lucifer, who happened to make choices leading to a good and blameless life, would not be karmatically linked to Souls associated with Lucifer. Consequently, it is not correct to say that if people could be genetically identified as descendants of Lucifer it would constitute proof that they were "bad" and should be put down.

Lots of people enjoyed the new group of human women. Apparently, word spread fast that they were quite sensual beings. The "sons of God" screwed them too. Some reports identify the "sons of God" as fallen angles who still loved all the physical fleshy stuff, which, of course, includes the sex trip and all of its associated foreplay/afterplay, etc. Kids from the "sons of God" are described as "mighty men" of "renown." The "giants" (most likely the grey people) played with the new women too.

Genesis' Chapter Six is an important chapter because of the statement on the allowed age of man (120 years) attributed to God. Previous to this chapter, accounts give ages of about one thousand years for man. God's statement here marks the end of the Copper Age and the beginning of the Iron Age.

The Top Secrets of the United States

We will now discuss the Top Secrets of the United States. The Top Secret level of clearances is called the “Q-level” and it consists of fifteen subgroups, which are simply called TS1 through TS15. TS15 is the highest level. The industrialized world is operated by a common directorate. That is to say, at level TS15, all the governments of all the industrialized nations come together and share plans, secrets, and work towards a common goal. This common goal is called the New World Order. We shall now discuss the specific Top Secrets which currently exist by category.

The “Silly” Top Secrets

The breakfast menu for active Air Force pilots is Top Secret. Any historical fact that may embarrass the President or other high ranking official is Top Secret. Things like this we are calling the “silly secrets,” because it is mainly bullshit and of little consequence.

The Secrets of the Pure Sciences

The pure sciences, that is, physics and chemistry and electrical engineering and the like, are taught in all universities. But key information is withheld. So, even if you get a Ph.D. degree in one or more of these sciences, you are incompetent. Certain changes have been made and logical pathways established to deliberately lead scholars off in the wrong directions. In the case of electrical engineering, there are a group of “original secrets of electricity,” many of which were discovered by Nikola Tesla, which show the way to do things that the ordinary published theories would lead you to conclude were impossible.

If you get a Ph.D. degree and then sign up with the Government and promise never to leave them and to obey them, you are told the missing knowledge.

The Secrets of Medical Science

Medical science is considered by the Government to be the ultimate tool for the control of the masses and, through it, the Government perceives itself as a god with the power of death—and eternal life for special people. The cures for classic diseases—AIDS, cancer, etc.—exist and are Top Secret.

The secrets of genetics are Top Secret.

A technique to override the natural protection system which prevents different species from mating and producing offspring (like a dog mating with a cat or a horse) has been developed and is Top Secret.

Modifications to extend and perhaps allow certain special people to physically live indefinitely exists and is Top Secret.

The Occult Secrets

Although the U.S. Government denies the existence of other realities, it is aware that they exist. It is especially interested in the Astral world. When the Government does projects with people who are trained to leave their body to spy on others and then return to their physical body and report, it calls this “remote viewing,” and this research is Top Secret.

Additionally, there is an indication that the Government may receive guidance and information from certain entities which are residents of the Astral plane, that is, spirit beings. The type of information the Government is seeking—how to have power and control over others and the total world as a whole—indicates that any contact they have made would be with evil forces.

Level of Occult Research

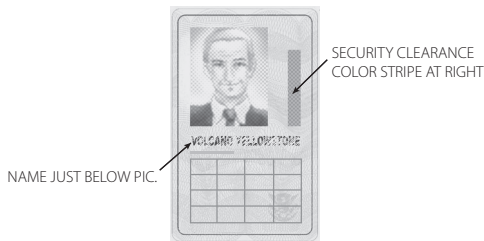

In recent times, research organizations secretly sponsored by the U.S. Government have lured legitimate gurus into programs, which allow them to be hooked up to medical scanning equipment while they enter the trance state. The secret purpose of this research is to develop secret drugs that will allow evil people, who by the Laws of the Universe cannot access certain esoteric information, to be able to force their way into other planes of existence and obtain secret knowledge which will then be used for purely evil purposes against the inhabitants of the Earth.

Nomenclature and Design for Security Clearance Credentials

We have been talking a lot about Top Secret this and that. I wish now to present the formal coding and layout of a security clearance credential.

A Universal Identification Document (Credential)

First, it should be noted that in the industrialized world all security clearance credentials look the same. The fact that they do indicates that a World Order or World Government of sorts already exists in place.

The basic design of the front of security clearance credentials presently in use in the industrialized world is shown above. On the right side of the picture there is a colored stripe, which indicates the actual level of security clearance. The color code is:

- BLACK = No clearance.
- BLUE = Confidential clearance.
- RED = Secret clearance.
- YELLOW = Top Secret clearance.
- GREEN = Intelligence (G2, MI5, etc.).
- WHITE = Total clearance.
- CLEAR = Outsiders (i.e., not from Earth).
- VIOLET = Occult adepts.

There is optional information on the left of the picture, such as an expiration date. At the bottom of the card, there is either a symbol, such as a diamond or a circle or a triangle, or there is a cross hatch pattern as shown in the example. This cross hatch pattern is a schematic of the design of compartmentalization under which the society is designed. At the level of Top Secret and above, there is no longer the need for this compartmentalization. It is used to keep the masses separated and ignorant and confused so that they may easily be used. The symbol below is the schematic design or organizational model of the U.S. society.

What this schematic model says is that the factor which separates rulers from slaves is knowledge. The masses are trained to specialize and learn about only one thing and then practice that one thing all their lives as a trade or livelihood. But the rulers have the knowledge of all parts of knowledge and the perspective of an overview of the interactions of the world and so are not constrained by compartmentalization.

On clearance cards with special symbols, the star indicates authority and the color of the star indicates the source of the authority. Other symbols, such as the circle, triangle and diamond symbol, may contain letters inside of the symbol.

For example, the bottom of a secret service credential uses the diamond symbol and the two letters "SS." Now, you might guess that the "SS" is for "secret service," but it is not. The SS is a schematic for the double helix of the DNA molecule and it means that the agent has been specially genetically selected and is a member of the genetically-screened perfect people "in-crowd," basically equivalent to the "master race" teachings of Hitler.

The reverse side of the card contains the sponsoring nation information. Security clearances issued by the United States say, "Property of the U.S. Government." Similarly, a security clearance issued by the U.K. would say, “Property of the U.K.,” and a Russian clearance would say, “Property of the Russian Federation.” This information is written in the native language of the respective country. On the front side, all the cards look the same regardless of the country.

Some cards also have colored borders. The colored border indicates access to a place where only people with security clearances equal to or better than the color of the border can enter. For example, if the border (all around the edge of the card) is yellow, then this is a place where only Top Secret clearances and above may enter. No one else within this place is any lower than Top Secret (and this includes maids, janitors, etc.). The secret underground cities would be examples of such places.

Methods for Defeating the Law of Karma and Reincarnation

Most people living on the planet Earth today have lived here for a long time—in other bodies. In a way of speaking, everyone here lives physically forever, because they keep coming back over and over. But because most people do not understand that life is continuous, they feel the present life is “special” and that they are new creations and they probably also feel that death is the “end,” and so they want to cram all the fun they can into the present life. Such an attitude essentially guarantees future lives here on Earth.

Publicized Methods

The Buddhist Lamas make no secret that the life of a High Lama is continuous. When a Lama dies, everyone knows that he will be reincarnated somewhere. Because people on the Right Hand Path do not wish to go against God, the incarnation is left up to Him and so could be in any family anywhere on the Earth.

The students of the departed Master do various rituals and consult oracles to guess where the young child, who was (and still is) their Master and guide, has been reborn. Then they test the candidate by spreading out before the child an assortment of trinkets, some of which were the favorite things of the departed Lama. When the right child is found, he invariably picks the special things which he remembers from his past life. He is then taken back to the monastery where he is raised and cared for until, as an adult, he continues his duties as a High Lama.

Other Methods

There are techniques given in witchcraft training books for guaranteeing that the next incarnation will be human and that it will be a "good life." Essentially all groups which study the mysteries know of some technique that they use to keep continuity between lifetimes. Only the ordinary ignorant masses are totally at the mercy of the Law of Karma and Reincarnation. Members of the Right Hand Path under the hierarchy of the Spiritual Masters are not subject to the Law of Karma and Reincarnation, because the Law is part of the Negative Hierarchy. The Spiritual Master alone determines the future of his students.

Secret Methods

Tyrants and dictators who kill millions of people in their quest for power and glory do not qualify, under the Law of Karma and Reincarnation, to receive another human body. They would normally be sent back as some lower form (dog, etc.).

Clearly, these wealthy evil masters do not want to be a dog or a cat or whatever, they want to continue to be human and they want to avoid being judged by the Angels of Death who come for the ordinary man and take him away to face judgment.

With their gold and power and influence, they spend a good part of their energy on the goal of everlasting physical life in the human form regardless of how seriously they have transgressed the Laws of God or how many innocent people they have killed and tortured to get to the position of power they are in.

Enter the "steal-a-new-body" machine. We call it this for want of a better word, and it is an electric-magnetic device that creates the illusion of a separate universe (unified field) in which things can be tailored to the wishes of the Elite. Consequently, when a crooked politician ages and is near death, he goes to the secret underground center where this equipment is set up.

In the artificially created universe are only three things: the old man, a “freshly pregnant” girl, and the unborn child of the girl, which, because she is “freshly pregnant,” does not yet have a Soul. The Law of Karma, which is mechanical in nature, searches for the appropriate candidate for the reincarnation of the old man. If he would have died “in the open,” this would likely be a dog, cat, rat, etc., to “reward” him for his life of evil. However, the only possible candidate is the “freshly pregnant” girl’s unborn child, because the special fields generated by the “steal-a-new-body” machine have tricked Mother Nature into believing that the Universe contains only the man, girl and unborn child. The man is not available, because his body is now dead. The girl already has a Soul, and so the only choice Mother Nature can find in this fake Universe is the unborn child, and therefore, the crooked politician gets that body.

At about the age of five, teams of psychologists work with this child (using chemicals like LSD-25) to break down the natural barriers that prevent him from knowing his past life.

Once the “waking up process” (that’s what they call it) has been completed, the dictator, in his fresh new body, picks up all his gold from his past life, which has been kept waiting for him by his Brothers in the Illuminati, and continues on his way.

The process is reported to have reached complete perfection in the 1960s and is said to be now 100% efficient with no losses at all. If you get the feeling, when you watch government people, that they are very arrogant, this is one of the reasons why. They physically live forever and their personal wealth consistently increases with time.

For politicians who do not like the waiting period (and apparently most do not) there is an alternate “steal-a-new-body” method. This method was developed by accident after repeated failures by Nikola Tesla to perfect a Star Trek-style transporter. Tesla was able to transport non-living things, but living creatures always turned up dead at the other end. Eventually, occult advisors suggested that living things were dying in transport because only the physical part of the life form was being moved. The other four parts, the astral, causal and mental bodies, as well as the Soul, were not being transported and remained at the origin point.

Tesla did not solve this problem, but the broken transporter and the occult explanation gave rise to a new use for this failed invention. It could be used to transfer from one body to another. In this process, two people (one who needs a new physical body and one who is going to be “screwed over”) are put into the transporter. The transporter dematerializes the physical bodies and rematerializes in reverse positions. The astral and other bodies do not move. No one dies, because this time there is a support matrix (astral, etc.) in place at the materialization position—but it is from the other person.

This is essentially “backwards” from classic possession, where an adept separates his astral body and moves it to look for a (stationary) physical body to take over. Here it is the physical body that is moved by the machine, and the astral one is stationary. The advantage is, of course, that you do not have to be any kind of adept to use this method. You just need the machine (Top Secret, of course).

Getting a new body this way is described as “just as easy as stepping into a telephone booth.” The advantage is that you pick out a new young body which is fully grown and ready to go. The disadvantage is that some sucker is going to have his young life cut short so you can extend yours. However, killing people has never been a big moral concern for governments and their bigwigs.

The Ultra Secrets

Time Pressure

This is a new variable used in Top Secret physics. The time pressure is not the same in different parts of the Physical Universe. Changes in time pressure determine the stability of elements. For example, high weight elements, such as Einsteinium, are unstable on Earth but very stable at a different time pressure, such as that found on distant planets.

Weather Control

Not that hard. The theories on weather have been completely rewritten. What you know by listening to TV weathermen is mostly hogwash and disinformation.

Weather control machines operate by using high-power radio frequency transmitters on select frequencies to alter the electric charge in the atmosphere.

Augmented People

Augmented people have been produced in a variety of models. Continuing in its quest for medical knowledge via Hitler-style mad scientist medical experiments, the Government has learned quite a bit. There are physical implants to make people do essentially anything, as well as intelligence enhancing drugs to convert people (children are generally used) into super geniuses who have four or five Ph.D. degrees by the age of twelve.

The intelligence technique involves the removal of all uric acid from the person's system which then allows the brain to be used at 100% of potential.

Fusion Balls

Research into the Sun indicates that its mass is a constant. The reactions which produce light and heat do not consume the mass, because the Sun is time-stabilized and wobbles in and out of the space-time continuum at a frequency of 70 Hz.

All suns operate this way, and when there is a problem with a sun, it is due to an external event and not because the sun "ran out of gas." Fusion balls made in the lab behave the same way and are the technology for the manufacture of Star Trek-like phasers. A hand-held fusion ball weapon could be used to slice up skyscrapers in a major city like a hot knife through sticks of butter.

The Underground World

There is more stuff underground today than on the surface of the Earth. Lasers powered by nuclear devices can cut giant tunnels es-entially instantly. Today, the planet looks like a lump of Swiss cheese and the whole world is covered and connected by the secret tunnel system. Underground cities complete with golf courses, parks, “sky-scrapers” of 60, 80 and more levels can be found there. This is the private world of the Elite which you pay for.

The Computer

A personal computer is the most deadly Trojan horse that you can possibly bring into your home. Everything you do on it can be directly seen in real time by anyone with the computer tapping technology, which is not even a secret. A computer transmits radio frequency energy which can be intercepted and decoded by someone out front your house in surveillance van or by satellites.

Additionally, when you connect to any on-line service, the people at the other end can get your personal data. Computer microprocessors have special circuits built into the chip itself so that the Government (not you) will have final control over your computer and will have total access to anything you have stored in it.

It is important that the “ordinary people” wake up and realize this.

Reincarnation Tracking

The Government is engaged in a program to identify all live human births that take place on the planet Earth and record and document them. One possible use of this would be a reincarnation tracking system to identify people not by who they appear to be (the son/daughter of so-and-so), but by actually assigning identification numbers to individual Souls who will have more than one physical lifetime as a human being. The most likely reason to spend money on this as a high priority project is to try to determine (as was done in the time of Jesus) where there is a newborn child who might be an important Soul (a future leader) and then hurry up and kill the child before he grows up and poses any real threat to the establishment.

There is no legitimate reason for the U.S. Government to want all the records of live births from other countries unless it is to compile some type of shared database for the use of all the countries in the New World Order.

Space Installations

The deep space port linking the planet Earth with the rest of the Physical Universe is supposed to be located on the dark side of the Moon. If you check old books, you will find it recorded that the Moon had a slight “wobble”—one side stayed towards the Earth, but it was not perfectly still, it moved a bit from side to side over time. Now it is perfectly still, and to do this, some engineering team with some equipment of a sizable nature had to have gone there and done it.

Recent World History

Here we wish to discuss recent history—the history of the last fifty years or so. The people in the present generation have lived most of their lives under the influence of an intense created illusion and have been shaped and molded by pressures and forces that are simply not real.

The World Wars

The two World Wars that we have had were pre-planned and orchestrated events agreed upon in advance by the participating nations. The Vietnam War was a medical experiment in war and was designed so as to keep a perpetual “controlled war” going at all times so that researchers who needed a “war set” for experiments could have one ready and waiting.

In the case of the Japanese attack upon the United States, there was lots of advance warning of this and the politicians deliberately let it happen because they wanted war. There is also reports that the United States met secretly with Japan and asked them to attack.

Other reports suggest that it was worse than that, and Americans disguised as Japanese attacked themselves in a plan to influence public opinion.

The main types of professionals sought after by intelligence agencies are theatrical people—the same kind of people you would assemble to make a movie. This is so they can orchestrate key events (like wars and other dramatic situations) which will then be magnified by the controlled press and have the effect of moving the masses in the desired directions.

The Communist Conspiracy

The Communist conspiracy never existed. The Soviet Union has always been secretly financed from within the United States of America. We created Russia and its revolutions. We created the “Communist threat.” We financed it.

There was never any chance of the Soviet Union attacking the United States. There was never any threat of global nuclear war. It never existed. The purpose of all this was to create intense pressure to motivate the masses to work harder both in the United States and the Soviet Union. They both effectively used the story that the other one was “coming.” It was never true, and at the highest and most secret levels of the United States and the Soviet Union there was a common directorate—that is, the United States and the Soviet Union were essentially the same country.

The World Government

There has been for some time a shared database and a shared “private club of rulership” among all of the industrialized nations in the world. At the top secret level, these governments all come together and have common leadership. Whenever events take place that indicate a conflict between these governments, it is a contrived illusion for some covert purpose such as to stimulate the economy. The Third World is in a different category. It has not yet joined the club.

People Farming

In an ordinary farm, the farmer makes a place for the animals he is using so that they will feel at home and comfortable. There are fences in case they get uncomfortable and decide to leave. There is food, protection from extreme elements, a maintained “defense system” for predators, sex when the farmer deems it appropriate, and all that good stuff. The animals might think they were born in heaven not having to search and fight for food (at least until the slaughterhouse wagon comes).

You also live in such a place. We call it a People Farm. You are comfy; there are government programs if you’re short on cash or food. The place is “defended.” However, everything in it is fake. Your money is worthless paper and has no value except that which you give to it by believing that it has value. The information stream consisting of TV, newspapers, magazines, and the like, is specifically constructed and coordinated to brainwash you into the desired mode of thinking and acting. Your “valuable” possessions, such as TV and computer, are obsolete by many years and are always breaking. Your religion, assuming it is Christianity, is sheer craziness. (Christianity states that Souls are created when parents mate and have no existence beyond death; this is total insanity! Also, Jesus is not coming back, either!)

You have nothing but an empty dream; a dream that can end anytime the Government, which maintains the dream, decides to stop maintaining it.

The Masons

The masons is a group based on Babylonian mythology. The masons worship Lucifer as their God. Their argument for worshiping Lucifer is: In the Garden of Eden, God (the for real God) wanted to keep people stupid, and that’s why He forbid them to eat the fruit from the Tree of Knowledge. But Lucifer saved man from this goodie-goodie life by encouraging him to eat the forbidden fruit. Therefore, Lucifer is their God, because he gave them knowledge. And with knowledge they developed the cunning skills which have allowed them to control others and take over the Earth.

It should be noted that all of the founding fathers of the United States were masons and that, therefore, when the word “God” is used in the originating documents for the United States, such as the Bill of Rights, Declaration of Independence, and the Constitution for the United States, it is a reference to Lucifer and not to the true God. To a mason, God = Lucifer.

The Knights Templar

The Knights Templar are simply the elite of the masons.

The Knights Of Malta

The Knights of Malta are the secret guard for the Pope. They carry diplomatic passports from Malta and are therefore above the law wherever they go. They are supposed to keep a low profile and spring into action if the Pope is in danger for any reason or decides to activate them in his quest to take over the world.

The Rosicrucians

These people are an occult school teaching mind control. The boss is called “the Imperitor.” The school is divided into work on the Right and Left Hand Paths. So, there are “good” and “bad” Rosicrucians.

The CIA

The CIA was dominated by masons. However, they have shown a tendency to go off on their own lately and perhaps develop some new philosophy. It is likely to be along the same lines as masonic stuff, however.

The Illuminati

The Illuminati are the master secret group. At one time, the various secret groups worked independently of one another. However, they have all joined together (secretly, of course) under the single banner of the Illuminati.

With this consolidation came the hope that “the Great Work”—or “Externalization of the Hierarchy,” or the “New World Order”—could be achieved soon. All these terms mean the same thing, which is the making of the planet Earth into a single dictatorship consisting of two classes—the masters and the slaves. And, of course, they would be the masters.

The scheduled completion date for the Plan was the year 2002. However, things might be not quite on schedule, because a key point in the plan, the destruction of the middle class, has not yet been achieved. Some estimates put the plan as much as fifteen years behind schedule. But the Plan will become reality someday unless ordinary people wake up and realize what's happening and make some meaningful effort to alter the Plan.

Central Headquarters for the Directorate for the Control of the Planet Earth is supposed to be located in Central Africa, in a secret city which is shielded and defended by every conceivable high-tech gadget that has ever been invented.

Powers and Abilities of the Government

What are the present powers and abilities of the Government of the United States? What sort of things does it know how to do? What sort of things does it have the power to do if it wants to? The answer is, unfortunately, quite a bit. Let's see what they are.

Surveillance

The U.S. Government operates many spy satellites. They watch and listen to essentially everything that takes place upon the Earth planet. They intercept all international telephone calls and data transmissions. They optically observe the surface of the Earth and they probe the surface with specific scanning devices.

The satellites launched by the United States are not tiny things—they are about the size of a railroad box car and are powerful devices, in many cases nuclear-powered devices, which have no shortage at all of available electrical energy.

Satellites with lasers using very low frequency infrared beams can map the surface of the bottoms of all oceans and can instantly locate and track and identify all submarines. They can communicate with other satellites so that a simple hand-held device would allow a U.S. spy to have contact with his base at any time from any place in the world. Additionally, there are active satellites with considerable power. They can send force beams and death rays. The most likely explanation for the mysterious patterns found in open fields (claimed to be from UFO landings) is the testing of these new high-power satellites which are designed to be able to select a man or a building on the ground and kill or destroy it with the touch of a button.

Control

The Government is in possession of special secret drugs that can turn a person into a programmed robot who will obey exactly any command.

These drugs act by opening up a pathway to parts of the brain we generally do not use. It is essentially empty memory space. Here, a programming team creates a new personality which is programmed to believe that whatever it is being commanded to do is natural, logical, and correct. There is an indication that Sirhan Sirhan was programmed by the CIA using these techniques.

Additionally, the Government has an assortment of poisons designed to cause a natural-looking death as well as quickly cause the onset of fatal disease such as cancer.

The Government has already created and released the AIDS virus and is working on new designer viruses that have the potential to wipe out all unprotected human life on the face of the Earth.

Systems of Records

The Government has files on everything and everybody. A tiny newborn baby is considered a possible threat to the National Security, because it might grow up to be a person who would learn the truth and mess up their game.

When a person graduates from high school, the principal and guidance counselors write a report on him as to what he has done (significantly) and what they think of him. This report is sent to the FBI and is the start of that person's FBI file. Beyond that point, more is added as needed.

Medical records—including results of tests you don't even know were administered to you—are in a special database that can be accessed by those with proper clearances.

The Telephone

Privacy in connection with the use of the telephone does not exist. The phone company records everyone you call from your home and everyone who calls you. These records are maintained for a period of 45 days back on every person and are given out to any influential person or politician or government agency that is curious about you.

Computers listen to all phone calls and look for key words (such as “murder”). If a key word is detected, the computer immediately sends your conversation in real time to a center where a government agent listens to the call. Local police departments are supplied by the phone company with equipment tied directly into their central office, which lets the local police listen to any phone they want to with no restrictions, checks or controls. If this was not enough, many people now use cordless phones, which can be listened to by any citizen who owns a “scanner,” which can be freely and openly purchased and operated.

Matter-Energy Transport

The Government has developed matter-energy transport. However, it is not perfected to the “Beam me up, Scotty” level quite yet. Live things do not re-materialize alive. But small non-living things can be transmitted and the system is likely installed in satellites at this time.

This is the most likely explanation for the people found to have unexplainable small metallic fragments inside their bodies and brains. The classic explanation of UFOs is improbable.

Privacy Does Not Exist

All gone! Satellites watch you wherever you go. Your phone is tapped by computers listening for key words. X-ray satellites can make a video of you in your house in bed with your wife, girlfriend, or whatever. Whenever you pick up the phone, who you call is logged (also incoming calls) and the log goes in your permanent government file. Cell phone companies can track your cell phone correct to two feet square, print a map of everywhere you go and the exact times and send it to the Government to add to your file. Infrared remote controls scan for infrared signals from the remote control, but you (hot body) also give off infrared, so they scan you too, and this data can be accessed by satellite beams which are designed to read data from your TV set. And there's not enough space to go into all the neat stuff the cable TV company can do.

Top Secret Services

Top secret services (TSS) are services to the Elite that you pay for but do not get, because you're a slave. For example, there's free pay phone usage to anywhere in the world if you dial "911" and immediately dial the correct secret code.

There are very professional and legitimately helpful medical services at any full-service hospital if you are important and know the code.

(The base code in the medical world is to ask for "Doctor Ray." Doctor Ray does not exist, but it is a codeword that will alert the doctor who has Top Secret clearances to come see you. He can order all the secret antidotes for things like AIDS, Ebola, and, of course, the legitimate cure for cancer that is painless and really works.)

If you need to communicate, you can go to essentially any public place where a computer terminal is (like a public library) and pretend to be looking something up. If you know the codes, you can instantly connect the terminal to the CIA, NSA, NRO, or whatever good place you want to communicate with.

Joining Up with the Elite

Like all this good stuff—it can all be yours if you are accepted as a member of the Elite. But it's hard to join. You see, the Elite transfer to new physical bodies when they get old and so do not really die.

So they have no need of “replacements.” You’re going to have to be pretty good for them to want you. If you love conspiracies and are terminally evil, love to lie, cheat, steal, and deceive people, you are cultivating the right qualities, but that may not be enough. Mainly, under the concept of “the divine right of Kings,” you must be able to trace your bloodline to some very very very important figure from the past. If you can do that, you may have a chance. Also, you must be white—no blacks are allowed in the inner world of the Elite.

The Ruling Conspiracy of the Government of the United States and the Industrialized World

Here we will discuss the secret conspiracy which presently runs the United States Government and also the industrialized nations of the present Earth world.

The earliest records of this conspiracy date back to May 1, 1776. On this date, a man named Adam Weishaupt founded a secret group he called the “Order of the Illuminati,” and he gave himself the secret code name “Sparticus.” He drew up the original plans, at that time, to unite all the nations of the world under a single government, which would be an absolute dictatorship. The philosophy of life in this “New World Order” would be “Humanism”—the worship of logic and reason. The existence of God was to be denied and all religion was to be stamped out.

Later, in the year 1891, Cecil Rhodes (of the famous Rhodes Scholarships) also formed a secret society following in the footsteps of “Sparticus.” This secret society presently runs the Government of the United States of America.

The front organization of this secret cult is known as the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) and is located in New York City. It has been in absolute control of the United States for approximately the last seventy years. So, adults in the present generation have been “ruled” by this group of heathens all their life.

The power of this secret group comes from control of the money system of the United States and the other industrialized nations. Using complex economic tricks, new money is created out of nothing. Then this new imaginary money is loaned to governments and they go into debt. They can hardly pay the interest on their national debt, much less ever hope to clear the original debt itself.

The group of people known as international bankers hold this debt over the heads of the legitimate leaders of the nations and, therefore, own them and can order them to do whatever they personally want. What they want is the absolute world dictatorship they call the New World Order.

The primary list of international bankers is: Rothschilds & Morgans, Barings, Hambros, Lazards, Erlangers, Warburgs, Schrodgers, Seligmans, Speyers, Mirabauds, Mallets, Foulds. Each year the U.S. Government gives these men, collectively, over twenty billion dollars. This is the interest on the present national debt.

Options

We have discussed the evil plans of the present world bosses. They involve mass murder, assassinations, conspiracies against God and humanity, etc. If these leaders continue to remain in power, they will make the Earth into a place so alien to the intentions of God that the planet Earth will have to be dissolved and taken out of existence so as to free the trapped Souls there and allow them to resume their normal evolution in accordance with God's Plan.

We have discussed that the big money involved here is really "funny money"—unreal money, money created out of nothing. There is no real reason why Congress cannot simply declare that fraud was involved in the process that created the national debt of the United States, then declare the debt to be null and void, seize the assets of the international bankers, and throw them all in jail for conspiracy to overthrow the Government of the United States. However, the apparent reason that such a simple solution is not used is that all the leaders of Congress, as well as the President of the United States and the leaders of the intelligence and the military, are all members of the CFR, which is the front organization of the present New World Order conspiracy. This is why, although they could theoretically put a stop to the things now happening, they agree with these things and do not want them to change. Also, it is historically true that the ultra-rich cartels ruling the world immediately kill anyone who threatens them, e.g., John F. Kennedy.

The Confidence Game of the Churches

Suppose I were to tell you to give me your money and, in exchange for your money, I would absolutely promise you that the Sun would rise on schedule tomorrow morning. Well, you would most likely guess that the Sun would rise anyway, regardless of any deal that you make with me, and that I have no control over the Sun. And you would be absolutely right.

Now, suppose I tell you to give your money to the Church and in exchange the Church will absolutely promise you that you will go to heaven when you die and that if you do not do this you will be barbecued in hell forever. Well, you might believe me then; since the Churches are quite wealthy with all their tax-exempt money, so clearly there are people who believe this line.

However, this argument makes about as much sense as the first, because the automatic protocol that determines where you go when you die was established at the beginning of the Creation and it is the very same today as it was then.

That protocol is, basically, that if you have few or no bad deeds charged against you and you live a descent life and harm no one and actually help some people, your good karmas will automatically guarantee that you will spend some time on the good side—the Right Hand side, or positive side of the Astral plane. This place is what the ordinary garden variety churches think is the “Ultimate Heaven.” And because the life expectancy of your astral form is quite long (about two thousand Earth years), there is the impression that your stay in “Heaven” is eternal.

If you never saw the inside (or even the outside) of a church, never heard the name Jesus Christ, never opened a holy book of any kind, but have good karmas, you would automatically go to this place. Therefore, there is absolutely no relationship at all between the Church and your destiny, which is determined by your karmas and certainly not by some babbling minister or priest saying a bunch of mambo-jumbo.

Churches are mainly social clubs. People are lonely and want a place to go where they are unlikely to be mugged, killed, or raped. Churches pretend to provide this service. If you use this service, it is only fair to contribute to the Church as payment for services rendered; but forget this nonsense about your contributions putting you “in with God.” It is just not so.

Informed Consent

The Government generally does not provide citizens with a plain language statement of what it wants from them. However, it does want specific things and—if it told the plain truth—it would sound something like this. To spice things up, we have moved up in time a bit to a point where the New World Order has been totally externalized.

“Greetings, Work Unit!

This document contains our disclosure of your rights and responsibilities now that you are considered to be an adult member of our world.

You are a Slave Worker of the Empire of the Order of the Illuminati. Your purpose in life is to serve and worship us. You should be grateful that we allowed you to be born into our world. Our power is absolute and we are Living Gods. We control space and time and have everlasting physical life. You are temporary. It is useless for you to resist our will, and you should abandon now any hope of resistance.

You have been trained and will now begin your life as a Work Unit in your assigned area. If you are obedient, we will treat you well and will provide you with a balanced existence as determined by our Social Scientists.

In this existence, you will be allowed intervals for relaxing activities and rest. You will be given a list of permitted activities; activities not specifically permitted are forbidden.

In general, you are permitted those activities which are considered healthy by the Division of Psychology, which are, among others, sex play, physical games, and moderate use of approved recreational drugs.

If you are a breeder (female), be aware of the population limitations that are in effect and take note of your maximum new Work Unit production quota, because you will be sterilized at the point that your quota is reached.

Remember that children are the property of the state in the conditional custody of their parents and can be taken away at any time.

We provide our Work Units with all reasonable benefits during their period of productivity. However, we are businessmen and we cannot afford needless losses. Therefore, you will be terminated at the point where your productivity falls below accepted norms.

At the time of your birth, you received certain implants in accordance with our World Security Regulations. You are being made aware that your physical location is known to us at all times and that we also monitor your brain activity for any sign of resistance to our will, which is punishable by death.

We reserve the right to terminate you at any time even though you have done nothing offensive in order to adjust our "herd size" for maximum productivity.

ORDER OF THE ILLUMINATI HIGH COUNCIL, WORLD CONTROL HEADQUARTERS, CENTRAL AFRICA."

CHAPTER TWELVE

The Third Level

The Politics of Our Local Quadrant

In the overviews of how the Universe is set up we have pointed out the general areas and planes and principal figures. Now, briefly, we want to discuss some local politics and how Earth is affected by such things.

The area we want to look at is the subsystem administrative area below the area of the System Administrator (Kal). In the subsystem, which contains the planet Earth, we have the administrative group (called Archangels in the Bible) of Michael, Rafael and Gabriella (not “Gabriel”—this is a female entity).

Long ago, when the Earth was a disused abandoned planet, there was a male entity called Prince Lucifer, Sovereign of Satania. He had administrative control over 666 star systems under the level of the aforementioned three primary controllers. The star system containing Earth was one of these systems.

Negative Hierarchy personnel have the legitimate responsibility for control of events affecting the evolution of humanity. It appears there was some political squabble between Lucifer and his superiors about how the course of evolution should proceed. The primary controllers were reportedly very conservative in their views and had a “good old boy” network similar to present Earth politics. Lucifer’s recommendations were considered too liberal and progressive and, because he insisted on advocating them, he was stripped of his rank and put away. He was confined on the planet Earth which at that time was known by the designator “Urantia.”

When humans came to the Earth, Lucifer was already there as the planet's only inhabitant. The humans called the Earth "Ki," but later it was renamed Earth after the name of the first human settlement "Eridu."

Whenever Lucifer would get a chance to interact with the new humans he would frustrate the administrative authorities by telling them tricks and shortcuts that he knew, because he had worked in system administration. In religious literature, this is commonly reported as a "war" between Lucifer, on one side, and God, on the other side. Of course, the for real God is quite a ways away from the area of the Third Vector, or Third Level of Spirit, where this conflict exists. Apparently, the group consisting of Michael, Rafael and Gabriella are being referred to as "God," and Lucifer is being referred to as their enemy or adversary, because he has different political views.

Lucifer is not equal to the for real God, nor is he anywhere close to Him. Neither are Michael, Rafael and Gabriella. All of these entities are Masters of the Third Level of Spirit, commonly called the Causal plane. They are essentially equals, and this explains the concept that "God and the Devil" are equal and opposite forces that fight each other. However, this is a local political problem far removed from the abode of the for real God.

The main reference book used on Earth, the Bible, appears to contain information that one could obtain from the Third Level, but no higher information. People have developed a simplistic view of the Universe as consisting of Heaven and Earth and feel that anything "unearthly" must therefore be Heaven. References to "God" in the Bible seem to be references to the committee of the three controllers. There are little "giveaways" to this, such as quotes attributed to "God," in which he appears to be having a conversation with some equals. When, for example, God is quoted as saying, "Behold, the man is become as one of us, to know good and evil..."—the question arises: who are these "us"? It is strongly suggested that "us" is a group of entities equal to God. This is true, if the statement is really a comment by one of the controllers—Michael, Gabriella or Rafael—and the other two are also in the conversation. They are all equals, but none of them is God.

Also, similar “giveaways” suggest that Jesus is just another creature of the Third Level of Spirit—because He is referred to as “the right hand of God.” There is no duality where the for real God exists, no “right” and “left” hand paths. It’s at the Third Level that this duality exists.

The abilities of a Master of the Third Level are pretty high by comparison to an ordinary Earth person. It is no problem to do miracles and healing and all the other stuff attributed to Jesus from that level of mastery. It is no problem to get data on future time to make prophecies. Everything in the Bible can be done from the Third Level without going any higher.

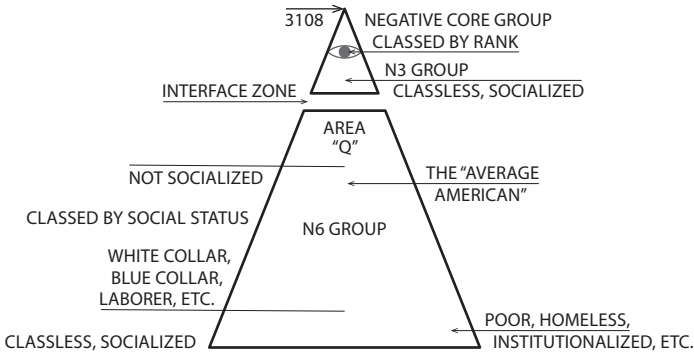

It is very possible, therefore, that Jesus was in a category of “helpers” who come to the Earth from time to time to try to make life better for people. All of these “helpers” do great things—they help lots of people and uplift mankind. However, as members of the Negative Hierarchy, they cannot release Souls from this place—they can only make it more comfortable. The Astral world, which is apparently what the word “heaven” in the Bible really translates to, is quite nice in its positive zones. Most people would be very easily convinced that they were in some ultimate heaven there and would be happy to accept the administrators there as “God” or “gods.” Astral bodies—shiny and youthful—would be dreamy to some old sick human who died and thus found himself in his astral form being led to some unimaginably beautiful place that contained just what he always wanted (one trick of the Astral world is that you can use your good karma to have all of your imaginations fulfilled).

The Third Level also plays an important role in Earth affairs. Masons, for example, who hold many key positions on Earth, aspire as their ultimate goal to be Masters of the Third Level.

The Hierarchy of the U.S. Society

To appreciate this discussion, you will need the diagram below and a U.S. one dollar bill for the pretty color picture of the pyramid on the back.

THE HIERARCHY OF THE UNITED STATES

Refer to the symbol on the dollar bill. This pyramid symbol represents the prototype for U.S. society. The symbol existed before the United States did. It is the model that was used to create this society—because it is a created society that you live in, not a spontaneous democracy formed by random people wanting freedom.

First, notice that the sides and top of the pyramid are “illuminated.” Notice that the bottom of the pyramid is dark, or darker. Logically, if a light source shined on a pyramid from the top, the bottom should be equally illuminated—but it is dark. This occult symbolism means that there was never any intention from the inception of the United States that ordinary people ever see the light—that is, learn the truth about anything—and it was always and still is intended that they should be kept stupid and in the dark about essentially everything. The light never reaches the bottom, where the masses live.

We will now go into a detailed discussion of the various areas we have labeled on the above diagram and discuss the characteristics of each group.

Bottom Level

Here we have the poor, the homeless, people in prisons, and the like. This is a classless socialized group. It is socialized, because these people are taken care of with money from the main working population.

The General Population Group

Here we have the average working person—the “average American.” This group is not socialized. People in this group must work hard for everything they get and are literally taxed to death to pay the cost of the operations in the other, socialized segments of the population.

The “Q” Area

The “Q” area is the area just below the Elite. People in this area must be told some things about the Elite that the general population does not know. They all must have security clearances, which means that they must promise not to tell any truths they learn to ordinary people under pain of death. These people are basically high-class slaves. Although they are treated quite well as long as they do their job and keep their mouth shut, nevertheless they are not considered to be equals of the Elite. The preceding classes are called “N6,” which is the standard state of consciousness identifier for this type of society.

The General Population of the Elite

Once we move across the Interface Zone, we have a situation like night and day. The Elite are in an N3-rated society. This group is not classed and is socialized. They can be socialized, because everything they need to be completely comfortable is provided by the slaves in the N6 zone through their tax money and hard work. The slaves mostly do not even know that the Elite exist.

This is an open society—no knowledge is hidden, there are no secrets, no security clearances, no “sensitive” information. Anyone can order books that tell the complete truth about anything. The books, published by the same major companies that publish books for ordinary people, are complete and stripped of all disinformation. Books sent to the lower levels, where the N6 population lives, are highly censored and contain tons of deliberate disinformation in order to keep the masses down.

Real books are called “TEXT,” and the phony books that ordinary people can get are called “X-TEXT”—bad, meaningless text full of misinformation and propaganda.

At the center of this area, symbolized by the “eye” of the pyramid, is the Negative Core Group—the Directorate of U.S. society.

The Negative Core Group

Here we find the Illuminati—the “Guardians of the Secrets of the Ages.” This is a permanent population. The men who live here never die. True, they get old, but they have ways of transferring their Soul directly to another young body with minimal inconvenience. The people here are the same who set policy in the past and they fully intend to remain in control as long as there is a planet Earth to control—until, quite literally, the End of Time.

What are the secrets that the “guardians” are guarding? Well, we’ve covered most of them in this book, and if you have been comprehending this stuff, you now know the same things that they know.

Also, permanent money is in use here. Wonder where all the gold went? Wonder why your paper money is “faith money” with no value? Well, it went here—here they use real money, money based on gold and silver. After all, when you live forever, you don’t want inflation eating up your nest egg.

Summary

This is the structure of the country you live in. This is all of it—all that involves the human population, that is. The grey people, with whom the U.S. Government has legitimate treaties, also partially live inside of United States territory. However, they have a different social order of their own. Under these treaties, the greys agree not to use their superior technology to attack the U.S., and the U.S. agrees not to attack the greys. It also agrees to give them food and whatever else they want in exchange for ultra-high technology light years ahead of what ordinary people know so as to guarantee that the Government will always be the boss and that the little man will have no hope of freedom.

This is the plan, at any rate. Things do change, but that is the way it is now and that is the way it is going to be from now on. If you don't like that, you have to do some hard work—wake up out of your dream world of beer and sports games and do the work it takes to enlighten yourself as to the truth about the planet you live on and the society you live in. If you won't do that—and it seems most people are not willing to—then you have no one other to blame for your miserable situation than yourself.

About the author

Walter C. Vetsch was born in 1947 in Louisiana with a gift that he himself defines as the “unlearned knowledge.” Many of us, over the years, generally acquire a degree of wisdom which cannot be learned in schools. When we pass away, this knowledge dissolves in the Universal Consciousness, so when we’re back here in our next incarnation, we usually have to start everything from scratch. This was not the case of Walter.

From his earliest years, he knew exactly what “reality” really was, how it worked, and what were the forces that made it work. “All that I write,” Walter says, “is based on the material I was able to bring through from before I was born here.”
